An Act to amend sections one two and four of the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and eighty-nine) entitled "An act providing a method through which the Commonwealth may cooperate with individuals in building fences to protect farm crops and fruit orchards against damage from wild deer and making an appropriation"

The first section was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and eighty-nine) entitled "An act providing a method through which the Commonwealth may cooperate with individuals in building fences to protect farm crops and fruit orchards against damage from wild deer and making an appropriation" be amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in sections of the Commonwealth where wild deer are present in excessive numbers and are injuring or destroying farm crops or fruit orchards in a material way the owners or lessees of the farms or fruit orchards where such damage is occurring may petition the Board of Game Commissioners for assistance in the erection of a deer-proof woven wire fence whereupon said board or its representatives shall investigate the conditions prevailing on the property of the petitioners and adjacent territory After investigation if deemed advisable the Board may enter into an agreement with the petitioners and such others in the vicinity similarly affected as in the opinion of the Board may require like protection for the erection of a deer-proof woven wire fence of such height design and material as the Board may specify to cost not to exceed twelve hundred dollars ($1,200) per mile under the conditions hereinafter set forth The provisions of this act shall not be construed to apply to gardens or truck patches except where produce is raised for market

Section 2 That section two of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 Before the Board may enter into an agreement for the erection of a fence as hereinbefore provided the board shall decide the amount of continuous fence that may be necessary to prevent deer from committing serious damage on the lands of the petitioners or adjacent landowners or lessees at that time or subsequently and shall agree with the petitioners or said landowners or lessees as to the location of said fence and it shall be further agreed that fifty per centum of the entire cost of such fence shall be paid by the petitioners or adjacent landowners or lessees and fifty per centum by the Board of Game Commissioners out of the fund established under the provisions of Article XII of an act approved the twenty-fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 359), known as the Game Fund After such agreement has been reached the petitioners and adjacent landowners or lessees decided upon by the Board shall give to the Board a surety bond or an individual bond endorsed by two property owners in the amount of the entire estimated cost of such fence or shall deposit with the Board cash to cover fifty per centum of the entire estimated cost of the completed fence Where more than one petitioner or landowner or lessee is involved the fifty per centum to be paid by them shall be prorated in proportion to the amount of fence required to protect each property against deer If any landowner or lessee shall refuse to participate in the cost of such fence but is willing to have the fence erected in the location agreed upon his share may be assumed by any other landowner or lessee individually or by a number of other interested persons jointly The cost of any special gates desired by landowners or lessees shall be borne entirely by the person desiring same

In lieu of the foregoing arrangement for the erection of deerproof fences the Board of Game Commisioners may by proper agreement supply where conditions warrant the necessary fencing wire and staples for the erection of deer-proof fences with the understanding that the property owner or owners or lessees affected shall bear all other expenses in connection with the erection of said deer-proof fences In all cases the wire and staples so furnished shall remain the property of the Commonwealth until the fence is completed under specifications approved by the Board of Game Commissioners If the fence agreed upon is not completed within six months after delivery of the necessary wire fencing and staples or more material has been furnished than necessary the Board of Game Commissioners may remove and ship elsewhere for such use as they may see fit any unused wire or staples furnished under such agreement

All such fences after erection shall be maintained by the individuals interested and the Board of Game Commissioners shall bear no part of such future maintenance Replacement of fences when worn out shall be on the same basis as the erection of the original fence the Board to decide when such fence shall be necessary

Section 4 That section four of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 Viewers appointed under the provisions of this act and all witnesses examined by them shall be sworn by a person authorized to administer oaths or by the Secretary of the Board of Game Commissioners who is hereby empowered to administer oaths to both viewers and witnesses Such oath shall in all ways be binding and of like effects as oaths administered in any court of this Commonwealth The viewers appointed shall make an impartial investigation and sworn report and viewers and witnesses examined by them shall be paid for services and expenses at the same rate as jurors and witnesses in the courts of quarter sessions are now compensated such payment to be made from the fund established under the provisions of Articl XII of an act approved the twenty-fouth day of May one thouand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and fifty-nine) known as the Game Fund

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. The hour of 9.30 having arrived, at which time the Committee in charge of the Washington Day celebration will take charge, I now declare a recess until 10:00 o'clock, and during the interim, Mr. Haws will be in charge of the Washington Day celebration.

MR. HAWS IN THE CHAIR.

CHAIRMAN HAWS. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen, the resolution providing for these exercises was introduced with the thought that we would be lacking in our partriotism if we were to allow such a wonderful event as Washington's birthday to pass unnoticed. Through the efforts of the Committee appointed by the Chair, Mr. Goehring of Allegheny, Mr. Hall, of Dauphin, and myself we have secured the assistance of Mrs. Ley, the community song leader of Dauphin County who, with the assistance of Dr. J. J. Heffernan, of Philadelphia, will open the exercises by the singing of America.

Two verses of "America" were then sung by the Assembly as were also two verses of the "Battle Cry of Freedom."

CHAIRMAN HAWS. I take great pleasure, ladies and gentlemen in introducing to you as the first speaker of the evening a gentleman who is a great scholar and student of the life of Washington and a great admirer of the General. I can assure you he is well qualified to speak upon the anniversary of George Washington's birthday—the gentleman from the 26th Philadelphia district, Mr. Sterling. (Applause.)

MR. STERLING: To-night, my friends, we should pause, not alone to honor the memory of Washington for this would be futile. We should pause, rather to seek reflection upon his character—his life and his service to country. Thus for ourselves to gain new inspiration—new vision.

All America, yea—all the nations of the World, today are met at the shrine of Washington. The great curtain of time, almost one and a half centuries, is drawn aside—and we see the mighty cairn which nation and state have raised to his memory. But far in the distance beyond this we see the life and the character and the deeds of a man who stands crystalline as an American type—a type which through the years has stamped itself deep upon the imagination of mankind. Whether the image be true or false is of no consequence—the fact endures. He rises up from the dust of American History as a Greek statue comes pure and serene from the earth in which it has lain for centuries.

There is no need to argue the truism that Washington was a man of splendid character, a man of fine moral quality—these virtues beyond any man of modern times, he has left for after ages to admire. But it was not character alone that fought the Trenton campaign and carried the Revolution to victory, It was not character alone that read the future of America and created a foreign policy which even to this very day is cherished by those American statesmen who have come to be called fundamentalists. It was military genius and statesmanship of the highest order which contributed to these accomplishments. Without the great moral qualities he possessed—his career would not have been possible—but it would have been quite as impossible if intellect and vision had not equalled the character.

With the curtain so drawn we see in Washington a great soldier—without whom a trying war could not have been successfully ended. A great statesman, who contributed more than all other men to lay the foundation stones of a republic which has endured in prosperity for almost a century and a half. A man of marvelous judgment—which rarely failed. a man of deep penetrating vision, beholding future America when to other eyes it was dim and indistinguishable—A man of great intellectual force—of iron will—of unequalled strength of patriotic purpose. We see, too, in Washington—a pure and high minded gentleman—of dauntless courage and stainless honor—of simple and stately manner—of kind and generous heart.

Such was he in truth. Though historian and biographer may fail to do him justice—the instinct of mankind will not fail. The real hero needs no books to give him worshippers. Washington will always hold the love and reverence of men and nations—for they see in him, as well all must see in him, the noblest of possibilities of mankind.

In the production of Washington, it appears as if nature was endeavoring to improve upon herself and that all the virtues of the ancient world were but so many studies preparatory to the patriot of the new. Caesar was merciful. Scipio continent, Hannibal patient, but it was reserved for Washington to blend them all in one and like the masterpiece of the Grecian artist, to exhibit in one glow of associated beauty the pride of every model; the perfection of every master.

As a general he marshalled peasant into veteran; he supplied, by discipline, the absence of experience. As a statesman, he enlarged the policy of the Cabinet into the most comprehensive system of general advantage. The wisdom of his views—the philosophy of his counsel was such that to the soldier and statesman he almost added the character of the sage. A conqueror, he was untainted with the crime of blood: a revolutionist, he was free from the stain of treason. Liberty unsheathed his sword—necessity stained it and victory returned it to its scabbard.

It has been said of Washington that he was not truly American. What then is it to be an American. Is it not to believe in America and in the American people. Is it not to have an abiding and moving faith in the future and the destiny of America. Something beyond and above the patriotism and love which every man, whose soul is not dead within him, feels for the land of his birth? Is it not to be national and independent rather than sectional and subservient. Is it not to have a high conception of what this country should be and to follow out that ideal with loyalty and truth? Has any man ever lived who served the American people more faithfully or with higher and truer conception of the destiny and possibilities of this nation? Though he may have been of the old World—though he may have been of aristocracy—he was in the fullest sense an American. Born, historically speaking, at almost the same time and geographically speaking on the same spot as George Mason, James Madison, Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson and John Marshall on the 19th day of December, 1799, the latter of these distinguished Americans, when the news of the death of Washington had been confirmed, addressed the House of Representatives saying:

"Our Washington is no more. The hero, the sage and the patriot of America—the man on whom in times of danger every eye was turned and all hopes placed—lives now only in his own great actions and in the hearts of an affectionate and afflicted people.

"More than any other individual, and as much as to one individual was possible, has he contributed to found this our wide spread empire to give to the Western World its independence and freedom.

"However, public confidence may change, and the public affections fluctuate with respect to others, yet with respect to him they have in war and in peace, in public and in private life, been as steady as his own firm mind and as constant as his own exalted virtues."

Of Washington the poet has appropriately sung:

"How shall we rank thee upon glory's page,
Thou more than soldier and just less than sage,
All thou has been reflects less praise on thee,
Far less, than all thou hast forborne to be."

CHAIRMAN HAWS. Ladies and gentlemen, the county of Delaware is noted for many things historically. It was in the county of Delaware that the first Continental Congress met, in the city of Chester, previous to going to Philadelphia. The county of Delaware produced a signer of the Declaration of Independence, John Morton. They have even sent us "The Four Horsemen." The county of Delaware has sent many of its leaders to this Body to represent it here but there is one of them who stands out like the glory of a sunburst, a former member of this House who served his county well in this body. I have the great pleasure of introducing to you as the next speaker, the Hon. William T. Ramsey, of Chester.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I was afraid that the Chairman was not introducing me, notwithstanding he had asked me to say something concerning this celebration. I wonder if you men and women think of this day as having some distinct characteristic above every other day that we mark as a holiday in Pennsylvania. Each of those days that are set apart by the Commonwealth have their peculiar significance in our memories. It is useless for me to remind you of them except by mention. Beginning with New Year's day, a day that makes us look back upon the past, and by that experience measure the future, the beginning of something new. Then we pass on to Memorial Day, a day when our memories are led to dwell upon those whom we have known in lifetime: make us think of their character, whether it is possible for us to be better thereby. And then we go on to the Fourth of July. Surely on that day our memories run to the beginning of this wonderful Nation; and then on to Thanksgiving Day, which has its peculiar significance, and to Christmas Day; each of them in turn differing, in fact, to the other. But tonight we come back to the 22nd day of February, and you men and women of this House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do well in that you pause if only long enough that you might in your memory bring back the day for which it is celebrated, that you think of the character that this day means to America, and I say you do well to-night in the day and generation in which you live to stop long enough to think of the character of Washington. Oh, I wish I could command the language, I wish I could command the thought that would convey to you something new concerning this great American character. If I could, then your lives would be better in the future, your patriotism stronger, and your actions more complete. Alone in its grandure stands forth the character of Washington in history; alone like some mountain peak that has no parallel in mountain range of greatness. Washington did the two greatest things in politics it is permitted to man to attempt. Mark you, men and women, Washington did the two greatest things in politics it is given in history to do. He maintained the peace, the independence of his country, which he had conquered by war. He founded a free government in the name of the principal of order and by reassembling their sway, he did indeed these things, my friends; but he did more. Out of the disconnected fragments he molded a whole and made it a country. He achieved his country's independence by the sword. He maintained that independence, my friends, by peace as by war; and he finally established both his country and his freedom in an enduring frame of constitutional government, fashioned to make liberty and union one and inseparable. These four things together constitute the unexampled achievements of Washington.

To speak of Washington's life would be, my friends, that one would have to touch everything worth while in America. Washington was a statesman, a soldier, a patriot, a reformer of creeds, teacher of truth and justice, achiever and preserver of liberty, founder and savior of his country, father of his people. This is he, solitary and unapproachable in his grandeur. Oh, thanks be to Providence to-night who gave America our Washington. (Applause.) My friends, as time had rolled back the curtain and each year has brought new achievements to this Nation, I have no doubt tonight that each of you, representing as you do, the districts of this great Commonwealth, sometime or other when a proposition presents itself to you for consideration, you want to go back to your history books and see what, under the same circumstances, Washington did, because we would be false if we were to believe that this great man accomplished all of this without opposition. He did not; but he built this nation even better than he knew. He founded something here that the world looks upon tonight as the one real true form of government representative of the people. But, members of this General Assembly we have lived long enough to again see the group who, under the guise of some researching theory, have gone back into the past and they have dug up opposition to these great legends of this Nation; they have tried to teach the young th t these legends upon which you and I have been talking so many years, the legends of Washington and his time,—why, men and women have even tried to teach our young today in school that Betsy Ross never made the flag. Suppose she did not; suppose she did not; what good is going to come by making the young people believe such a thing? And only recently they have introduced into your public schools, history books, my friends, that deny these great things. The scandal mongers have gone back into history and they come forward to try to overthrow these things that we believe in, that we love to cherish as American legends and history. Oh, I thank God that in Pennsylvania there has always been, and I hope there will always be legislators strong enough to seek these things out and when you find them cast them out as the devils were cast out by Him, the Great Redeemer. (Applause.)

I could possibly go on but I never could tell you one half you known of this great theme—Washington. I only hope that as you from time to time, want some guide in your life, you go back and read what Washington did and all will be well. Encompassed by the inviolate seas stands today the America which he, Washington, founded, uplifted above the powers and principalities of the earth, even as his monument is uplifted over roof and done and spire of the cities. Long live the republic of Washington. Respected by mankind, beloved by all its sons, long may it be the asylum of the poor and the oppressed of all lands and religions; long may it be the citadel of that which writes beneath the eagles folded wing,—we will sell to no man, we will deny to no man right and justice. Long live the United States of America! Filled with the free, magnaminous spirit, crowned by the wisdom, blessed by the moderation, hovered over by the guardian angel of Washington's example; may they be ever worthy in all things to be defended by the blood of the brave who know the rights of men and shrink not from their assertion; may they be each a column and altogether, under the constitution, a perpetual Temple of Peace unshadowed by a Ceaser, a palace at whose altar may freely commune all who seek the union of liberty and brotherhood; Long live our country! Long through the ages may it stand far removed in fact as in space from the old World's feuds and follies, alone in its grandeur and in its glory, itself the immortal monument of him who providence commissioned to teach men the power of truth and to prove to the nations that their Redeemer liveth.

Washington, first in war; first in peace and, my earnest prayer is, forever and ever in the hearts of his countrymen. (Applause.)

The exercises were then closed by singing the "Star Spangled Banner."

CHAIRMAN HAWS. On behalf of the Committee in charge and the members of the House I extend our thanks to all those who assisted us in these exercises.

AFTER RECESS.

SPEAKER BLUETT IN THE CHAIR.

MEMORIAL PROCEEDINGS TO APPEAR IN JOURNAL.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the proceedings of the Washington Day Celebration be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO ATTEND INAUGURAL CEREMONIES.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 23, 1925.

Whereas, It is proper that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should be represented at the inauguration of Calvin Coolidge as President of the United States on March fourth, by those representatives chosen by the people who constitute the membership of the General Assembly; threfore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Senators and Members of the House of Representativs, and the principal officers and employes of the General Assembly, and the legislative correspondents shall attend the said inaugural ceremonies as the representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That a committee of three members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Spaker of the House of Representatives, and three Senators, to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, shall make all necessary arrangements for their transportation and entertainment, and that the expenses incident thereto be provided for an item to be inserted in the General Appropriation Bill.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask for information from those that are better acquainted than myself as to whether the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania did not decide in the famous case of Russ vs. the Commonwealth, that the expense of a trip of the members of the legislature to attend an inauguration of the President was not a proper charge on the public fund. I cannot give any definite information on it myself, but I understood that was the settled law of the Commonwealth.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, under the rules of the House should not this resolution lie over for printing?

The SPEAKER. Under the rules, if there is any objection, to the resolution, being acted upon at once, it must lie over for printing.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I object to the resolution being acted upon at this time.

The SPEAKER. Then under the rules, the resolution will lie over for printing.

HOUSE BILLS CONCURRED IN BY SENATE.

HOUSE BILL No. 111.

The term "point of diversion" means the point or place at which water is taken or removed from a tributary or from the channel of the Delaware river

The term "developed for diversion" means conservation of water by storage or otherwise on or from any one or more tributaries for the purpose of diversion at any point on the tributary or tributaries or at some lower point in the channel of the Delaware river after the water shall have reached said lower point as water in transit

The term "ordinary flow" means a flow of forty-five hundredths (0.45) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the point at which the "ordinary flow" is to be determined

The term "ordinary low flow" means a flow of fifteen hundredths (0.15) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the point at which the "ordinary low flow" is to be determined

The term "allotment" means the share of any signatory state in the water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river which is in excess of all water in transit

The term "New York-New Jersey state line means the boundary line between the states of New York and New Jersey which line for the purposes of this compact shall be considered as crossing the channel of the Delaware river due east to the so-called "Tri-State Rock" and continuing thence in a south-easterly direction across the Neversink river to a rock on the west shore of the Hudson river near the village of Nyack

The term "water in transit" means water which has been developed by storage or otherwise and which is flowing in the channel of the Delaware river under the provisions of Article VII

The term "point of storage" means the point or place in the channel of the Delaware river at which a dam is maintained

The term "Commission" means the Tri-State Delaware River Commission

ARTICLE III

In the development use or diversion of the waters of the Delaware river and in all considerations of quantity and preservation of quality the order of importance and public value of water shall be as follows (A) domestic and municipal (B) sanitation (C) industry and power and (D) navigation

ARTICLE IV

Any administrative department political subdivision corporation partnership association or person authorized in that behalf by or under the laws of any signatory state may exercise the rights and privileges herein conferred on such state subject to the duties and obligations herein conferred on such state subject to the duties and obligations herein imposed on such state

ARTICLE V

Any tributary or any part of any tributary of the Delaware river may be developed for any purpose by or under the authority of the signatory state in which it is located and water so developed may be diverted for use at any point either within or without the drainage area of the Delaware river in case water so developed is diverted then the following restrictions and limitations shall apply

(1) Every such development shall be carried out in compliance with the legislative provisions governing such matters in the state in which it is located

(2) Every such development shall be so planned and the works shall be so constucted as to bring about the greatest practicable conservation and use of the waters of the tributary on which it is located

(3) In the case of every such development located above the New York-New Jersey state line there shall be maintained below the point of development during the months of July August September and October a reserve flow equal to the ordinary flow at that point and also if at any other time during the year the flow in the tributary at the point of development is less than the ordinary flow at that point then a reserve flow equal to the ordinary flow shall be maintained below the point of development In the case of every such development located below the New York-New Jersey state line there shall at all times be maintained below the point development a reserve flow equal to the ordinary low flow at that point

(4) The total drainage area in any state which may be developed for diversion under the provisions of this article shall not exceed three-fifths of the drainage area of the Delaware river which lies within that state

ARTICLE VI

All water which at any time is flowing in the channel of the Delaware river above the New York-New Jersey state line and which is in excess of all water in transit in said channel is allotted to the states of New Jersey New York and Pennsylvania and with the approval of the Commission as provided in Article VIII hereof each of these states may divert from the said channel at any point above the said state line that portion of its allotment which is in excess of a reserve flow of fifteen hundredths (.15) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the point of diversion and at any point below the New York-New Jersey state line each of the said states may divert that portion of its allotment which is in excess of a reserve

flow of twelve hundredths (0.12) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the New York-New Jersey state line The allotments of the respective states shall be computed from time to time as follows

In case no tributary within the drainage area above the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion then the allotment of each state at any point in the channel of the Delaware river above the said state line hereinafter called the normal allotment shall be one-third of the total water which may at any time be flowing in said channel at that point In case one or more tributaries within said drainage area shall have been developed for diversion by only one of the signatory states then the respective allotments of the signatory states shall be determined by the following rule The allotment of said diverting state shall be determined by subtracting from its normal allotment an amount to be computed by multiplying said normal allotment by a fraction the numerator of which shall be the total drainage area developed for diversion on said tributaries within that state above the New York-New Jersey state line and the denominator of said fraction shall be the total drainage area above the said state line and the allotment of each one of the other two states shall be determined by adding to its normal allotment one-half of the amount subtracted from the allotment of the diverting state In case tributaries within the drainage area above the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion by two or more states the rule herein above stated shall be applied separately and in turn as to each diverting state and the substractions from and additions to the normal allotments of the states thus determined shall fix the allotments of the states as of that time

All water which originates within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line and enters the channel of the Delaware river below that line and which is in excess of all water in transit in said channel is hereby allotted to the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania and with the approval of the Commission as provided in Article VIII hereof each of said states may divert from said channel at any point below the said state line that portion of its allotment which is in excess of a reserve flow of eighteen hundredths (0.18) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area lying above the point of diversion and below the New York-New Jersey state line The allotments of the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania in the waters which originate within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line shall be computed from time to time as follows

In case no tributary within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion then the allotment of the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania at any point in the channel of the Delaware river below said line hereinafter called the normal allotment shall be one-half of the water which has originated within the said drainage area and which at any time is flowing in the said channel at such point below said state line in case New Jersey or Pennsylvania shall have developed for diversion one or more tributaries within said drainage area then the allotment of the diverting state shall be determined by subtracting from its normal allotment an amount to be computed by multiplying said normal allotment by a fraction the numerator of which shall be the total drainage area developed for diversion on said tributaries within that state below the New York-New Jersey state line and the denominator shall be the total drainage area below said state line and the allotment of the other state shall be increased by the amount by which the allotment of the diverting state has been reduced In case tributaries within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion by both New Jersey and Pennsylvania the rule herein above stated shall be applied separately and in turn as to each of them and the subtractions from and additions to the normal allotments of the states thus determined shall fix the allotment of the states as of that time

Dams may be constructed across the channel of the Delaware river by or under the authority of any one of the signatory states for the purpose of storing water developed for diversion water in transit belonging to said state or any part or all of the water allotted to it under the provisions of this article All water so stored may be diverted or released from such reservoir or reservoirs by or under the authority of such state but the flow in the said channel below the point of storage must not be reduced below the ordinary flow whenever the flow above the point of storage is greater than the said ordinary flow When and if the flow in the said channel above the point of storage is less than the ordinary flow then and in every such case a flow equal to that above the point of storage shall be maintained in the said channel below the point of storage At all times however neither the water in transit nor the allotment or allotments of the other signatory state or states shall be interferred with but must at all times be permitted to pass such dam or dams

It is the intention of this article that no water shall be diverted from the channel of the Delaware river above the New York-New Jersey State line whenever the flow in the said channel is less than forty-five hundreths (0.45) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of the total drainage area lying above the point of diversion and it is further intended that no water shall be diverted from the channel of the Delaware river below the New York-New Jersey state line whenever the flow in the said channel is less than thirty-six hundredths (0.36) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of the total drainage area lying above the point of diversion but nothing contained in this article shall be construed to limit or prevent the diversion of water in transit of water diverted under any vested right or of water stored for diversion as herein provided

ARTICLE VII

The channel of the Delaware river is hereby constituted a carrier for conducting water designated as "water in transit" which has been developed or stored in accordance with the terms of Article V or Article VI Such water may be removed or diverted at any time or place from the channel of the Delaware river by or under authority of the state under whose auspices the development was made irrespective of the quantity of water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river and the reserve flow provisions of Article VI The rate at which such water is released or delivered shall be regulated so far as may be consistent with its economic utilization in such manner as not to unduly interfere with private rights or public interests along the said channel The daily rate at which such water may be removed or diverted from the channel of the Delaware river shall not exceed the daily rate at which it is released or delivered and no greater quantity may be diverted from the said channel than shall have been released or delivered from the developments made under the provisions of Articles V and VI less the reserve flows provided for in the said Articles V and VI except that allotted water may be diverted as provided in Article VI No development or construction in the channel of the Delaware river shall be permitted to interfere with the regularity of the flow of any water which has been released or delivered for carriage

ARTICLE VIII

In order to render possible the utilization or diversion of water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river each signatory state shall have the right to build dams entirely or partly across said channel and to construct wing dams headworks intakes or other necessary facilities at any point or points in or along said channel subject to the following limitations and stipulations

(a) All such works shall be built in compliance with the legislative provisions governing such matters in the state or states in which they are located

(b) Works for the development of water power may not be built except with the approval of the Commission in accordance with the provisions of Article X hereof

(c) Approval of the Commission shall be secured for every project which involves the removal or diversion of more than two million gallons of water per day from the channel of the Delaware river such approval however need not at any time be obtained by any administrative department of a signatory state or any political subdivision within a signatory state or by any corporation partnership association or person in the case of any intake which is in existence at any point in said channel on the date when this compact becomes effective

In the exercise of this authority said Commission shall be governed and its power and authority shall extend to and be limited by the following principles restrictions and reservations to wit

(1) In the case of any project which in the judgment of the Commission will not interfer or conflict with any other use of the water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river the Commission shall approve said project without imposing any restrictions or conditions except such as may be necessary to insure compliance with the provisions of this compact

(2) As between any one or more proposed or possible conflicting uses the action of the Commission shall be based upon the relative importance of the uses to which the water may be put as fixed in Article III of this compact and to the extent that conflict is irreconcilable that possible and practical project which will effect the use of water standing highest in the order of importance shall be approved without restrictions or conditions except such as the Commission may deem necessary to insure compliance with the provisions of this compact To the extent that conflict is avoidable by a reasonable modification of any or all of the projects which may be involved the Commission shall fix the terms of such modification but such terms shall not require as against the higher use pumping in place of gravity delivery of water nor impose on the higher use the cost of any impounding works or any unreasonable enlargement of pipe lines conduits or tunnels or impose on the higher use any undue burden in either expense or convenience of operation In the case of conflict in uses of the same relative order of importance preference shall be given to an established use over a proposed one and the Commission shall have authority to determine the manner in which such conflicting uses may be harmonized without imposing unreasonable expense or undue burden upon either or any of them

ARTICLE IX

No water from the drainage area of the Delaware river shall be diverted to any point outside of the boundaries of the states signatory to this compact No one of the signatory states may give grant or dispose of to another signatory state or to any holder of an authorization therefrom any water developed by or allotted to it under the provisions of this compact except by legislative act when necessary and then only with the approval of the Commission but nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent or prohibit the joint exercise by or under the authority of any two or more of the signatory states of the rights conferred by this compact and such joint exercise of rights is hereby authorized

ARTICLE X

With the approval of the Commission any signatory state may construct or authorize the construction of a dam wing dam headworks power house or other structure in or across the channel of the Delaware river for the main purpose of the development of water power Provided that every such authorization shall be limited to such period not exceeding fifty years as the said state shall determine and set forth in its authorization Provided further that the holder of such authorization shall be entitled to extension and renewal thereof upon the same terms until such holder shall have received through recapture or purchase by the authorizing state or by a duly authorized subsequent holder of like authority from said state repayment of the capital prudently invested in the power project upon the faith of the authorization plus such reasonable damages if any to property of such holder which is valuable serviceable and dependent for its usefulness upon the continuance of such authorization but not recaptured or purchased as may be caused by the severance therefrom of property taken Provided further that the authorizing state may in the discretion of its appropriate agency officer or employee empowered in that behalf embody in its authorization such terms conditions and stipulations as such agency officer or employee shall deem necessary to protect the present and future interests of each of the three signatory states and their people in the construction maintenance and operation of the project and in the water and power resources to be utilized thereby and suitable to secure to the holder of such authorization a reasonable opportunity for a fair return on the capital prudently invested in the project And provided further that every such authorization shall be on the following conditions which shall be expressed in such authorization namely (a) That the authorization shall become null and void unless within the time specified therein the holder of such authorization shall secure from the United States such license permit or authority as may be lawfully required and (b) that if and to the extent that any of the rights or powers set forth or reserved as rights or powers of the United States in or pursuant to the provisions of such license permit or authority shall be waived by the United States or be unenforceable by the United States then and to that extent such rights and powers (including if so waived or unenforceable any rights of recapture extension or renewal so set forth or reserved) subject to such alterations in plans specifications or structures and such extensions of time for commencing or completing structures as may have been made or granted by the United States may be exercised and enforced by the signatory states which originally authorized the construction No project authorized and constructed under the provisions of this article shall at any time be operated so as to injuriously affect any project for municipal and domestic water supply which has been or may be established under the provisions of this compact Subject to such conditions as the Commission may embody in its approval water for the development of power may be moved from the channel of the Delaware river and carried in a canal or in a pipe to any point below a dam constructed under the provisions of this article but said water shall be returned to the said channel within a distance of twelve miles below the point of removal measured along the center line of said channel and there shall always be maintained in the said channel immediately below the dam such regular and uniform flow of water as the Commission may determine to be reasonable and proper

ARTICLE XI

In connection with each and every development made under any provision of this compact there shall be installed and maintained all equipment and apparatus for measuring quantities and rates of water flow the determination of which may be necessary for the purpose of showing that the development or construction is being operated in compliance with the provisions of this compact

ARTICLE XII

In order to put and maintain the waters in the channel of the Delaware river in a condition sanitary and suitable for the uses and purposes set forth by this compact no sewage or industrial waste shall be discharged or permitted to flow into or be placed in or permitted to fall or move into the channel of the Delaware river or into any of its tributaries otherwise than under the following conditions and restrictions

(1) All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into the channel of the Delaware river above the confluence with the Lehigh river shall within a time reasonable for the construction of the necessary works have been so treated as to remove settleable solids to render the effluent non-putrescible and to effect a reasonable reduction of B Coli Communis

(2) All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into the channel of the Delaware river below the confluence with the Lehigh river shall within a time reasonable for the construction of the necessary works have been so treated as to at least remove settleable solids and shall be discharged through submerged outlets into said channel provided that such submerged outlets shall be located and constructed as may be required by the Commission and provided further that in order to protect the public health in specific instances such higher degree of treatment shall be used as may be determined to be necessary by the Commission after due notice and hearing

(3) All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into any tributary of the Delaware river except the Lehigh river shall be treated to that extent if any which may be necessary to maintain the water of such tributary immediaely above its confluence with the Delaware river in a sanitary condition at any time at least equal to the sanitary condition at such time of the water of the Delaware river immediately above such confluence

All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into the Lehigh river shall be treated to that extent if any which may be necessary to maintain the water of the Lehigh river immediately above its confluence with the Delaware river in that sanitary condition which the Commission after due notice and hearing shall have determined to be necessary because of the nature and extent of the use of the water of the Delaware river below such confluence provided however that the Commission may not require the sanitary condition of the Lehigh river immediately above its confluence with the Delaware river to exceed that of the sanitary condition of the Delaware river immediately above such confluence

(4) All industrial wastes discharged or permitted to flow into or be placed in or permitted to fall or move into the channel of the Delaware river or any tributary thereof shall first have been treated to such extent if any as may be necessary to maintain in the channel of the Delaware river sanitary conditions equivalent to those which would be attained by the treatment of sewage above required in this article provided nevertheless that industrial wastes containing substances likely in the judgment of the Commission to produce offensive tastes and odors in any public water supply from the channel of the Delaware river shall either be wholly prevented from being discharged or from flowing into from being placed in or permitted to fall or move into said channel or any tributary of the Delaware river or shall first have been treated to such an extent as to wholly eliminate such taste and odor producing constituents

This article shall become effective when any one of the signatory states or any holder of an authorization therefrom shall have begun the work of construction on any project under the provisions of this compact

Nothing in this article shall be construed to repeal or prevent the enactment of any legislation or the enforcement of any requirement by any signatory state imposing any additional conditions and restrictions to lessen or prevent the pollution of streams within their several jurisdictions

In order to maintain the water of any tributary immediately above its confluence with the channel of the Delaware river in a sanitary condition which will meet the requirements set forth in paragraphs (3) and (4) of this article the administrative determination and enforcement of the degree of treatment if any necessary to fulfill such requirements shall be made and undertaken by the proper officer or agent of the state wherein such tributary lies provided however that any other signatory state or any municipality citizen or resident thereof or property owner therein or any holder of any authorization therefrom under this compact shall nevertheless have full right either jointly or severally to sue for the enforcement of any and all of the provisions of this article and for the redress of any injuries which may have resulted by reason of a violation thereof

ARTICLE XIII

The beneficial effects of forest covered areas on the regularization of stream flow with attend greater potential use of streams for domestic industrial and navigation purposes and the greater stability of public ownership in management for the protection of forested drainage areas is clearly recognized and agreed to by the states party to this compact Each signatory state hereby adopts and will adhere to a policy covering the establishment and maintenance of an adequate forest cover on public and privately owned land in the drainage area of the Delaware river and in the maintenance of the highest practicable standards of protection from fire on these lands

ARTICLE XIV

All lands water-rights or easements necessary for the construction and maintenance of any dam in or across the channel of the Delaware river may with the approval of the Commission be appropriated and condemned by any signatory state or by the holder of authorization therefrom All damage resulting from the exercise of the right and power of condemnation conferred by this article shall be ascertained recovered and paid as provided by Article XV hereof

ARTICLE XV

All damage to persons or property resulting from the exercise of any rights under this compact shall be determined under the rule of damages in accordance with the procedure and in such manner as is provided by the law of the state in which the damages are suffered The damages suffered in the State of Pennsylvania shall be ascertained recovered and paid as provided by the forty-first section of the Act approved April twenty-ninth one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws seventy-three) and the amendments and supplements thereto The damages suffered in the State of New York or in the State of New Jersey shall be ascertained recovered and paid as provided by any general or other act applying thereto in effect at the time when the development is authorized The court or courts which have jurisdiction of the subject matter in the respective states shall have jurisdiction of the person of every party in interest for the purposes of notice summons and hearing throughout all three signatory states

ARTICLE XVI

Nothing herein contained shall be construed to abridge any riparian rights under the laws of the several states to the use of water from the channel of the Delaware river or from any of its tributaries except upon payment of just compensation to be ascertained and adjudged by due process of law

ARTICLE XVII

Nothing contained in this compact shall operate to impair any vested right of diversion or use of the waters of the Delaware river which may exist or have become vested at any time prior to the ratification hereof but the amount of water diverted under such vested right shall be charged against the allotment of the state under whose authority or jurisdiction said right became vested In each of the signatory states rights to divert or use the waters of the Delaware river or its tributaries together with properties necessary to effect the same though devoted to public use may be taken for any other public use higher in the order of importance as set forth in Article III provided that nothing in this article shall be construed to authorize the taking of vested rights or property without just compensation to be determined by due process of law governing such matters in the respective states

ARTICLE XVIII

Nothing in this compact shall be construed to prevent the institution or prosecution of any proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction for the purpose of remedying or correcting by damages injunction mandamus or other process civil or criminal any act of commission or omission in violation of the provisions of this compact for the protection of any rights under it for the enforcement of any of its provisions or for the awarding and enforcement of payment of compensation for any injury which may be caused by the exercise of any right or privilege herein authorized

ARTICLE XIX

Nothing in an existing treaty between any two of the states signatory hereto shall be modified or changed or invalidated by anything herein contained except as any provision in any such existing treaty may be expressly repugnant to any provision of this compact but nothing in any said existing treaty shall be construed to prevent the erection and maintenance of any dam across the channel of the Delaware river as authorized or permitted under the provisions of this compact

ARTICLE XX

The governor of each of the signatory states is hereby directed to designate and appropriate state officer or employee and may appoint not more than two other persons all of whom shall serve until their successors are designated or appointed on a joint Commission to be known as the Tri-State Delaware River Commission In voting on all matters which come before the Commission each signatory state shall have one vote and no decision or approval shall be rendered by the said Commission except on the unanimous vote of the three signatory states Every decision rendered by the Commission shall be accompanied by a certificate of the Commissioners to the effect that the said decision is for the best public interest and is in compliance with the provisions of this compact The Commission in rendering every decision shall therein fully state the reasons on which its action in the premises was based

The Commission shall meet annually on the first Wednesday in October the first annual meeting to be held at Trenton New Jersey and subsequent annual meetings shall be held at such place or places as the Commission may determine The powers and duties of the Commission in addition to those hereinbefore set forth shall be as follows

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. BREWSTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. WRIGHT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 308, entitled:

An Act providing that territory annexed to any city of the second class shall constitute a part of the poor district of such city of the second class or of the poor district of which said city is a part

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHRISTIAN MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponser of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Davies permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DAVIES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. CHRISTIAN MILLER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the purpose of this bill?

Mr. DAVIES. Mr. Speaker, the city of Scranton has at the present time twenty-two wards and one of those wards is not in the poor district of the city. The unfortunate part about this one ward is that those poor people who are compelled to go to the almshouse are sent seventeen miles away among strangers, and from the human side we think that ought not to be. We want to live together in prosperity and we want to live together in adversity. This ward pays about a seven mill poor tax and is the only ward not in the district. I think that the whole city is interested in this bill and anxious that you legislators will get that one ward, the baby ward of the city, in with us as one whole family.

Mr. CHRISTIAN MILLER. Mr. Speaker, it is very well in trying to provide homes for the homeless, to provide everything, in my way of speaking, for their comfort. We have got a big poor district, one of the biggest and one of the best in the State of Pennsylvania, administered by the Carbon County judges. Now, I believe after listening to quite a few of the men from Scranton and the residents from Scranton, that they are actually opposed to this bill.

Mr. DAVIES. Mr. Speaker, all the citizens of Scranton want this bill passed.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Christian Miller, has the floor.

Mr. CHRISTIAN MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Luzerne.

Mr. DAVIES. Mr. Speaker, I have the petitions of the voters of the twenty-second ward, and they want this bill to pass. All of the wards of the city are anxious to get this baby ward as part of the poor district of Scranton.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. CHRISTIAN MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar until we can learn more about it.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 266, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the seventeenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand and twenty-one) entitled "An act to exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes actual places of religious worship places of burial not used or held for private or corporate profit and institutions of purely public charity and repealing prior acts relating thereto" as amended by extending the provisions thereof to property owned occupied and used by any branch post or camp of honorably discharged soldiers sailors and marines and discharging certain taxes

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of an act approved the seventeenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand and twenty-one) entitled "An act to exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes actual places of religious worship places of burial not used or held for private or corporate profit and institutions of purely public charity and repealing prior acts relating thereto" which was amended by an act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and nineteen) entitled "An act to amend the act of the seventeenth day of July Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws ten hundred twenty-one) entitled 'An act to exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes actual places of religious worship places of burial not used or held for private or corporate profit and institutions of purely public charity and repealing prior acts relating thereto'" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all churches meeting-houses or other regular places of stated worship with the ground thereto annexed necessary for the occupancy and enjoyment of the same all burial grounds not used or held for private or corporate profit all hospitals universities colleges seminaries academies associations and institutions of learning benevolence or charity with the grounds thereto annexed and necessary for the occupancy and enjoyment of the same founded endowed and maintained by the public or private charity provided that the entire revenue derived by the same be applied to the support of and to increase the efficiency and facilities thereof the repair and the necessary increase of grounds and buildings thereof and for no other purpose and all schoolhouses belonging to any county borough or school district all court houses jails poor-houses and all other public property used for public purposes with the ground thereto annexed and necessary for the occupancy and enjoyment of the same and all real and personal property owned occupied and used by any branch post or camp of honorably discharged soldiers sailors and marines be and the same are hereby exempted from all and every county city borough township bounty road school and poor tax Provided That all property real or personal other than that which is in actual use and occupation for the purposes aforesaid and from which any income or revenue is derived shall be subject to taxation except where exempted by law for State purposes and nothing herein contained shall exempt same therefrom And provided that all property real or personal in actual use and occupation for the purposes aforesaid shall be subject to taxation unless the person or persons association or corporation so using and occupying the same shall be seized of the legal or equitable title in the realty and possessor of the personal property absolutely

Section 2 That all taxes levied since the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five upon any real or personal property owned occupied and used by any branch post or camp of honorably discharged soldiers sailors or marines and remaining unpaid are hereby discharged and the trustees or other persons charged with the financial management of such branch post or camp are relieved and discharged from the payment thereof and no such taxes now unpaid shall be collected or be made a lien upon the property of such branch post or camp by the authority levying the same

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I would like to make a few observations, with your permission, with reference to House Bill No. 266, file folio 1231. This is a bill which provides for the exemption of the property occupied by camps or posts of discharged soldiers and sailors of the United States from local taxation. It is passed in pursuance to an amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania which was approved by the people in November, 1923. The original provision of the Constitution was that the General Assembly may by general law exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes, actual places of religious worship, places of burial not used or held for private or corporate profit, and institutions of purely public charity. This amendment added these words, "real and personal property owned and used by any branch, post or camp of honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines." As the people of the Commonwealth have approved of that amendment by a very large majority, it seems to be that those who favor this bill are justified in asking favorable consideration from the members of the House, and, therefore, I shall vote for it and count it a proper extension of the principle of the Commonwealth whereby property that is used for public purposes or patriotic purposes shall be exempt from taxation. But I want to take this opportunity, Mr. Speaker, to direct the attention of the members of the House to the way in which exemptions of realty from local taxation are extending in this State. To my mind we ought to vote for this bill as being in line wilth the established policy of the Commonwealth, but it is a question whether the time has not come to consider the danger in the established policy of the Commonwealth with reference to exemptions from local taxation.

The report of the Tax Commission shows that the total assessment of real estate in Pennsylvania is something like eight billions of dollars, and of that eight billions upwards of one billion at the present time is exempt from local taxation. This means that one eighth of the realty of Pennsylvania, twelve and one-half per cent is exempt from taxation, and, of course, that means that the tax on the other seven eighths is increased twelve and one-half per cent in order to carry the burden. It seems to be clear then to anyone that if the total real estate in this Commonwealth is forty-five thousand square miles and that if you exempt from taxation six or seven thousand square miles, you must add to the tax rate upon the remainder. Now we were quite surprised in the Tax Commission to find the extent and the variety of the realty that is exempted from local taxation at the present time. To those members of the House who have not yet had opportunity to study the report of the Tax Commission I refer you to pages thirty-seven and thirty-eight where we classify eight classes of property that are exempt from local taxation by special law at the present time. Including, first, real estate of public utilities that is used in the exercise of their franchise; including, second, public property, that is publicly owned for a public purpose and then following, the institutions of learning and the welfare institutions, and under a recent act even private schools where they are not for profit. All of those classes making as they do a hole in the list of taxables, had the law extended so that in time it covers a great variety of purposes such as I think they did not originally believe would be covered by it. Take for instance, I say to my friends in Montgomery County, take for instance Pottstown where there is the Hill School, a famous private school that has made a real contribution to education in this State, but it is a private school, and the wonder of it is that the Hill School would have all of its property exempt from local taxation, which is what has happened under the Act of 1919. Not only its property but also the dwelling houses occupied by members of the faculty are exempt from local taxation, although the dwelling houses occupied by public school teachers and those occupied by public officials are not exempt from local taxation.

Now it seems that we ought to realize that a situation has developed here in which by extending this policy of exemptions we may work an injustice to the people that are called upon to pay taxes. I recall one tax district in the western part of the State where at the present time the Federal Government has taken about one quarter of its area for a forestry reserve, a utility company has taken another section and is using it for a water supply basin, there is an institution of learning in another section and they have got left just barely half their real estate actually for taxation by these exemptions, so that they cannot raise sufficient revenue to keep their schools open as long as the laws of the Commonwealth require, or perform the other functions of government which they should perform under the laws of the Commonwealth. Now then, the policy of exemption has extended so far that it seems to me a time has come when we should call a halt. I can go even farther than that. I known of one taxing district adjacent to the city of Philadelphia in which in a single year, from 1922 to 1923, the exempt realty was doubled, although at the same time the taxable realty only increased by less than ten percent. It hardly needs comment that if the exempt real estate is going to be doubled in that ratio and that the tax on realty is to be increased in that ratio, the time will come when there will be a smash. That was one of the questions that the Tax Commission considered at great length, and the only suggestion that we were able to make at that time was that a distinction should be made between the land value and the improvement value upon its buildings that were used for public or semi-public purposes, and that while the improvements might be exempt from taxation land values should be uniformly taxed on the general principle that the moment you exempt a single foot of land you add to the tax of all the non-exempt land, and, hence put an unfair burden upon that. We have asked the Legislature to consider that suggestion, but we have further asked that no action be taken at this session because it involves such a marked change in the public policy of the State that we believe it ought not to be made until there has been a thorough debate in every part of the country, and a thorough understanding as to what the change involves. For one thing, we were unable to get the statistics showing how much of this billion of exempt real estate is owned by public utilities, how much represents churches or buildings used for public worship, how much represents institutions of learning or anything of that kind. That classification is not kept in our records.

Now, I might say also that this same problem came up a little while ago, in our adjacent State, New York, in West Chester County, which is pretty close to the City of New York, where it was found that twenty-eight percent of their real estate was exempt from taxation under a variety of tax laws, and it was felt that that resulted in an unfair burden on the remainder. That caused a serious study of the question to be made and their conclusion was that if they continued to follow this present policy of exempting welfare buildings from local taxations with the tremenduous growth in welfare work that is now going on, the time will come when the pressure of taxation will be exceedingly heavy upon the people that cannot come in under the classes exempt.

Now, I wanted to take, Mr. Speaker, the opportunity of suggesting the problem, and I want to say that while I am voting for this bill because I believe it is in line with the established policy of the state, yet it seems to me that the time will come very shortly when we will have to consider the question as to whether the established policy of the State is not too generous to certain classes of institutions, buildings and properties, and to that extent unfair to those who pay taxes.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally,

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal

Session 1925 — 126th of the General Assembly

Vol. 8. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1925. No. 16.

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 24, 1925.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. John G. Homsher) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer.

Our Heavenly Father, we would not do anything in this life without asking Thy blessing to rest upon us. And therefore at the beginning of the activities of this new day, we pause for a moment with bowed heads to invoke the Divine benediction. Bless our Governor; bless our Presiding Officer; bless, we pray Thee, all the members of this body, and the homes represented here. If any of the Senators or their loved ones are sick, do Thou heal them; if any are in sorrow or in trouble, do Thou comfort and sustain them; and in all the experiences of life may we find in Thee our unfailing Friend and Helper. Guide us in our work day by day, and at last bring us to Thyself in the Heavenly Kingdom. For the sake of Jesus Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The President. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when on motion of Mr. BUCKMAN the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, in the Federal Constitution there are two methods of approving amendments, one by having special conventions in the various states, and the other by vote of the Legislatures, by three fourths vote. This has been the practice since 1887 ever since the ratification of the Constitution itself and it has caused in certain instances much dissatisfaction.

This bill provides that after three months time has elapsed after the proposal of the amendment to the Federal Constitution there shall be placed upon the calendar at the next succeeding election, whether general elections or municipal, at the bottom of the bill the amendments proposed to the Federal Constitution; and then you vote either yes or no. There is no added expense to the State. These votes are counted by the regular election officers and the results transmitted to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, who certifies them to the Governor and the Legislature; but, of course there is no obligation that is binding about it, simply a referendum. As you know, in the state of Massachusetts they had a referendum on the Child Labor Amendment with the result that there were 600,000 against against it and 200,000 for it, which shows very clearly how the people felt about it.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 89, entitled:

An Act to provide for an additional system for the collection of State and county taxes in cities of third class.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. President, this act provides that in counties of the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes, the County Commissioners may appoint a Collector of Taxes. My opposition to this measure lies in the fact that the bill does not materially change the authority now vested in the County Commissioners in this regard that they would have the authority to my mind to appoint the collector, if they so desired.

My second objection is that in making this appointment is that there is no set figures as to the compensation to be paid to the person who has to be named as Collector, in case one man is named it provides his compensation should not exceed five per cent. I respectfully call the attention of the Senate, to the fact that the appointee would be receiving under this bill, a compensation largely in excess of that of the officers who appoint him, a bad system, I would say.

My next objection is that I believe this bill is unconstitutional. I do not raise that point, but I advance it as my own opinion, that counties which declared for home rule for municipalities, under the constitutional amendment, I believe, have the right of naming a collector of taxes, and that this right in Cities of the third class particularly should be vested in the Councils of the Cities. Mr. President, for these reasons, I cannot vote for this bill.

Mr. EARNEST. Mr. President, under the act of 1899, the County Commissioners have the right, and it is their duty, to appoint one or more tax collectors for cities of the third class within their counties.

Now, I understand that there are some third class cities in which the collection of taxes is made in another way, and under other acts of Assembly; but that is the general law. The compensation that is allowed to tax collectors is five per cent.

The City of Harrisburg has fifteen wards. It has been the custom here for many years,—Harrisburg being a third class city,—to appoint a tax collector in each ward and pay him five per cent. commission. It cost the County of Dauphin between nineteen and twenty thousand dollars a year to collect its taxes in the city of Harrisburg. We think that is too much money. We want another way to collect the taxes in the City of Harrisburg, or at least, to collect them for less money.

The present bill is an alternative measure, in that it allows the County Commissioners only in counties where State and county taxes are collected, in cities of the third class where a collector is appointed by the County Commissioners,—only in such counties,—it allows them to appoint a tax collector and make a contract with him for a salary, or a commission, the whole cost of the collection not to exceed five percent of the whole amount of taxes collected. It does not interfere in any possible way in any manner of collecting taxes in cities of the third class that now exists; it simply gives additional way, another manner for the collection of taxes in cities of the third class.

The County Commissioners of the State of Pennsylvania, favor the passage of this bill. They tried to get a bill somewhat similar, but I believe a mandatory bill, through the legislature two years ago. But this is an alternative measure. The County Commissioners of the State favor the bill. My constitutents here, Republicans and Democrats, are very eager to see this bill passed and I hope the Senate will pass it. I am perfectly willing to answer any questions that may be asked me by any Senator on this bill.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I wish to state that the city of Altoona in my district, a third class city is trying this plan out, and is very much in favor of this bill.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. President, you will notice on the calendar to-day three bills, 311, 312 and 314. These bills are, all of them, for a class of unfortunate children in this state, who unhappily are yet human and must be taken care of. The bills are designed to properly educate a class of children under the Public School system of Pennsylvania. The first bill, No. 311, makes education compulsory for all blind, deaf and crippled children who are incapacitated to such an extent that they cannot attend school. Mr. President, I was blind when I was 22 years of age, just one year too old to enter any of the schools in Pennsylvania. That was unfortunate. I could not help that, but nevertheless the opportunity of entering a school for the blind was denied to me, because the limit was set at 16. Now it is the thought of all the educators in the world, of the economists and philanthropists to make the best out of the liability, and, if possible, to turn it into an asset. We talk of humanity, but we are slow in applying the principle. We speak much of charity but we rarely practice it. I cannot conceive that you would legislate a hardship upon my brethren. We are a great body in this state of whom many people know very little. We are supposed to have a world of our own in which we are situated, and yet there is no such thing as the blind man's world. Mr. President, the world in which I live is your world, it is our world, it is God's world, and yet we go through the highways and the byways with our eyes closed. where God Almighty has created you just as he has created me, allows you to tread the paths with your eyes open, to choose which ever way you will to place your feet. I have got to fight, my brother must fight the battles of life just the same as you do. We are not allowed anything in the way of sympathy, we are not allowed anything in the way of makeshift, we have got to produce, we have to be just as efficient, just as able, and just as much men and just as much women in our highest capacity in the business world as though we had the best of sight, and hearing and the strongest mentality, and how in the world will you prepare us to do it? I have studied the situation for years. Mr. President. in 1919, when I was a member of the House of Representatives, I introduced a bill providing that handicapped children of Pennsylvania should be educated in the Public Schools of Pennsylvania, and under that act I am told, by those who know, that 100,000 children in Pennsylvania were benefitted. Those who were retarded, those who were backward or by some physical handicap were not able to take their place by strong and hearty children. But I have not finished my work. That bill passed in 1919 and on the Monday succeeding the adjournment I entered the Hospital at the University of Pennsylvania and while I was on that bed a representative of the Philadelphia Public Ledger came to me and told me that the Honorable William C. Sproul had signed my bill, giving 100,000 handicapped children of Pennsylvania an opportunity in life, and he brought to me, Mr. President, on that occasion crippled children and they lay across that bed and touched my hand, and I resolved there that if God gave me grace and raised my body again, —and those of my friends who are present here on this floor, know it was a major operation,—I resolved I would go back to the legislature some day and I would pick up my work where I left off, and I would carry it forward in the name of humanity, because I believed Pennsylvania was big enough and good enough and just enough to give every handicapped child of Pennsylvania an opportunity. And I came back. I came back slowly and as I sat on the porch of my home and I heard what was said in my home county, that I could not come back, that I had run my last race, that I had been a good boy, but I would never come through that terrible operation: but I came back to the State Senate in 1923 out of the shadow wreck and I sat here at this desk, and the only piece of legislation that I attempted was one creating a commission to study conditions of blind persons in Pennsylvania. That bill passed, and that commission was created, and we worked. We went out into the highways and byways of Pennsylvania and we studied, at close hand and close range, the needs of these children, these unfortunate handicapped children, and I have gone into the homes where boys of 23 and 24 years of age sat helpless and I have asked the parents of those children. "Can this boy read" "No". "Can this boy write?" "No." "What can your boy do?" The boy could do nothing. Why? Because that loving mother and that loving father had loved that boy so much that they had refused to allow him to take his place in life, they would not let that child go to school and I have known cases where that boy sat there in idleness and the parents who loved that child have died and where is he to-day? My friends, are you going to deny my brethern that privilege because their eyes are shut because somebody is going to be mistaken? The Kiwanians are for the poor child, The Rotarians are for the crippled child, and the Lions are for the blind children of Pennsylvania, and they are for this bill.

When this first bill which I introduced in 1919 was signed the Philadelphia Public Ledger said the Lanius bill was business proposition for the State of Pennsylvania, because it turned a liability into an assest. You do not want to handicap that crippled child, my good friends, and this first bill was made compulsory, that they attend school, and the schools for the blind are a part of our Public School System and the Public School System is good for your boy and my boy and is good for these children. It is not an institution where they lock them up, it is a free institution, where the parents and guardians and the public are welcome at any time. The second bill merely sets the time at which children can attend these institutions. For instance, a child of sixteen years of age is allowed to enter school. I was denied that privilege. I was thrown out upon the highways and byways of life to take my place beside my sighted brother.

That is all. I make this statement, not because I wish to go on record, not that my friends may read this speech, I care not for publicity, but because I know there are 100,000 handicapped children in Pennsylvania waiting to see what the State of Pennsylvania does to-day.

The question recurring,

BILLS OVER IN ORDER.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I ask that Senate Bill No. 342 on third reading entitled:

An Act to further amend clause five of section three of the act approved the thirteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and nine, (P. L. 520), entitled "An act relating to food: defining food; providing for the protection of the public health, and the prevention of fraud and deception, by prohibiting the manufacture or sale, the offering for sale or exposing for sale, or the having in possession with intent to sell, of adulterated, misbranded, or deleterious foods; prescribing certain duties of the Dairy and Food Commissioner in reference thereto; and providing penalties for the violation thereof."

go over in order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 351, as follows:

An Act to amend section seven of an act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and thirty-one) entitled "An act relating to the right to practice medicine and surgery in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and providing a Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure as a bureau of the Department of Public Instruction and means and methods whereby the right to practice medicine and surgery and any of its minor branches may be obtained and exemptions therefrom and providing for an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act and providing for revocation or supervision of licenses given by said bureau and providing penalties for violation thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith" commonly known as "The Medical Practice Act" by providing for the annual registration of all persons duly qualified and licensed to conduct the practice of medicine or any of the allied branches thereof in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section seven of an act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and thirty-nine) entitled "An act relating to the right to practice medicine and surgery in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and providing a Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure as a bureau of the Department of Public Instruction and means and methods whereby the right to practice medicine and surgery and any of its minor branches may be obtained and exemptions therefrom and providing for an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act and providing for revocation or suspension of licenses given by said bureau and providing penalties for violation thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith" be amended to read as follows

Section 7 All persons who have complied with the requirements of the rules and regulations of the [bureau] board and who shall have passed a final examination and who have otherwise complied with the provisions of this act shall receive from [said bureau under its seal] the Department of Public Instruction acting for the said board a licensing certificate entitling them to the right to practice medicine and surgery or special branches of medicine and surgery as provided for in section six in this Commonwealth which said license certificate shall be duly registered in the office of the [Superintendent] Department of Public Instruction of this Commonwealth in a record book to be properly kept for that purpose and which shall be open to public inspection and a certified copy of said record shall be received as evidence in all courts in this Commonwealth in the trial of any case Provided That this section relating to certificates to practice medicine and surgery shall not apply to officers in the regular medical service of the United States Army and Navy or the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service while in discharge of their official duties or to any one who may be a duly registered practioner of medicine in any other State or Commonwealth who may be called upon by a registered physician of this Commonwealth to consult with him in a case under treatment or any one while actually serving as a member of the resident medical or surgical staff of any legally incorporated or State hospital And provided further That any duly registered practitioner of medicine residing in any State near the boundary line between said State and this Commonwealth whose practice extends into this State shall have the right to practice in this Commonwealth at the discretion of the [bureau] board provided he files with the secretary of the [Bureau] Board of Medical Education and Licensure of this Commonwealth a certified copy of his registration in the State where he resides and provided that the Board of Examiners of the adjoining State reciprocate by extending the same privilege to practitioners of medicine and surgery in this Commonwealth in which case he shall receive from the secretary of the [bureau] board created by this act a licensing certificate issued by the said [bureau] board but which shall be automatically revoked if he changes his said residence or office of practice A record of all persons so licensed shall be kept in the archives of the Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg and shall have the standing before the law of any other license issued by the said Department for the Board of Medical Education and Licensure In these records shall be registered the names and addresses of each person duly qualified to conduct the practice of medicine or any of the allied branches of the healing art as provided for in this Act in Pennsylvania

And it shall be the duty of all persons now qualified and engaged in the practice of medicine or any of the allied branches of the healing art or who shall hereafter be licensed by the Department of Public Instruction for the Board of Medical Education and Licensure to engage in such practice in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to be registered with the said Board of Medical Education and Licensure in the Department of Public Instruction as practitioners on or before the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six and thereafter to register in like manner annually on or before the first day of January of each succeeding year The form and method of such registration shall be provided for by the said Board of Medical Education and Licensure in such manner as will enable the Board of Medical Education and Licensure to carry into effect the purposes of this act

Each person so registering with the Board of Medical Education and Licensure shall pay for each annual registration and for the certificate hereinafter provided for a fee of one dollar or such other sum as may be fixed by the Department of Public Instruction under authority of law which fee shall accompany the application for such registration The money thus received shall be available for the use of the said Board of Medical Education and Licensure for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this Act against unlicensed illegal and unregistered practitioners.

Upon receiving a proper application for such registration accompanied by the fee above provided for the Department of Public Instruction acting for said Board of Medical Education and Licensure shall issue its certificate of registration to the applicant Said certificate together with its renewals shall be good and sufficient evidence of registration under the provisions of this Act

Any person who shall practice medicine or any of the allied branches of the healing art which come under the provisions of this Act without having been registered in accordance with the provisions of this Act shall on conviction thereof before any magistrate alderman or justice of the peace in the county where the offense shall have been committed be subject to a fine of not less than ten dollars and not more than one hundred dollars to be collected by summary conviction as like fines are now collected by law or in case of non-payment of the fine to undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding ten days Provided That any person so convicted shall have the right of appeal as in any other case of summary conviction

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 354, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six hundred and twenty-five of the act approved the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred forty) entitled "An act concerning townships and revising amending and consolidating the law relating thereto"

And said bill having been read at length the third time

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, out of courtesy to the Senator from Delaware, Mr. MacDade, I ask unanimous consent to amend section 1, page 2, line 16 by striking out "theereof" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "thereof".

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The amendment was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 356, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth Congressional districts in section one of the act approved the tenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and forty-four) entitled "An act to apportion the State into congressional districts" be recommitted to the Committee on Congressional Apportionment for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of Senate Bill No. 15, on third reading postponed for the present, entitled:

An act for the protection of the public health by regulating the serving of milk for drinking purposes to patrons of hotels restaurants lunch rooms fountains and dining cars and the sale of milk at retail and providing penalties

Mr. STEELE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend the fourth line of the title by striking out the following: "and the sale of milk at retail"; also section 1, line 8, by striking out after the word "patrons" the following: " or for any person to sell milk at retail"; also line 10 by inserting after the word "container" the following: "in which said milk is supplied to the said hotel, restaurant, lunch room, fountain or dining car."

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The amendment was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. KRAUSE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to read a bill in place at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KRAUSE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 467, entitled:

An Act to amend section six of an act, approved the ninth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 746), entitled "An act to regulate the construction, maintenance and inspection of buildings used for the exhibition of moving pictures, in all cities of the first class; providing for the enforcement thereof, and fixing penalties for violation of the same," by providing for the heating by means of mechanical warm air.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to read a bill in place at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BROWN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 468, entitled:

An Act to provide for a second additional law judge of the court of common pleas of the Fourteenth Judicial District.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL NO. 102.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 102, entitled:

An Act providing that in certain cases it shall not be a defence in an action against a corporation on a negotiable instrument issued or endorsed in its name to prove that it was issued or endorsed by an officer or officers thereof contrary to the by-laws of said corporation.

was defeated.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I voted "no".

Mr. DeWITT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. DeWITT. Mr. President, I voted "no".

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I voted "no".

Mr. DeWITT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. DeWITT. Mr. President, I voted "no".

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I made the motion to reconsider on behalf of the sponsor of the bill. The plan is to have it amended so as to be satisfactory to all those who voted against it and for that reason I am making the motion. I am just as much opposed to the bill as it stands now as anybody in the Senate.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

QUESTIONS OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, when the resolution was passed here, the concurrent resolution to appropriate money to take the Legislature to the inauguration at Washington, there was so much confusion that I could not catch the purport of the resolution and I presume I was reported as voting "aye" I am against the resolution and I want to take this opportunity to so express myself. I do not believe that under the heavy pressure that is being placed against the Appropriations Committee the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the Senate and the Chairman of the Appropriations of the Committee of the House are working night and day to find money for the necessary things of this State and they do not know where it is coming from and there is a difference of opinion as to how much they are going to appropriate. I had a man say to me yesterday, a big taxpayer, when I was on my road to the train, that he had not seen during this entire session where one voice was raised in the legislature about the increase in taxes or the increase in appropriations and I had to agree with him that that was true. I understand that in the House this resolution has not been concurred in and I further understand that they have passed a resolution for an amount not to exceed five thousand dollars, and the Governor is limited to that amount, and he is also limited to his cabinet and to an escort.

I want to take this occasion to say that I think that is wrong. The Governor has been invited by the Inaugural Committee, and they have asked him to bring along representative citizens. He has invited those citizens, and I am informed that the entire expense of taking people that he has invited will not be in excess of five thousand dollars. I do not think that the Assembly should be small with him, or play "peanut politics" in a big affair of this kind, particularly in the great Republican State of Pennsylvania. That is incidental to my remarks. My purpose for arising, which I now repeat, is that I am against the appropriation of money for a junket of the legislature of the State of Pennsylvania and if the Senators and Representatives wish to go, it is my opinion that we should pay our own expenses.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Blair, Mr. Snyder, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I caught the purport of that resolution, notwithstanding the confusion. It was a viv voce vote, I voted "no" and two or three more in this neighborhood voted "no" but I do not suppose their voices were heard.

I just wish to say that I also was opposed to the resolution.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I extend the courtesy that the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, at times has refused me.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I do not understand whether the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, is opposed to appropriating $3000 for a junket for the legislature or to appropriating $10,000 for a junket for the Governor, or to reducing the appropriation for his junket from $10,000 to $5000.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I understand that the statement comes from the Governor's office, nobody has made that statement to me officially, but it could be easily ascertained that the expense that the Governor figures for the people that he has invited, including his cabinet, will not exceed $5000; and I further believe if the $5000 is the amount set in the appropriation that he would keep within it.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, that does not answer my question. I do not understand whether the Senator is opposed to the appropriation of $3000 for the junket of the legislature or whether he is opposed to the $10,000 appropriation to the Governor, the item for which is now in the budget, or whether he is opposed to reducing that from $10,000 to $5000.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I have confidence enough in the judgment and integrity of the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee that I will be guided by his judgment.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. Buckman. Mr. President, on February 2nd, there was referred to the Committee on Public Roads and Highways, of which I have the honor to be the Chairman, Senate Bill No. 182, commonly known as the Omnibus Road Bill. That bill was introduced by the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Mac Dade, in precisely the same form in which it passed the Assembly at the session of 1923, and was vetoed by the Governor. Since that time there have been changed conditions in many of the districts of the State, necessitating amendments to be made to that bill, in order to satisfy the people of those various districts. It was the desire of the Committee on Public Roads and Highways to have that bill acted upon promptly and to have it reported back to this Senate for consideration. The bill has now been in committee for over three weeks and I desire to say to my colleagues on the floor of this Senate publicly, in order that there may be no misunderstanding about it, that unless their amendments are in my hands by two o'clock this afternoon they cannot be considered by this committee. I feel in making this statement that I am fair to every one, as every one has had full and ample notice that the bill was in committee and that amendments to it were being considered. I wish to give this public notice in order that there may be no criticism hereafter that amendments will not be considered so far as I am concerned, unless they are in my hands by two o'clock this afternoon.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. SPROWLS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Washington, Mr. Sprowls, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SPROWLS. Mr. President, last evening there was a lot of confusion, and because of that I thought that the resolution was only to appoint a committee. Now I understand this morning that the whole legislature was to go at the expense of the State to the inauguration. I am absolutely opposed to a resolution of that kind. They may go and pay their own expenses but not at the expense of the State.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I want to correct what is evidently a misapprehension. There is nobody on record. It was no yea and nay vote and there was no roll call and nobody is on record, so you can all feel at ease so far as trouble at home is concerned, because nobody is on record at all and we assume that you all voted no. And in addition to that, I want to say that there is no compulsion, the resolution does not compel anybody to go.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Leslie, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. LESLIE. In reference to the action of the Senate to provide funds ostensibly and making arrangements for the junket, it was a joint resolution, in which the House necessarily had to concur. I am reliably informed that the House has taken the resolution as passed by the Senate, refused to concur, amended it to such an extent that each and every member who proposes to participate in the trip to Washington for the inauguration must pay his own expenses.

Mr. BETTS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of perpersonal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Clearfield, Mr. Betts, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BETTS. Mr. President, I want to be recorded as being opposed to the resolution passed last night for the legislature to go at the expense of the State, regardless of the action of the House.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I just want to make this additional statement in regard to the proposed trip to Washington: I want to say to the Senators who have stated their opposition this morning to spending money for anybody to go to Washington, that the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations accepts these statements as notice to him that these Senators will oppose the $10,000 item in the budget for expenses to Washington. If this is a misinterpretation the Senators can inform me privately in Room 251.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 78, as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and eighty-two) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" authorizing mutual fire insurance companies to insure public buildings and public property

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That an act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and eighty-two) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchange and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" is hereby amended by adding thereto the following section

Section 535 It shall be lawful for any mutual fire insurance company to make contracts of insurance with any county city borough town township school district or poor district and to insure reinsure and accept reinsurance on any public building or property of any such county municipality or district And said County Municipalities or Districts shall have full power and authority to accept such contracts of insurance from said Mutual Company

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 368, as follows:

An Act to amend section four hundred and ten (c) of an act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and eighty-two) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" permitting the exception from incontestability of provisions relative to benefits in the event of total and permanent disability and provisions which grant additional insurance specifically against death by accident

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met that it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section four hundred and ten (c) of an act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and eighty-two) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" is hereby amended to read as follows

(c) A provision that the policy shall be incontestable after it has been in force during the lifetime of the insured two years from its date of issue except for non-payment of premiums and for engaging in military or naval service in time of war without the consent in writing of an executive officer of the company and at the option of the company provisions relative to benefits in the event of total and permanent disability and provisions which grant additional insurance specifically against death by accident may also be excepted

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 378, entitled:

An Act fixing the pay of election officers and clerks in counties of the second class

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That at all elections in counties of the second class the pay of judges of election shall be ten dollars and the pay of inspectors and clerks shall be seven dollars and fifty cents

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. EINSTEIN. Mr. President, I move to amend line five by inserting after the words "Ten Dollars" the words "per day"; also line six by inserting after the words Seven Dollars and Fifty Cents the words "per day".

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with.

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 379,

An Act regulating the expenses of county commissioners in counties of the seventh class

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in all counties of the seventh class the county commissioners shall be allowed compensation for traveling expenses necessarily incurred and actually paid in the discharge of their official duties including actual railroad mileage paid in traveling from their respective homes to the county seat and no warrants for any other claim shall be drawn in their favor out of the county treasury

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 411, as follows:

An Act to amend sections one thousand four and one thousand eight of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and eighty-two) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws"

HOUSE MESSAGES.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO ATTENDING INAUGURAL CEREMONIES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, Resolution of the Senate, as follows:

In the Senate, February 23, 1925.

Whereas, It is proper that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should be represented at the inauguration of Calvin Coolidge as President of the United States on March fourth, by those representatives chosen by the people who constitute the membership of the General Assembly; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Senators and Members of the House of Representatives, and the principal officers and employes of the General Assembly, and the legislative correspondents shall attend the said inaugural ceremonies as the representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That a committee of three members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and three Senators, to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, shall make all necessary arrangements for their transportation and entertainment, and that the expenses incident thereto be provided for by an item to be inserted in the General Appropriation Bill with the information that he House has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

The amendment was read as follows:

Amend lines 15 and 16 by striking out the following: "be provided for by an item to be inserted in the General Appropriation Bill", and inserting in lieu thereof, the following: "be defrayed by the individuals attending the said inauguration".

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the amendment?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate concur in the amendment made by the House of Representatives to the foregoing resolution.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO ATTENDANCE OF STATE OFFICIALS AT INAUGURATION CEREMONIES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 24, 1925.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should be fittingly represented at the ceremonies attendent upon the inauguration of Calvin Coolidge as President of the United States on March fourth at Washington, and

Whereas Any ostentatious display or large unrepresentative delegation from the Commonwealth would not be in conformity with the principles of economy emphasized by our President, and approved by the unprecedented vote of the people, and

Whereas, A delegation made up of the Executive heads of the Commonwealth, and a proper military escort would be more representative of the people, more in accord with the spirit of economy now so necessary to be adhered to, and sufficiently large to preserve the dignity of the Commonwealth, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall be represented at the said inaugural ceremonies by a delegation consisting of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, the Auditor General, the State Treasurer, the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the Secretary of the Department of Public Instruction, the Secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the following as a military escort: Adjutant-General Frank D. Beary, Major General William G. Price, Jr., Brigadier General John P. Wood, Brigadier General Churchill B. Mehard, Brigadier General Edward Martin, Brigadier General Edward C. Shannon, Colonel Robert M. Vail, Colonel John Aiken, Colonel Robert M. Brookfield, Colonel Charles B. Smathers, Colonel Eric F. Wood, Colonel William S. McLean, Jr., Colonel Jackson W. Study, Colonel William A. March, Colonel William R. Dunlap, Colonel Clarence J. Smith, Colonel Arthur C. Colahan, Colonel Edward J. Stackpole, Jr., Lieutenant Colonel Edward M. Iland, Colonel Jere M. Leaman, Colonel George E. Kemp, Colonel Fred Taylor Pusey, Colonel Maurice E. Finney, Colonel Walter C. Sterling, Major Leo A. Luttringer, Captain William L. Hicks, and three color sergeants, to be named by the Adjutant General; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives shall make all arrangements for inviting the above named persons and attending to their entertainment at and transportation to and from Washington on March fourth next, and that no other person or persons except those hereinbefore named shall attend the said inaugural ceremonies at the expense of the Commonwealth, and that the expense incident to the carrying out of this resolution shall not exceed the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000), to be provided for by an item to be inserted in the General Appropriation Bill.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I move that the resolution just read be referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 78, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws six hundred eighty-two) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-

insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" authorizing mutual fire insurance companies to insure public buildings and public property be recommitted to the Committee on Insurance.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, February 24, 1925.

The House met at 11.00 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Thomas Bluett) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Our gracious Heavenly Father, we thank Thee this beautiful morning, not only for the blessings which come to us day by day, but for life. We thank Thee that we are alive and that we can take part in the world's work; that we are interested not only in our fellow man, but in each other personally. Bless us each day and make the gladness and the sunshine of Thy peace abide in our hearts, even as Thy sunshine is shining upon the world at this hour. Bless the Speaker and the employees and the officers of this House, and all the members this day. We ask it in the name of our Father. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

RESOLUTION.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 4.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Concurrent Resolution No. 4, file folio 1279.

The Resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

Whereas It is proper that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should be represented at the inauguration of Calvin Coolidge as President of the United States on March fourth by those representatives chosen by the people who constitute the membership of the General Assembly therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Senators and Members of the House of Representatives and the principal officers and employes of the General Assembly and legislative correspondents shall attend the said inaugural ceremonies as the representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and be it further

Resolved That a committee of three members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and three Senators to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate shall make all necessary arrangements for their transportation and entertainment and that the expenses incident thereto be provided for by an item to be inserted in the General Appropriation Bill

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend the resolution, last two lines, by striking out the words "provided for by an item to be inserted in the General Appropriation Bill," and insert in lieu thereof "defrayed by the individuals attending said Inauguration."

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I ask at this time unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution, notwithstanding the amendment, rather than have it lie over for printing, as amended.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to consider the amendment at this time? The Chair hears no objection.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Delaware?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

The SPEAKER. Proceed, Mr. Ludlow.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact—first, I would like to state that I am in hearty accord with the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Delaware in case such a resolution is passed at all; but I should like to ask the gentleman from Delaware whether he has considered that we ought to adopt the resolution, even in the amended form. It means we are going to leave here when we are approaching the end of what we want to have as a short session. The President, by his own action desires the inaugural ceremonies to be very simple and of an economical nature from a national standpoint. I do not recall, when I was elected a year ago, having anybody say that I was elected for the purpose of representing my district at the inauguration of the President, and I am reliably informed that he will be inaugurated whether I am there or not.

Mr. HAWS. That is not an interrogation; that is a speech.

Mr. LUDLOW. I admit the informal point of order to my left. I ask the gentleman from Delaware that even with his very admirable amendment this House ought to adopt this resolution. I apologize for what has gone before, but I am glad I said it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my first thought last evening, when this resolution was presented, concurred exactly with my friend's from Montgomery. On second thought, however, I was not unmindful of the fact that the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, through its duly elected Representatives here, had a right, if they so desired, to attend the inaugural ceremony and, therefore, rather than to say that we should not attend and perhaps have the appearance to some people throughout the Commonwealth, and perhaps outside the Commonwealth, that it might be considered a slap at the great Calvin Coolidge, I thought it would be far better for us to pass it in this way.

Now, as far as the time is lost, we can adjourn here on Tuesday afternoon after the session; we can go down there early on Wednesday morning, and the inauguration ceremony, as I understand, is at noon, and we can come back the same day if we so desire. Wednesday is generally a short day at any rate, nothing more or less than first and second reading, and I think it may show respect to some extent, perhaps, to pass this resolution, especially with this amendment. It shows to the people that we are practicing economy as well as preaching it and that we are sports enough ourselves to go down and help in this great event and help inaugurate this grand man, and at the same time pay our own way. Therefore I think it is well that this resolution be passed in the form as proposed by the amendment.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, this will not be an interrogation with a speech in the guise of a question. If the amendment is put, just so we understand where we are, if the amendment of the gentleman from Delaware is put, I shall vote "aye" on the amendment. That will show that I am thoroughly in accord with his proposition, that if we do go, we pay our own way. When that is done and you put the question on the main resolution I think we ought to consider whether the resolution, having thus expressed our approval of Mr. Alexander's position,—which I heartily approve,—whether we ought not vote down the resolution and then on Wednesday morning let there be a calendar here of first and second reading bills. Nobody will call for a quorum. Let us go forward. If the Speaker wishes, as I understand he has already been invited in another capacity to go, let him designate a Speaker pro tem so that the House may have its first and second reading on Wednesday and let the other members who want to go to the inaugural ceremonies go if they please. I see no objection to that, but I would urge first, Mr. Speaker, that the amendment be supported, thus putting the House on record of the very admirable purpose of Mr. Alexander's amendment and that then the resolution be defeated and that the House meets next Wednesday. This is purely a personal suggestion; and I think the approval of Pennsylvania of the President has been shown by the vote cast for him and we do not need to show it by going down to Washington next Wednesday.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I feel that both the amendment and the resolution should have the unanimous approval of this House. Up to the present time we have consumed not more than probably one hour on Wednesday morning, and for the House to adjourn, as has been suggested, at the end of the Tuesday session, the time lost in not doing business here on Wednesday will not materially affect the progress of the work of the House. Much already has been said concerning the economies that we now preach and that we now should practice. It seems to me that the unanimous approval of the amendment, as well as of the resolution,—for it will cause no waste of time as I see it,—will distinctly express the mature judgment of this House. It seems to me that the citizenry of Pennsylvania should at once and for all,—and this seems to me to be the occasion that it might best be expressed,—should have confidentially brought home to them that so far as we are concerned, for the balance of this session we will adhere closely to economic tendencies. I ask, therefore, ladies and gentlemen, that you unanimously approve the amendment as well as the resolution itself.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I listened to my friend from Montgomery County with a great deal of attention, but I failed to just understand what he meant, and I would like to interrogate him.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LUDLOW. Absolutely, even to the extent of his making a speech, as I did, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Are you in favor of Pennsylvania officials going to Washington at public expense?

Mr. LUDLOW. I want to answer that—

Mr. SOWERS. Answer it "yes" or "no".

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I shall answer the gentleman from Philadelphia in this way: He is a good lawyer, and he knows that when a witness is asked a question he has a right to answer "yes" or "no," and follow with his qualifications. It is not always usual to answer "yes" or "no," but you recall the celebrated question asked of the witness, and he said, "I cannot answer 'yes' or 'no;' " and the lawyer said, "Why not?" He said, "Mr. Lawyer, let me ask you a question." He said, "Answer this 'yes' or 'no'; 'Is it true that you have stopped beating your wife?'" Now, you think about that, no matter how the lawyer answered it, you presume he was beating his wife. Now, in this particular case I say "Yes, the Governor of Pennsylvania, with the proper representatives, should go to Washington." I qualify that in this way: That the Governor should go at the expense of the State, if he wants to put it that way, but that there should go with him to the ceremony not more than a very limited staff and not any large group, in fact, unless, as proposed by the Alexander amendment and which I heartily approve, if it be so amended, unless they pay their own way. I find in the group a vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad. I find a gentleman like the Cardinal of the Catholic Diocese of the Eastern Pennsylvania, and I find other equally distinguished persons there who can go and be glad to go at their own expense. Answering the question of the gentleman from Philadelphia, the State of Pennsylvania should be represented by the Governor and by a very limited staff.

Mr. SOWERS. Now, may I ask the gentleman from Montgomery another question?

Mr. LUDLOW. Absolutely.

Mr. SOWERS. Do you not think, before we spend public money for this purpose, we should ask the President if he wants these people to attend his inauguration.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I can only answer the question of the gentleman from Philadelphia in this way: It is like asking a girl that you intend to propose marriage to, whether she will first entertain an offer before you make the proposition. It is very hard to draw the line.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution as amended?
It was adopted.

Mr. LUDLOW. Now, Mr. Speaker, as the votes in the negative were so scattering, I move to make the vote on the adoption of the resolution as amended unanimous.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.
The motion was agreed to.
Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

RESOLUTION.

DELEGATION TO ATTEND INAUGURATION.

Mr. ALEXANDER offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent to have it considered at this time:

In the House of Representatives, February 24, 1925.
Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should be fittingly represented at the ceremonies attendent upon the inauguration of Calvin Coolidge as President of the United States on March fourth at Washington, and
Whereas, Any ostentatious display or large unrepresentative delegation from the Commonwealth would not be in conformity with the principles of economy emphasized by our President, and approved by the unprecedented vote of the people, and
Whereas, A delegation made up of the Executive heads of the Commonwealth, and a proper military escort would be more representative of the people, more in accord with the spirit of economy now so necessary to be adhered to, and sufficiently large to preserve the dignity of the Commonwealth, therefore be it
Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall be represented at the said inaugural ceremonies by a delegation consisting of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, the Auditor General, the State Treasurer, the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the Secretary of the Department of Public Instruction, the Secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the following as a military escort: Adjutant-General Frank D. Beary, Major General William G. Price, Jr., Brigadier General John P. Wood, Brigadier General Churchill B. Mehard, Brigadier General Edward Martin, Brigadier General Edward C. Shannon, Colonel Robert M. Vail, Colonel John Aiken, Colonel Robert M. Brookfield, Colonel Charles B. Smathers, Colonel Eric F. Wood, Colonel William S. McLean, Jr., Colonel Jackson W. Study, Colonel William A. March, Colonel William R. Dunlap, Colonel Clarence J. Smith, Colonel Arthur C. Colahan, Colonel Edward J. Stackpole, Jr., Lieutenant Colonel Edward M. Iland, Colonel Jere M. Leaman, Colonel George E. Kemp, Colonel Fred Taylor Pusey, Colonel Maurice E. Finney, Colonel Walter C. Sterling, Major Leo A. Luttringer, Captain William L. Hicks, and three color sergeants, to be named by the Adjutant General; and be it further
Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives shall make all arrangements for inviting the above named persons and attending to their entertainment at and transportation to and from Washington on March fourth next, and that no other person or persons except those hereinbefore named shall attend the said inaugural ceremonies at the expense of the Commonwealth, and that the expense incident to the carrying out of this resolution shall not exceed the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000), to be provided for by an item to be inserted in the General Appropriation Bill.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I was glad to hear the gentleman from Montgomery speak on this resolution a little ahead of time, because it seems from his remarks on the last resolution that this is practically in line with his thought. It is not my intention to take away any glory or any pleasure from anyone, but I am not unmindful of the fact that this great Commonwealth which did so much to roll up the magificent majority for that grand man Calvin Coolidge should fittingly and properly attend the inaugural ceremonies on the fourth day of March, and that this is fittingly and properly in line is clearly demonstrated by the invitation that was sent out by Mr. Coolidge himself, in which he designates from fifty to one hundred people to represent the State. There are about fifty mentioned in this resolution. I think you will all agree with me, that they are representative. I am not unmindful also that this precludes from the program, as heretofore set out in the papers, of which I had no official knowledge except from the newspapers, a number of my personal friends, and persons for whom I have a great admiration, and persons who individually played a grand part in helping to elect Calvin Coolidge, but I have had the expression personally from some of those that they do not desire after the magnificent work which they did in helping to poll this vote, that they did not want the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to pay their expenses and their carfare down there. They are only too glad to pay that themselves and go down there and do what little they can to help honor this great President.

Therefore, I think this is in line with the economy which we are endeavoring here to practice and which we are telling the people throughout the Commonwealth that we are doing. I am glad to say, and I do thank the newspaper which last Sunday recognized the fact that all the members of this House were here doing their utmost, the best that they could see in order to carry out a program of economy and to give to the Commonwealth the best we have. That is my purpose at this time in presenting this resolution. I believe it is in line with true economy and at the same time we will do full honor to that great President Calvin Coolidge. I therefore, move the adoption of the resolution.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am heartily glad to second the resolution which has been offered by my friend from Delaware county, Mr. Alexander, and to express the hope that it will carry unanimously. It is a good sign for the entente cordialle when I find myself unable to object either to his whereases or the conclusions. Moreover, it is a sign of happy days ahead because unwittingly the gentleman from Delaware has brought himself into complete harmony with the policy of the Governor, and therefore, we may expect further happiness along the same line in the future. The Governor told me that when the inaugural committee first considered the question of the inauguration of the President, there was a desire that Pennsylvania should send down some of its military attachments and it was at that time when the budget was prepared last December that the item of ten thousand dollars was inserted. Later the inaugural committee at Washington changed its plan and instead requested the Governor to attend and to issue invitations to citizens. That, of course, meant that the item of ten thousand dollars was much in excess of what would be needed. Five thousand dollars as suggested by my friend from Delaware is ample under the circumstances. Now, personally, I am in complete harmony with both the gentleman from Delaware, the gentleman from Montgomery and my friend from Philadelphia. Here is a great celebration, the inauguration of the President of the United States, and may I say in passing that the President only as late as last Thursday in the message that he gave to the National Tax Association accepted the point of view of this General Assembly as expressed in the concurrent resolution adopted last week. We have a President who I think will be our leader in a great many lines of national progress. We want to honor the Governor, we want Pennsylvania to be represented, at the same time, we want to illustrate the fact that economy in our govermental matters is necessary. Now, this resolution of the gentleman from Delaware gives us an opportunity to do these things and personally I hope it will prevail by a unanimous vote.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILLS SIGNED BY SPEAKER.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 378, as follows:

An Act to amend sections three five and nine of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and twenty-four) entitled "An act preventing the manufacture sale or transportation within the Commonwealth of adulterated or misbranded Paris greens lead arsenates lime-sulphur compounds and other insecticides and fungicides and regulating traffic therein providing for inspection of such materials and imposing penalties" making it unnecessary for the Secretary of Agriculture to hear persons whose samples of insecticides and fungicides have been found to be adulterated or misbranded requiring persons manufacturing or importing insecticides or fungicides into this State to register the same with the Secretary of Agriculture making it unlawful to sell any insecticide or fungicide not registered and fixing a minimum fine for the violation of this act

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section three of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and twenty-four) entitled "An act preventing the manufacture sale or transportation within the Commonwealth of adulterated or misbranded Paris greens lead arsenates lime sulphur compounds and other insecticides and fungicides and regulating traffic therein providing for inspection of such materials and imposing penalties" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 3 That the Secretary of Agriculture shall promulgate uniform rules and regulations for enforcing this act including the collection and examination by existing bureaus of insecticides and fungicides manufactured or offered for sale in the Commonwealth for the purpose of determining whether such articles are adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of this act [and if it shall appear after such examination that any of such specimens are adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of this act the Secretary of Agriculture shall cause notice thereof to be given to the person from whom such sample was obtained Any person so notified shall be given an opportunity to be heard at a designated time and place and if it appears that any of the provisions of this act have been violated the Secretary of Agriculture shall cause the certification of such facts to the proper court with a copy of the results of the analysis or examination authenticated by the analyst or expert under oath Results of anaylsis or examinations of insecticides and fungicides may be published under the direction of the Secretary of Agriculture]

Section 2 That said act is hereby amended by adding thereto section 5 (a) which reads as follows

Section 5 (a) Every person manufacturing insecticides or fungicides in this Commonwealth and every person importing insecticides or fungicides into this State for the purpose of reselling the same on or before the first day of January of each year or before selling offering or exposing for sale such insecticides or fungicides shall register and file with the Secretary of Agriculture a certified statement of the names and number of each kind or brand of such insecticides or fungicides that he or they shall manufacture import or offer for sale during the next ensuing year and such additional information concerning the same as the Secretary of Agriculture may require and he or they shall pay to the Secretary of Agriculture the sum of five dollars ($5.00) for each kind or brand of such insecticide or fungicide so registered All moneys so received shall be immediately paid by the Secretary of Agriculture into the general fund of the State Treasury

The Secretary of Agriculture may refuse to register any kind or brand of insecticide or fungicide and he may revoke any registration which shall have been accepted when such kind or brand has been found to be adulterated misbranded or to have little or no value for the purpose for which it is intended to be used

It shall be unlawful for any person to sell offer or expose for sale any insecticide or fungicide that is not properly registered under the provisions of this section

Section 3 That section nine of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 9 Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this act or any rule or regulation of the Secretary of Agriculture promulgated under this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof be fined not [to exceed] less than twenty-five nor more than two hundred dollars for the first offense and upon conviction for each subsequent offense be fined not to exceed three hundred dollars or sentenced to imprisonment for not to exceed one year or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Haines permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HAINES. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the provisions of this amendment, it gives the Game Commissioners power to declare an open season on any kind of game at any time in the year they may desire or deem it advisable to do so. Is that correct?

Mr. HAINES. Yes, if it is a menace to property.

Mr. MARSHALL. The question to me is whether or not this is not giving the Game Commissioners a wide range of discretion. If we have a man who is honest and knows his business, it may be all right, but if we have a man in this position who desires to use it for selfish purposes, it seems to me that we are giving him a tremendous amount of power. I am not a sportsman myself to any extent, but we are all interested in the preservation of our wild life, and I merely raise the question to call it to the attention of the members of the House who are more interested in this matter than I.

Mr. HAINES. For the information of the gentleman from Beaver and the members of the House, I would say that a condition exists throughout the State in certain sections where game, principally deer, is becoming a serious menace to principally the orchardists in damage to their growing trees. This bill has been drawn as the result of a conference between the agricultural interests, principally the horticulturists, and the game association to attempt to meet that condition fairly to all. This is a conference bill decided upon as the result of that conference. They have both given up some things they, perhaps, would have liked to retain but in order to protect game, from the sportsman's view, they have vested the discretion as to whether or not it is advisable in a certain limited territory to remove game that may be damaging property in those sections. It seems to me that discretion has to be invested in someone, and as we have the present Game Commission in that position it appears quite right to me that the responsibility of so deciding should be vested in them.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 624, entitled:

An Act authorizing county treasurers registers of wills recorders of deeds clerks of the courts sheriffs and prothonotaries of counties of the fifth class to employ attorneys and fixing salaries of said attorneys payable from the county treasury

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of this bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Reader, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker I am not familiar with conditions in counties of the fifth class, but the question to me is as to the necessity of requiring all of these various officials each to employ separate counsel.

Mr. READER. Mr. Speaker, the county commissioners and controller, if you understand conditions in these counties, have an attorney who attends to their business. The others, the sheriff, prothonotary, and clerk of courts,—for any legal advice they have to have,—pay for it out of their own pockets. They are not overpaid, and they think they should have some compensation. They request that they be permitted to spend not over two hundred dollars a year for legal work in connection with their office.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, would it not be possible to work out a plan whereby they could all consult with the county attorney, which would result in the saving of that extra expense?

Mr. READER. Will the gentleman repeat his question?

Mr. EDMONDS. Would it not be possible for all these officials to take their advice from the county attorney.

Mr. READER. Well now it might be. Do you mean the county attorney?

Mr. EDMONDS. Yes.

Mr. READER. No, no, not at all.

Mr. EDMONDS. Why not? What would be the objection to that? For instance, in our city of Philadelphia, which is a first-class county, practically all of those officials have their own special solicitors but they accept advice from the county solicitor.

Mr. READER. But conditions are very different in the fifth-class counties.

Mr. EDMONDS. Of course, I am speaking about something of which I know very little, but I want to throw out that thought. We ought to be chary about placing additional expense on local government. Every time we add an official we are adding to the cost and, hence to taxation. Would it not be possible whereby, instead of having an attorney for each official, we might have one attorney which would save considerable expense. I suggest that merely because if there is any merit in my suggestion, I think the bill ought to be referred back to committee in order that a plan along that line might be worked out.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, the objection that counties of the fifth-class would have to having an attorney employed by all of these officials is that at various times questions arise wherein the interests of the sheriff and the interests of the prothonotary and the interests of the register of wills and the interests of the recorder are adverse to each other, and an attorney in such a question, if employed by all four offices, would be in an embarrassing position, and on account of the small salary provided in this bill, I think the bill should pass as it is.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, my friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds, has stated that the officials of Philadelphia all go practically to one lawyer for advice. I beg to differ with my friend. The county commissioners have Mr. Connor, for their attorney, the register of wills, Mr. Boyle, the sheriff's office, Mr. Roth, and so you could go on down with all the other offices and you will find a seperate attorney representing each office. The great difficulty with only one attorney representing all the offices is that an attorney cannot be the lawyer for two sides. The purpose of having separate attorneys is when the two sides are in conflict. Then the different attorneys advise and the court decides. In other words, the suggestion of the gentleman from Philadelphia is to have one lawyer ride eight or nine horses. Mr. Edmonds might do that, but I do not know of any other lawyer who can.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, this bill will affect the county which I have the honor of representing, and I want to say to you that so far we have been able to take care of this proposition without any additional expense to the taxpayers of the county. It was my pleasure a few years ago to serve as one of the county officials, clerk of courts, if you please, and I found very little need for legal advice in that position, and why should we come here today, because it is perfectly easy and simple for us to do this, and put this burden upon the people back home and say that the people back home shall pay this expense? I say to you that I believe that most of the officials in the fifth-class counties of the state of Pennsylvania are thoroughly able to take care of this matter themselves, and I would that I could convince you, my fellow associates here today, that if we want to economize we should be willing to begin right here because I believe that any clerk of courts, register of wills or controller in any county of the fifth class would be perfectly willing to pay this expense, and it looks to me like a job for the profession. I ought not to say this, as an old farmer, I ought not to make such a serious accusation as this but I do believe by voting this bill down, we will be taking care of the interests back home and by doing that it will be acceptable to the masses of the people of Pennsylvania. I, therefore, appeal to you to vote "no" on this bill which is before us at this time.

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I just want to say I have no interest in this bill whatever. I represent a sixth class county. But I do want to say for the information of the House, especially those who come from larger centers, and are not familiar with the duties of the county solicitor, that the county solicitor represents particularly the board of county commissioners. He is elected by the board of county commissioners and he represents the board of county commissioners and advises them so that it will not be feasible at the present time, taking the sixth class counties, and I take it the same thing would obtain in fifth class counties, it would not be feasible for the county solicitor to represent all the county officials. He represents the county commissioners, is elected by the county officials, and his salary is fixed by the county commissioners, so that it simply narrows down to this question: Is it necessary for these various county officials to employ an attorney? If so, shall they do it at their own expense or shall they do it at the expense of the county? That is about all there is to this bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is only on a question of information that I am arising at this time. I would like to find out, if possible, just how the members from fifth class counties stand on this bill. I am from a fourth class county where we already have attorneys just as provided for in this bill; and just as some of the members have said, it is very necessary, and especially for the sheriff. I say that for two reasons: I would hate to lose my job, because I am solicitor for the sheriff of Delaware County and have been for the last fifteen or eighteen years. I know how often I am called in by the sheriff; it is almost daily, on a question of service, on a question of whether they had the right to do certain things; for instance, in replevin, whether they have the right to break in, whether they have the right to do this or that; and almost daily, I might say, there is a question, as far as the sheriff office is concerned, whereby he needs somebody to advise him as to the legality of this or that proceeding. Now, of course, I am not being acquainted with the requirements of sixth cless counties, except probably our neighboring county of Chester, which the gentleman who has just spoken represents, and where I know he has been an official of that county for a good many years and knows to a certain extent what the requirements are. That is the reason I say, as coming from an outside county, I would like to hear at this discussion the sentiment of those members who come from fifth class counties. If the majority of those members representing fifth vlass counties want this bill then I think the House here should support it. If, however, the contrary is the result, then I think the House should help the majority. I am a great favorer of the majority, although many times I have been against them, but I still stick by the majority, and it seems to me at this time, while this discussion is on that it would be well if we would have the sentiment expressed here on the floor of this House by the members who come from fifth class counties.

Mr. BAGSHAW. Mr. Speaker and members, I come from a fifth class county, and I feel that it would be unjust to the taxpayers at home to sponsor this bill. We are getting along very nicely with the present scheme whereby the county solicitor takes care of all those various officers, and any legislation at this time looking toward the raising of taxation I am absolutely opposed to unless it is absolutely necessary; and this is a measure, to my mind, that is not necessary. I would ask those who are not familiar with conditions in fifth class counties to vote against this measure.

Mr. WELTY. Mr. Speaker, I am a representative from a fifth class county. At the present time the Supreme Court of this State has under consideration two appeals. In both of those appeals the county commissioners are the appellee; in the one appeal the recorder of deeds is the appellant in the other appeal the prothonotary is the appellant. I think this House can readily see how unfeasable, in a situation like this, it would be for the county solicitor to represent the prothonotary, the recorder of deeds and the county of Lehigh.

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. I represent a fifth class county. It has been the custom of the various officials designated in this bill to employ their own attorneys and not one of the officials has interviewed any of the members from York, to my knowledge, asking for support of this bill, seeming to indicate that they are satisfied with the present arrangement. I know one thing and that is that under the present conditions there is no dearth of attorneys and apparently there are sufficient candidates out at every election who are willing to serve their county under present conditions and employ their own attorney if they want one. There are other members of the House who seem to think that it would be a needless expense upon the taxpayers of fifth class counties, and I believe we are unanimous, as representatives of York County, in this matter.

Mr. CHRISTIAN MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following members: Messrs. Lafferty, Dilsheimer, Bromley, Witkin, Emhardt, Lucas, Burd P. Evans, Heffernan, Greenstein, Sowers, Canon, Myers, Staudenmeier, Sautter, Drinkhouse, Mrs. Pitts, and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question.

On the question,

Shall the main question now be put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Irvin,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 666, entitled:

An Act authorizing a State association of township commissioners and providing for the payment of the expenses thereof by the respective counties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Neely, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Allegheny if he will not give us some information why this bill should be passed, show what public service will be rendered by such an association to justify the additional expense that will be put upon the townships?

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, at the present time there is a State Association that includes supervisors of second class townships and the township commissioners of the first class. The interest of the second class townships and the first class townships is very different. Their form of government is different. This merely separates the State association. You did have a State association including both of these bodies. This gives you a separate association and nothing more.

Mr. EDMONDS. May I ask the sponsor further, do I understand it means no additional expense to the township, it merely provides for two associations where there is at present one.

Mr. NEELY. That is right.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 675, as follows:

An Act to amend sections one two and four of the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and eighty-nine) entitled "An act providing a method through which the Commonwealth may co-operate with individuals in building fences to protect farm crops and fruit orchards against damage from wild deer and making an appropriation"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and eighty-nine) entitled "An act providing a method through which the Commonwealth may cooperate with individuals in building fences to protect farm crops and fruit orchards against damage from wild deer and making an appropriation" be amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in sections of the Commonwealth where wild deer are present in excessive numbers and are injuring or destroying farm crops or fruit orchards in a material way the owners or lessees of the farms or fruit orchards where such damage is occurring may petition the Board of Game Commissioners for assistance in the erection of a deer-proof woven wire fence whereupon said board or its representatives shall investigate the conditions prevailing on the property of the petitioners and adjacent territory After investigation if deemed advisable the Board may enter into an agreement with the petitioners and such others in the vicinity similarly affected as in the opinion of the Board may [be deemed advisable] require like protection for the erection of a deer-proof woven wire fence of such height design and materials as the Board may specify to cost not to exceed twelve hundred dollars ($1,200) per mile under the conditions hereinafter set forth The provisions of this act shall not be construed to apply to gardens or truck patches except where produce is raised formarket

Section 2 Before the Board may enter into an agreement for the erection of a fence as hereinbefore provided the board shall decide the amount of continuous fence that may be necessary to prevent deer from committing serious damage on the lands of the petitioners or adjacent landowners or lessees at that time or subsequently and shall agree with the petitioners or said landowners or lessees as to the location of said fence and it shall be further agreed that fifty per centum of the entire cost of such fence shall be paid by the petitioners or adjacent landowners or lessees and fifty per centum by the Board of Game Commissioners out out the fund established under the provisions of Article XII of an act approved the twenty-fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and fifty-nine) known as the Game Fund After such agreement has been reached the petitioners and adjacent landowners or lessees decided upon by the Board shall give to the board a surety bond or an individual bond endorsed by two property owners in [double] the amount [of the pro rata share] of the entire estimated cost of such fence or shall deposit [the estimated cost in cash on the basis of fifty per centum of the cost of such fence to be paid by the petitioners or adjacent landowners and fifty per centum to be paid by the Board of Game Commissioners from funds hereinafter provided] with the Board cash to cover fifty per centum of the entire estimated cost of the completed fence Where more than one petitioner or landowner or lessee is involved the fifty per centum to be paid by [petitioners or adjacent landowners] them shall be prorated in proportion to the amount of fence required to protect each property against deer If any landowner or lessee shall refuse to participate in the cost of such fence but is willing to have the fence erected in the location agreed upon his share may be assumed by any other landowner or lessee individually or by a number of other interested persons jointly The cost of any special gates desired by landowners or lessees shall be borne entirely by the person desiring same

In lieu of the foregoing arrangement for the erection of deer-proof fences the Board of Game Commissioners may by proper agreement supply where conditions warrant the necessary fencing wire and staples for the erection of deer-proof fences with the understanding that the property owner or owners or lessees affected shall bear all other expenses in connection with the erection of said deer-proof fences In all cases the wire and staples so furnished shall remain the property of the Commonwealth until the fence is completed under specifications approved by the Board of Game Comissioners If the fence agreed upon is not completed within six months after delivery of the necessary wire fencing and staples or more material has been furnished than necessary the Board of Game Commissioners may remove and ship elsewhere for such use as they may see fit any unused wire or staples furnished under such agreement

All such fences after erection shall be maintained by the individuals interested and the Board of Game Commissioners shall bear no part of such future maintenance Replacement of fences when worn out shall be on the same basis as the erection of the original fence the board to decide when such fence shall be necessary

NAYS—2.

Harding,	Thomas, M. G.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 583, as follows:

An Act enabling cities of any one class and the cities of two or more classes uniting together for the same purpose to form and organize Leagues hold annual conventions for the study and consideration of such municipal affairs as concern and pertain to the cities comprising the League send delegates thereto and provide for the payment of the necessary costs and expenses of such Leagues conventions and the sending of the delegates thereto

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the cities of any one class in this Commonwealth and the cities of two or more classes uniting together for the same purpose may form and organize leagues of said cities and hold annual conventions for the study and consideration of such municipal affairs as concern and pertain to the cities comprising the league Each city member of a league shall have the right and power to send delegates thereto and to pay the necessary expenses incident to their attending said convention and to pay dues to the league and to provide a fund for the necessary costs and expenses of the league and league conventions and the work carried on by said league

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Haas, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HAAS. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MARSHALL. Does this bill provide for a combination of any class of cities in the organization of leagues, to hold state conventions?

Mr. HAAS. It does that, Mr. Marshall, but the actual purpose of the bill is to recognize the third class city league, the same as the borough association is now recognized. Under the present law the third class city league or the league of third class cities is not recognized, and therefore, if they sent their representatives to these conventions the city council has no authority to pay their expenses if they so desire.

Mr. MARSHALL. By that do you mean that they are not recognized or represented.

Mr. HAAS. They have no existing law whereby they have authority for their conventions.

Mr. MARSHALL. Do we not have a league of third class cities?

Mr. HAAS. Yes, but they are not officially recognized by the Legislature.

Mr. MARSHALL. Then would it not be the proper thing to provide for the organization of the third class city league instead of a combination of various classes of cities as we have in this bill?

Mr. HAAS. Well, this would provide for that purpose if they want to have a combined convention of all the classes.

Mr. MARSHALL. I thank you.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as I understand the wording of this act the first few lines are, "that the cities of any one class in this Commonwealth and the cities of two or more classes uniting together for the same purpose may form and organize leagues of said cities and hold annual conventions for the study," and so forth. If I understand this bill correctly it provides that the cities of the second class, the cities of the third class, or a combination or any combination of the first, second and third class, or a combination of the second and third can form leagues for the purpose of holding conventions. Personally I do not see any necessity for a combination of any cities or any boroughs holding a combined convention. We have gone on record here at various times and have passed laws providing for the organization of leagues for almost every class of municipality that exists in this Commonwealth. We have them for cities of the third class, we have them for counties, and we have them for townships. Just a few minutes ago we passed an act providing for the organization of a first class township league separate and distinct from the present township league, which included both. We have them for boroughs, we have them for school directors and for township supervisors. Yesterday we passed one providing for the organization of county leagues, state organization of health boards. I think we are running amuck on this organization of these various leagues. Every one of these bills we pass creating a new organization is putting additional expense on every municipality that is brought into that league. If there is any real necessity, or any municipal benefit derived for the citizens of those districts it is all right, but I cannot bring myself to the point of agreeing that there is any necessity whatever when we have instituted individual leagues then to step in and make combinations of those leagues as this bill undoubtedly does. For that reason I cannot agree with its provisions and would be compelled, from the standpoint of economy, to vote against this measure.

Mr. HAAS. This bill is simply an enabling act. Mr. Speaker. It does not compel cities to enter into it, and when it comes to a question of saving expenses to the taxpayer they are now sending all their representatives to the third class city league meetings and are paying for them when they have no authority to pay for them. This only provides in addition to that if first or second class cities come in for some purpose, to discuss things that are of benefit to the municipalities in general, they would have the right. It is a good bill and should absolutely be passed.

Mr. EDMONDS. I think in addition to what the gentleman from Beaver has so well said, there is another objection to the bill that might be mentioned. In one of the bills that was passed providing for a similar purpose provision was made for the payment of dues for the paying of the necessary expenses. We made a limit there, so it does at least seem to me that what was done there might be done in this bill.

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say one thing in reply to the sponsor of the bill. As I understand his statement, it is remedial. It is intended as a remedial measure to enable third class cities to have proper representation. The bill does not apply to third class cities, as I understand, it applies to a combination, any combination you may agree to make of any number of cities of different classes.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on February 10th, the Speaker of this House appointed a committee to inquire into the method of printing and the delivery of printed matter to this House. In order that delays that were then existing might be stopped. The Committee started its work by tracing the bills as they were introduced through the various channels of the House, down through the Journal rooms and down to the printer. While there were a number of places in that system where the committee noticed improvement might be affected, for the most part the system worked without delay and quite effectively. The Committee visited a number of departments of this Government whose duty it is to handle the printed matter either before or after it reached this desk, and made a number of suggestions. Those suggestions, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, have been already brought into affect. For example, the bills when they reach their final destination here are dispatched by motorcycle police to the printery so that no time is lost after the work is here completed in having the printed matter reach the printery. On the other hand arrangements have also been made for the delivery of the printed matter from the printery to the House. That work is being done now by a state motor truck. Already the committee recognizes that since its appointment the printed matter has reached the House in better time than it did before, so that the report that I make now, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, is merely a partial report. In order that the good work may be continued, it is the suggestion Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that this committee continue in service so that if in the future we find that the business of the House is being delayed through errors in the system here or in the printery, the committee can immediately come into operation and cure the condition.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the committee will be continued until it is ready to make its final report. The Chair, however, desires to thank the committee for the work it has been doing. The Chair knows that the committee has been working very hard and that it is a hard matter to fathom out and find a conclusion.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 267, as follows:

An Act authorizing corporations to issue stock to their employes and to employes of their subsidiaries at par value or at a price in excess of par value

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That any corporation organized or existing under any general or special law of this Commonwealth with the consent of the stockholders thereof having the right to vote at meetings of stockholders given in writing or given by a majority vote at the annual stockholders' meeting or at a stockholders' meeting specially called for the purpose may upon such terms and restrictions as they shall impose provide and carry out a plan for the issue at par value or at a price in excess of par value of any or all of its authorized but unissued stock to employes of the corporation or to employes of subsidiary corporations who may desire to subscribe therefor or to a Trustee on their behalf and for the payment of such stock in installments or at one time and for the establishment if provided for in any such consent of a special fund or funds in which employes purchasing stock pursuant to such plan and continuing in the ownership thereof and in the employment of the corporation during a definite period of time may be privileged to share upon such terms and conditions as may be imposed in respect thereof

Section 2 In case of the issuance to employes of such corporation or to employes of its subsidiaries of all or any part of the authorized but unissued stock of the corporation it shall and may be lawful for any such stockholder or stockholders who did not vote in favor of such issue of stock to employes within thirty days after the stockholders meeting at which the issue to employes of such capital stock or any part thereof was authorized to apply upon reasonable notice to the corporation by petition to any court of Common Pleas of the County in which the chief office of such corporation may be situate or to a Judge thereof in vacation if no such court sits during said period to appoint three disinterested persons to estimate and appraise the damages if any done to such stockholder or stockholders by such issuance of stock to employes Upon such petition it shall be the duty of said court or Judge to make such appointment and the award of the persons so appointed or a majority of them when confirmed by said court shall be final and conclusive and the persons so appointed shall also appraise the share or shares of said stockholder or stockholders in said corporation at the fair market value thereof without regard to any appreciation or depreciation in consequence of said issue of stock to employes which appraisement when confirmed by the court shall be final and conclusive and said corporation may at its election either pay to the said stockholder or stockholders the amount of damages so found and awarded if any or the value of the stock so ascertained and upon the payment of the value of the stock as aforesaid the said stockholder or stockholders shall thereupon transfer the stock so held by them to the said corporation to be disposed of by the Directors thereof or retained for the benefit of other stockholders and in case the value of said stock so appraised as aforesaid shall not be paid within thirty days after said award shall have been confirmed by the court the damages so found and confirmed shall be a judgment against said corporation and may be collected as other judgments in said court are by law recoverable

Section 3 All other Acts or parts of Acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 267, file folio 1299, be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of a hearing.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Madam Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Madam Speaker, as a member of the committee just appointed on behalf of the House to make arrangements for the trip to Washington on next Wednesday, I desire to call your attention to the fact that if the House and Senate are going it means a whole lot of work for this committee to arrange for transportation and for accommodations after we get down there. Therefore, in order that we might know the sentiment of the House as to how many are going, we would like each member to report to the Resident Clerk's Office and leave your name, indicating whether or not you desire to go on the trip. Now whether you are going or whether you are not going, we would like to have each member make that report and it should be done between now and 11:00 o'clock tomorrow morning. We would like every member of the House, whether going or not going, to leave your name with "yes" or "no" at the end of it so we will know positively how to make the arrangements. There is no use asking us any questions at the present time, because we havent gone far enough, and we will have to have the sentiment of the House and Senate to know how many are going.

The SPEAKER. The remarks will be spread upon the Journal.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. BREWSTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 382, file folio 1227, on page 9 of today's calendar, bills in final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,
The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. BREWSTER.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 382, entitled:

An Act authorizing departmental administrative boards and commissions under certain restrictrions to sell surplus products of the soil meats live stork timber or other materials raised or grown upon or taken from property of the Commonwealth administered by such boards or commissions and to expend the proceeds of such sales for the maintenance of the properties under their control

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Madam Speaker, I had asked the sponsor of this bill to delay it and keep it on the postponed calendar until I had a chance to make more investigation of it. I have not been able to see the Auditor General on the matter to get his opinion of it, although I have tried on two or three different occasions today. Now I was in hopes that it would remain on the postponed calendar until we could thresh it out. In the first place it is practically getting away from the old trend. It is giving these commissions and boards the power to dispose of property, as you will see, and to pay salaries with it. At the present time the Constitution of Pennsylvania provides that before these different monies may be spent, they must be appropriated by the Legislature. We appropriate to these different departments and different commissions certain sums of money. In addition to those sums, or rather as I take this bill, as I look at it at the present time, these departments and commissions expend these appropriations for certain things,—as it says here "surplus products of the soil, goods, live-stock, timber and other materials raised or grown upon or taken from the property of the Commonwealth," and, in addition to that, after purchasing whatever we may purchase for them, they turn around and sell them, and in addition to the appropriation we appropriate to them, they use that money for salaries and for the same things for which we have already made an appropriation. Now I think it would not have hurt to have permitted this bill to stay on the postponed calendar until a proper investigation could have been made. It may be that after we have made a careful investigation we may find that it is proper. At the present time, I do not agree with it, and my hope was, as I said before, that we could make a full investigation of it, because it certainly is out of line with the present method.

Mr. BREWSTER. Madam Speaker, I have no objection to the postponement of this bill, if it does not interfere with the standing of the bill. If I can be granted an extension of time, I have no objection, but as you will observe it is on the postponed calendar and the time has expired. If my friend from Delaware will make the motion, I have no objection to having it postponed.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Madam Speaker, if the gentleman will make such a motion I shall second it.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL.

Mr. BREWSTER. Madam Speaker, I move that an extension of five days time be granted on this bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Madam Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 721, (Senate Bill No. 202), file folio 279, on page 9 of to-day's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL.

Mr. VOLTZ. Mr. Speaker, I move that the time on House Bill No. 501 file folio 771 entitled on page 8 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed be extended five days.

An Act making it unlawful to give gratuitous fees or "tips"

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Mr. CRITCHFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 526, file folio 853, on page 9 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 526, entitled:

An Act authorizing local boards of health of cities of the third-class boroughs and first-class townships of the Commonwealth to organize county health associations providing for the representation of such county associations in a State Association to be formed by representatives from such county health asociations and providing for the payment of the expenses of county and State associations

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Clinton, Mr. Critchfield permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CRITCHFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. EDMONDS. This is another one of those expense meetings to be paid from the county treasury. I would like to ask what is the reason for it?

Mr. CRITCHFIELD. First let me correct your question, it is not paid out of the county treasury. The object of the bill is simply to organize health societies in the counties, the smaller counties and to stimulate interest in public health affairs. It includes only third-class cities, boroughs and first-class townships, and the expenses of the delegates will be paid out of such funds as are regularly appropriated by third-class cities, boroughs and first-class townships for their health work.

Mr. EDMONDS. May I not ask if the funds do not come from the county treasury in the first instance?

Mr. CRITCHFIELD. It is the money appropriated for health work, for this specific work, general health work.

Mr. EDMONDS. It is very hard to really understand whether there is a real public necessity for conventions of this kind in counties concerning which we do not know very much. Would you mind explaining the good that such a meeting would do?

Mr. CRITCHFIELD. In some of the smaller counties where there are no very active boards of health, in boroughs, and third-class cities and first-class townships, it is necessary to stimulate some interest in public health work. Frequently we find in these boroughs that the health boards do not meet at stated intervals, in fact only meet at very long intervals and are poorly attended. In some instances we do not find any active body at all; therefore, the health work in that particular district suffers. If we may by this means stimulate interest in public health in these boroughs and townships so that they may send delegates to some town in the county where they may gather around and discuss public health affairs, we hope they may take some interest in the health and welfare of their communities.

Mr. LORENZO D. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to remark that this is one of a series of bills that have to do with the same thing and have the sanction of the public health department.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 29, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the fifteenth day of March one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws twenty) entitled "An act regulating in criminal trials the cross-examination of a defendant when testifying in his own behalf" by prohibiting the introduction as evidence of certain testimony or records"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the fifteenth day of March one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws twenty) entitled "An act regulating in criminal trials the cross-examination of a defendant when testifying in his own behalf" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That hereafter any person charged with any crime and called as a witness in his own behalf shall not be asked for any purpose whatsoever (and if asked shall not be required to answer) any question tending to show that he has committed or been charged with or been convicted of any offense other than the one wherewith he shall then be charged or tending to show that he has been of bad character or reputation except as to his reputation for truth and veracity nor shall the Commonwealth be permitted to affirmatively introduce into evidence any such testimony or any record unless

One He shall have at such trial personally or by his advocate asked questions of the witness for the prosecution with a view to establish his own good reputation or character or has given evidence tending to prove his own good character or reputation or

Two He shall have testified at such trial against a co-defendant charged with the same offense

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, at the request of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Edmonds, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and considera tion of House Bill No. 435, entitled,

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the twenty-sixth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws three hundred six) entitled "An act requiring the display of the flag of the United States at entertainments public gatherings and public meetings" by requiring the display of the flag of the United States at the head of all public parades

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HARDING. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Patterson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FRED W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. HARDING. Will the gentleman explain the meaning of the phrase "public parade" as in this bill?

Mr. FRED W. PATTERSON. I did not quite catch the gentleman's question.

Mr. HARDING. With reference to the term "public parade," what is the exact meaning of the bill?

Mr. FRED W. PATTERSON. A parade composed of the citizens of any community, a public gathering.

Mr. HARDING. Mr. Speaker, may I further interrogate the gentleman?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. FRED W. PATTERSON. Yes, sir; certainly.

Mr. HARDING. Does this phrase "public parade" apply as well to funerals as to parades?

Mr. FRED W. PATTERSON. Yes, sir, as a rule.

Mr. HARDING. Then I understand from that, that in each funeral procession the undertaker, as the language of the bill reads, must have a flag at the head of the procession.

Mr. FRED W. PATTERSON. Not necessarily.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 687, as follows:

An Act authorizing any city of the third class to acquire by purchase all the facilities improvements and franchises of any water corporation operating partly within and partly without the limits of the said city and having obtained the same to supply water to persons corporations and municipalities both within the limits of the city and the territory before served by the water corporation without the city requiring that before so doing the approval of the Public Service Commission be had of the action of the selling company and of the municipal purchase and of the rendering of this service by the Municipality and regulating the procedure for obtaining this approval permitting the city to classify the service outside of the city as different from the service within the city as to rates and otherwise and subjecting the service by the city beyond its limits to the same regulation and control by the Public Service Commission as to rates service and otherwise as though in the territory thus served beyond the limits of the city the serving was by a water corporation and providing that higher rates or different regulations for the district outside of the city limits shall not be held to be unjustly discriminatory for the sole reason that they are different from those in force in the city

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That any city of the third class owning operating or controlling a system of water works for the supplying of water to persons partnerships and corporations residing therein and for fire protection whether the title to the said water works be in the name of commissioners of water works or in the city itself or otherwise shall have the right and it is hereby authorized and empowered to acquire all the water works including water pipes mains service attachments fire hydrants and improvements of any water corporation or private individual operating partly within and partly without the limits of the said city both so much as is included within the limits of the said city and so much as is without the limits of the said city serving the territory adjacent thereto and to acquire and exercise all of the franchises and powers of said prior owner both within and without the city limits No such municipal acquisition shall be valid until upon application filed by the city and formally joined in by the proposed vendor Water Company the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall have found and determined after public hearing that the granting of such application and the service contemplated by the city is necessary or proper for the service accommodation and convenience of the public In any such proceeding the entire matter shall be before the Commission and no further specific approvals of the said Commission which might otherwise be required shall be necessary

Section 2 That the service of any such city of the third class in the territory outside of the limits of the city acting hereunder shall be subject to regulation and control by the Public Service Commission as to character of service extensions and rates with the same force and in like manner as though the city serving in such teritory were in fact a water corporation and with respect to such territory outside of the limits of the city shall have all the powers and be subject to all the duties of a water corporation

Section 3 Inasmuch as the city may be serving its inhabitants at less than the actual cost of service including capital charges and depreciation because the plant may have been or may be built and operated in part out of the funds raised by municipal taxation no rate classification rule regulation or practice put in operation by the city in the portion of its territory supplied located beyond the city limits shall be considered as unjustly discriminatory solely by reason of the fact that a different rate classification rule regulation or practice is in operation within the boundaries of the municipality with respect to a similar service rendered

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STORB. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hall, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HALL. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STORB. What is the object of this bill?

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentleman of the House, this is a bill which according to the title and the various sections applies to third class cities, but I believe there is only one instance in the state at the present time to which it does apply and that is the city which I represent, the City of Harrisburg. Lately a certain ward has been taken into this municipality, a water company outside of the municipality is now serving that ward of the city and it is the purpose of this act to permit the City Commissioners to take over that water company so that the citizens of Harrisburg may all have an even rate for their water. That is the purpose of this bill. I dont know when an occasion might arise when it will fit any other third class city. It is an enabling act to help Harrisburg out of its difficulty.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal

Session 1925 — 126th of the General Assembly

Vol. 8. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1925. No. 17.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, February 25th, 1925.

The Senate met at 10.30 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) in the Chair.

The Acting Chaplain Rev. Robert Bagnell, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, unto whom all hearts are open and all desires known, and from whom no secrets are hid, cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of Thy Holy Spirit, that we may perfectly love Thee and worthily magnify Thy Holy Name, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Grant that we shall live this day in Thy presence. Grant that we shall meet its responsibilities as men, in Thy sight; and grant us Thy wisdom and Thy Grace to perform our part. For Christ's sake, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. JOYCE, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I would like to explain to the gentlemen of the Senate that this bill in no way lets down the bars in the matter of pure food in the State of Pennsylvania. The purpose is to clarify the existing law and make it possible for hospitals and physicians to prescribe food sweetened with saccharine, for diabetics and other persons having to do without sugar. The bill would give this right only to physicians and hospitals. I would be the last person, or among the last, to recommend a bill that would let down the bars; and I want to clear up any question that may arise in regard to it, by stating that this bill is not for the purpose of letting down the bars. It does not do that; it merely clarifies the existing law.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

"Goods" means all chattels personal other than things in action and money and includes emblements industrial growing crops and things attached to or forming a part of land which are agreed to be severed before sale or under the conditioned sale

"Performance of the Condition" means the occurrence of the event upon which the property in the goods is to vest in the buyer whether such event is the performance of an act by the buyer or the happening of a contingency

"Person" includes an individual partnership corporation and any other association

"Purchase" includes mortgage and pledge

"Purchaser" includes mortgagee and pledgee

"Seller" means the person who sells or leases the goods covered by the conditional sale or any legal successor in interest of such person

Section 2 Primary Rights of Buyer The buyer shall have the right when not in default to retain possession of the goods and he shall also have the right to acquire the property in the goods on the performance of the conditions of the contract The seller shall be liable to the buyer for the breach of all promises and warranties express or implied made in the conditional sale contract whether or not the property in the goods has passed to the buyer

Section 3 Primary Rights of Seller The buyer shall be liable to the seller for the purchase price or for installments thereof as the same shall become due and for breach of all promises made by him in the conditional sale contract whether or not the property in the goods has passed to the buyer

Section 4 Conditional Sales Valid Except as Otherwise Provided Every provision in a conditional sale reserving property in the seller after possession of the goods is delivered to the buyer shall be valid as to all persons except as hereinafter otherwise provided

Section 5 Conditional Sales Void as to Certain Persons Every provision in a conditional sale reserving property in the seller shall be void as to any purchaser from or creditor of the buyer who without notice of such provision purchases the goods or acquires by attachment or levy a lien upon them before the contract or a copy thereof shall be filed as hereinafter provided unless such contract or copy is so filed within ten days after the making of the conditional sale

Section 6 Place of Filing The conditional sale contract or copy shall be filed in the office of the prothonotary in the county in which the goods are first kept for use by the buyer after the sale It shall not be necessary to the validity of such conditional sale contract or in order to entitle it to be filed that it be acknowledged or attested This section shall not apply to the contracts described in section eight

Section 7 Fixtures If the goods are so affixed to realty at the time of a conditional sale or subsequently as to become a part thereof and not to be severable wholly or in any portion without material injury to the freehold the reservation of property as to any portion not so severable shall be void after the goods are so affixed as against person who has not expressly assented to the reservation If the goods are so affixed to realty at the time of a conditional sale or subsequently as to become part thereof but to be severable without material injury to the freehold the reservation of property shall be void after the goods are so affixed as against subsequent purchasers of the realty for value and without notice of the conditional seller's title unless the conditional sale contract or a copy thereof together with a statement signed by the seller briefly describing the realty and stating that the goods are or are to be affixed thereto shall be filed before such purchase in the office where a deed of the realty would be recorded or registered to affect such realty As against the owner of realty the reservatoin of the property in goods by a conditional seller shall be void when such goods are to be so affixed to the realty as to become part thereof but to be severable without material injury to the freehold unless the conditional sale contract or a copy thereof together with a statement signed by the seller briefly describing the realty and stating that the goods are to be affixed thereto shall be filed before they are affixed in the office where a deed would be recorded or registred to affect such realty

Section 8 Railroad Equipment or Rolling Stock No conditional sale of railroad or street or interurban railway equipment or rolling stock shall be valid as against the purchasers and creditors described in section five unless the contract shall be acknowledged by the buyer or attested in like manner as a deed of real property and the contract or a copy thereof shall be filed or recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county wherein the same is located and unless when any engine or car so sold is delivered there shall then be plainly and conspicuously marked upon each side thereof the name of the seller followed by the word "owner"

Section 9 Conditional Sale of Goods for Resale When goods are delivered under a conditional sale contract and the seller expressly or impliedly consents that the buyer may resell them prior to performance of the condition the reservation of property shall be void against purchasers from the buyer for value in the ordinary course of business and as to them the buyer shall be deemed the owner of the goods even though the contract or a copy thereof shall be filed according to the provisions of this act

Section 10 Filing The filing officer shall mark upon the contract or copy filed with him the day and hour of filing and shall file the contract or copy in his office for public inspection He shall keep a separate book in which he shall enter the names of the seller and buyer the date of the contract the day and hour of filing a brief description of goods the price named in the contract and the date of cancellation thereof except that in entering the contracts mentioned in section eight the recorder of deeds shall record either the sum remaining to be paid upon the contract or the price of the goods Such book shall be indexed under the name of both seller and buyer For filing and entering such contract or copy the filing officer shall be entitled to a fee of fifty cents except that for filing and entering a contract described in section eight the recorder of deeds shall be entitled to the same fee as he is now allowed by law for similar services

Section 11 Refiling The filing of conditional sale contracts provided for in sections five six and seven shall be valid for a period of three years only The filing of the contract provided for by section eight shall be valid for a period of fifteen years only The validity of the filing may in each case be extended for successive additional periods of one year from the date of refiling by filing in the proper filing district a copy of the original contract within thirty days next preceding the expiration of each period with a statement attached signed by the seller showing that the contract is in force and the amount remaining to be paid thereon Such copy with statement attached be filed and entered in the same manner as a contract or copy filed and entered for the first time and the filing office shall be entitled to a like fee as upon the original filing

Section 12 Cancellation of Contract After the performance of the condition upon written demand delivered personally or by registered mail by the buyer or any other person having an interest in the goods the seller shall execute acknowledge and deliver to the demandant a statement that the condition in the contract has been performed If for ten days after such demand the seller fails to mail or deliver such a statement of satisfaction he shall forfeit to the demandant five dollars and be liable for all damages suffered Upon presentation of such statement of satisfaction the filing officer shall file the same and note the cancellation of the contract and the date thereof on the margin of the page where the contract has been entered For filing and entering the statement of satisfaction the filing officer shall be entitled to a fee of thirty cents except that the recorder of deeds shall be entitled to a fee of fifty cents for filing and entering a statement of the satisfaction of a contract described in section eight

Section 13 Prohibition of Removal or Sale Without Notice Unless the contract otherwise provides the buyer may without the consent of the seller remove the goods from any filing district and sell mortgage or otherwise dispose of his interest in them but prior to the performance of the condition no such buyer shall remove the goods from a filing district in which the contract or a copy thereof is filed except for temporary uses for a period of not more than thirty days unless the buyer not less than ten days before such removal shall give the seller personally or by registered mail written notice of the place to which the goods are to be removed and the approximate time of such intended removal nor prior to the performance of the condition shall the buyer sell mortgage or otherwise dispose of his interest in the goods unless he or the person to whom he is about to sell mortgage or otherwise dispose of the same shall notify the seller in writing personally or by registered mail of the name and address of the person to whom his interest in the goods is about to be sold mortgaged or otherwise transferred not less than ten days before such sale mortgage or other disposal If any buyer does so remove the goods or does so sell mortgage or otherwise dispose of his interest in them without such notice or in violation of the contract the seller may retake possession of the goods and deal with them as in case of default in payment of part or all of the purchase price The provisions of this section regarding the removal of goods shall not apply however to the goods described in section eight

Section 14 Refiling on Removal When prior to the performance of the condition the goods are removed by the buyer from a filing district in this State to another filing district in this State in which such contract or a copy thereof is not filed or are removed from another State into a filing district in this State where such contract or copy is not filed the reservation of the property in the seller shall be void as to the purchasers and creditors described in section five unless the conditional sale contract or a copy thereof shall be filed in the filing district to which the goods are removed within ten days after the seller has received notice of the filing district to which the goods have been removed The provisions of this section shall not apply however to the goods described in section eight The provisions of section eleven regarding the duration of the validity of the filing and the necessity for refiling shall apply to contracts or copies which are filed in a filing district other than where the goods are originally kept for use by the buyer after the sale

Section 15 Fraudulent Injury Concealment Removal or Sale When prior to the performance of the condition the buyer maliciously or with intent to defraud shall injure destroy or conceal the goods or remove them to a filing district where the contract or a copy thereof is not filed without having given the notice required by section thirteen or shall sell mortgage or otherwise dispose of such goods under claim of full ownership he shall be guilty of a crime and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the county jail for not more than one year or be fined not more than five hundred dollars or both

Section 16 Retaking Possession When the buyer shall be in default in the payment of any sum due under the contract or in the performance of any other condition which the contract requires him to perform in order to obtain the property in the goods or in the performance of any promise the breach of which is by the contract expressly made a ground for the retaking of the goods the seller may retake possession thereof Unless the goods can be retaken without breach of the peace they shall be retaken by legal process but nothing herein shall be construed to authorize a violation of the criminal law

Section 17 Notice of Intention to Retake Not more than forty nor less than twenty days prior to the retaking the seller if he so desires may serve upon the buyer personally or by registered mail a notice of intention to retake the goods on account of the buyer's default The notice shall state the default and the period at the end of which the goods will be retaken and shall briefly and clearly state what the buyer's rights under this act will be in case they are retaken If the notice is so served and the buyer does not perform the obligations in which he has made default before the day set for retaking the seller may retake the goods and hold them subject to the provisions of sections nineteen twenty twenty-one twenty-two and twenty-three regarding the sale but without any right of redemption

Section 18 Redemption If the seller does not give the notice of intention to retake described in section seventeen he shall retain the goods for ten days after the retaking within the State in which they were located when retaken during which period the buyer upon payment or tender of the amount due under the contract at the time of retaking and interest or upon performance or tender of performance of such other condition as may be named in the contract as precedent to the passage of the property in the goods or upon performance or tender of performance of any other promise for the breach of which the goods were retaken and upon payment of the expenses of retaking keeping and storage may redeem the goods and become entitled to take possession of them and to continue in the performance of the contract as if no default had occurred Upon written demand delivered personally or by registered mail by the buyer the seller shall furnish to the buyer a written statement of the sum due under the contract and the expense of retaking keeping and storage For failure to furnish such statement within a reasonable time after demand the seller shall forfeit to the buyer ten dollars and also be liable to him for all damages suffered because of such failure If the goods are perishable so that retention for ten days as herein prescribed would result in their destruction or substantial injury the provisions of this section shall not apply and the seller may resell the goods immediately upon their retaking The provision of this section requiring the retention of the goods within the State during the period allowed for redemption shall not apply to the goods described in section eight

Section 19 Compulsory Resale by Seller If the buyer does not redeem the goods within ten days after the seller has retaken possession and the buyer has paid at least fifty per cent of the purchase price at the time of the retaking the seller shall sell them at public auction in the State where they were at the time of the retaking such sale to be held not more than thirty days after the retaking The seller shall give to the buyer not less than ten days' written notice of the sale either personally or by registered mail directed to the buyer at his last known place of business or residence The seller shall also give notice of the sale by at least three notices posted in different public places within the filing district where the goods are to be sold at least five days before the sale If at the time of the retaking five hundred dollars or more has been paid on the purchase price the seller shall also give notice of the sale at least five days before the sale by publication in a newspaper published or having a general circulation within the filing district where the goods are to be sold The seller may bid for the goods at the resale If the goods are of the kind described in section eight the parties may fix in the conditional sale contract the place where the goods shall be resold

Section 20 Resale At Option of Parties If the buyer has not paid at least fifty per cent of the purchase at the time of the retaking the seller shall not be under a duty to resell the goods as prescribed in section nineteen unless the buyer serves upon the seller within ten days after the retaking a written notice demanding a resale delivered personally or by registered mail If such notice is served the resale shall take within thirty days after the service in the manner at the place and upon the notice prescribed in section nineteen The seller may voluntarily resell the goods for account of the buyer on compliance with the same requirements

Section 21 Proceeds of Resale The proceeds of the resale shall be applied (One) To the payment of the expenses thereof (Two) to the payment of the expenses of retaking keeping and storing the goods (Three) to the satisfaction of the balance due under the contract Any sum remaining after the satisfaction of such claims shall be paid to the buyer

Section 22 Deficiency on Resale. If the proceeds of the resale are not sufficient to defray the expenses thereof and also the expenses of the retaking keeping and storing the goods and the balance due upon the purchase price the seller may recover the deficiency from the buyer or from any one who has succeeded to the obligations of the buyer

Section 23 Rights of Parties Where There is No Resale Where there is no resale the seller may retain the goods as his own property without obligation to account to the buyer except as provided in section twenty-five and the buyer shall be discharged of all obligation

Section 24 Election Of Remedies After the retaking of possession as provided in section sixteen the buyer shall be liable for the price only after a resale and only to the extent provided in section twenty-two Neither the bringing of an action by the seller for the recovery of the whole or any part of the price nor the recovery of judgment in such action nor the collection of a portion of the price shall be deemed inconsistent with a later retaking of the goods as provided in section sixteen But such right of retaking shall not be exercised by the seller after he has collected the entire price or after he has claimed a lien upon the goods or attached them or levied upon them as the goods of the buyer

Section 25 Recovery of Part Payments If the seller fails to comply with the provisions of sections eighteen nineteen twenty twenty-one and twenty-three after retaking the goods the buyer may recover from the seller his actual damages if any and in no event less than one-fourth of the sum of all payments which have been made under the contract with interest

Section 26 Waiver of Statutory Protection No act or agreement of the buyer before or at the time of the making of the contract nor any agreement or statement by the buyer in such contract shall constitute a valid waiver of the provisions of sections eighteen nineteen twenty twenty-one and twenty-five except that the contract may stipulate that on such default of the buyer as is provided for in section sixteen the seller may rescind the conditional sale either as to all the goods or as to any part thereof for which a specific price was fixed in the contract If the contract thus provides for rescission the seller at his option may retake such goods without complying with or being bound by the provisions of sections seventeen to twenty-five inclusive as to the goods retaken upon crediting the buyer with the full purchase price of those goods So much of this credit as is necessary to cancel any indebtedness of the buyer to the seller shall be so applied and the seller shall repay to the buyer on demand any surplus not so required

Section 27 Loss and Increase After the delivery of the goods to the buyer and prior to the retaking of them by the seller the risk of injury and loss shall rest upon the buyer The increase of the goods shall be subject to the same conditions as the original goods

Section 28 Act Prospective Only This act shall not apply to conditional sales made prior to the time when it takes effect

Section 29 Rules For Cases Not Provided For In any case not provided for in this act the rules of law and equity including the law merchant and in particular those relating to principal and agent and to the effect of fraud misrepresentation duress or coercion mistake bankruptcy or other invalidating cause shall continue to apply to conditional sales

Section 30 Uniformity of Interpretation This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those States which enact it

Section 31 Short Title This act may be cited as the Uniform Conditional Sales Act

Section 32 Inconsistent Laws Repealed Except so far as they are applicable to conditional sales made prior to the time when this act takes effect the following act shall be and is hereby repealed to wit

The act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred sixty-six) entitled "An act defining conditional sales and regulating the recording and effect thereof and providing penalties"

Mr. BLAIR asked and obtained leave of absence for himself for balance of week after 11:15 A. M.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Alexander, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, yesterday I requested the members of the House on behalf of the committee on arrangements to go to Washington to report to the Resident Clerk's office, stating whether or not they intended to go to Washington. You can readily see that if this committee is going to make arrangements they must do so at once; they connot do so until they know what the House intends to do. There were just thirty people out of two hundred and eight members reported to the Resident Clerk's office. Now I would like to ask unanimous consent of the members of the House to have a roll call and have each member answer "Yes" or "No" so that the committee will know exactly what each one will do. "Yes" means you are going, "No" means you are going to stay at home and save your money. Now I think we ought to have a good representation of this House and I would like to see just as many as possible say they are going and that the House may be propertly represented on this occasion. This resolution has been passed and passed unanimously by the House and I would like to see every member of the House say "Yes". I would like to have unanimous consent to have that roll call.

The SPEAKER. Is there any objection to a roll call on this question? The Chair hears no objection. The Clerk will call the roll.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like the Speaker to announce the vote. This is what I want: Somebody may have misunderstood me. "Yes" means to go, "No" means not to go.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware paid me a complement in saying that I may be able to express the question more plainly to you than he. As I understand his question, it is: That if you vote "Yes" you are going to Washington with the Legislature; if you vote "No" you are going to stay home or at Harrisburg or some other place.

Mr. WILLIAMS. I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware if it is the thought to leave here in the morning and return in the evening of the same day?

Mr. ALEXANDER. That is our thought, that is the thought at the present time. I have called up the passenger agent at Harrisburg. I expect him here in a short time so that we may learn what arrangements in that respect we can make.

Mr. BREWSTER. Mr. Speaker, the question has been asked me, which I cannot answer: Whether or not we are allowed to take with us our respective wives or sweethearts?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that, I would say that I would leave that up to the respective wives and sweethearts.

The SPEAKER. Now, do you all understand the question? "Yes" means to go, "No" means to stay at home.

Mr. HUBER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask, how about the ex-members who would like to go down on this junket and pay their own way?

Mr. ALEXANDER. I do not know why we cannot enlarge that party. I do not see either one of the other members of the committee in the House so I may consult with them, but I can see no reason, provided we know at once who wants to go, otherwise we cannot arrange for either the wives or sweethearts or the ex-members.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will call the roll.

The roll was then called for the information of the committee.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I for one, never object to proper criticism, in fact, proper criticism is a good thing. I do not think there is any member in this House who objects to proper and fair criticism. We all recognize the fact, however, that the newspapers, by an improper criticism, can do public officials a vast amount of harm, perhaps unintentionally, as I think in this instance it is unintentional. At the same time I think that those newspapers who have the privilege of this House should report the proceedings properly and if they are reported properly then there could be no criticism as to the outcome.

I hold in my hand this morning one of the Harrisburg papers, "The Patriot." In its editorial, mind you, which makes the sting that much harder, there is this article:

THE PUBLIC PAYS THE PIPER

It requires a lot of "crust" for any public official to spend the taxpayers' money in having a good time. But the "crust" requirements are met in the action of the Legislature in appropriating money from the State Treasury for an inaugural junket to Washington March 4.

With taxes in Pennsylvania higher than ever, amid the clamor for more money for hospitals and other charitable institutions, with greater need for public highways than there is money to meet, with Capitol Park extension languishing for lack of money, with business sluggish and many men out of work the Legislature thinks nothing of using the public money for a revel and a good time.

The action cannot be justified on the ground that the great banner Republican State of Pennsylvania must be represented at Washington. The Governor and a hundred other more or less prominent Pennsylvanians will perform that function at a cost of $10,000. The only excuse for the Legislature's trip is to have a good time at public expense.

No taxpayer begrudges the presence of the legislators at the inaugural ceremonies, but if they want to make that trip, let them pay their own expenses. It will be interesting to see how many Representatives and Senators will accept this form of cheap statesmanship."

Now, as we all know, the Legislature did not vote to go to Washington at the expense of the State and nobody ought to know that better than this paper, and therefore it is unfair to the members of this House, and I rise this morning in the defense of the members of this House and I object to this kind of criticism. When this House unanimously, as everybody knows, voted down the resolution to go to Washington at the expense of the State and just as unanimously voted to go at their own expense, it seems to me that this newspaper should have given us at least that credit, at least not have condemned us for something we did not do.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that my colleague, Mr. Alexander, needs to worry much about it. The Pittsburgh papers have taken good care of this proposition and from an editorial appearing in this morning's Pittsburgh Post, I read the following:

HOUSE SAVES DIGNITY OF LEGISLATURE.

The freakish measures that appear in a session of the Legislature are commonly supposed to arise chiefly in the lower branch. One of the worst to get through a branch of the Pennsylvania Legislature at this session, however, is chargeable to the socalled august Senate. Although there has been a great deal of experience with Presidential inaugurations in this country, with questions of appropriate representation for the states threshed out repeatedly, the Pennsylvania Senate on this occasion appeared to act like a boy approaching his first circus. The closer it drew to the date of the inauguration the wilder the Senate became over it. Finally it made a frenzied dash by adopting a resolution to have the state pay not only the expenses of its chief public officers on a trip to Washington for the ceremonies, but also those of the entire membership of the Legislature and the Legislative Correspondents' Association.

Then the House figuratively dashed some cold water into the face of the Senate and set about to rescue the dignity of the Assembly. When it got through, the usual provision had been made for having the state represented at the inaugural by its principal officers, including, of course, the president pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House. Let it be hoped that the "august" State Senate will not often take such funny spells.

Now, it was for Pittsburgh to come to the rescue.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentlemen on the questions of personal privilege will be entered upon the Journal.

BILLS SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER.

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Mr. GOODNOUGH. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Cameron what the purpose of this bill is.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill is very short and must be self explanatory. If an employee of the State has been in the service of the State for one year or longer, as I recall it,—I do not have the file before me now.

Mr. ALEXANDER. File 1257.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. If the employee has been with the State for more than one year and is ordered by the head of his department to remove from one county to another and at a distance of twenty-five miles, the usual expenses of such moving shall be borne by his department, or in other words, paid by the State.

Mr. ALEXANDER. In other words, if an employee of the highway department was working for some time, we will say, in Delaware County, and they changed him from there up into Erie County, the State would pay his moving expenses.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. In the event he had been employed by the State for one year or longer.

Mr. ALEXANDER. One year is not very long for an employment. On the other hand if a state police were moved from one part of the State to another having been in the employ for a year, they might be moved every month under this act of Assembly they could pay the expenses of moving the State Police.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. My understanding would be that this would apply only in the event that the domicile of the employee was changed, and would not apply to a State policeman.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this may be in line with strict economy. The word, "economy" as practiced in some lines, and my understanding of "economy" has been very twisted in the last few years and I have come to the conclusion "economy" means spend all you can get. If you don't spend more than you can get why you are economical. That seems to be the term. I don't know of any other place where an employee is changed from one county to another that they pay that employee's moving expenses. From my experience, and I dare say that the members of this House have had the same experience, on your list at home you have a roll of maybe anywhere from ten to fifty. I think I have about fifty, very excellent men, men who will do just as good service as some of the men who are at present employed, at least some I have seen working on the highways in our county every day, and are very anxious to be employed. There is no doubt in my mind that they would not put in their contract or proposition that they must be moved if they happen to be changed from one place to another. I don't think that this meets with my specifications of economy, and therefore, not meeting with those specifications, I certainly will have to vote against it, and I think this House, which is endeavoring to raise all the money it possibly can at the present time should do likewise. It seems to me that this bill is not a proper bill.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, I am happy this morning to be able to agree with my friend from Delaware County, Mr. Alexander. I am ready to state to you, sir, and to this House, that I believe if the job is not worth the fellow's paying his own expenses he should jack the job and let the department employ somebody else.

Mr. MILLAR. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Goodnough, permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Goodnough, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOODNOUGH. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MILLAR. Mr. Goodnough, if the distance that an employee moved from one county to another was, we will say, one mile, would he be paid for that moving?

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Not less than twenty-five miles, as is provided by the bill.

Mr. MILLAR. Is not that qualification confined only within a county?

Mr. GOODNOUGH. I think so, yes. It must be from one county to another and a distance of not less than twenty-five miles.

Mr. MILLAR. Would this qualification on the distance apply to moving from one county to another or only to a moving within a county.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. My understanding, Mr. Speaker, is that it applies to both, that the change must be from one county to another and also a distance of twenty-five miles or more. If, however, there is any ambiguity in this part of the bill I should be glad to have the bill re-referred to committee for amendment, or placed upon the postponed calendar.

Mr. MILLAR. Then, Mr. Goodnough, would it not be better, and would the whole purpose not be better expressed if you said that the State would pay for moving a man anywhere within the State provided he would move more than twenty-five miles?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. The proposition of the gentleman from Philadelphia seems to me to be a reasonable one. I think perhaps that would be in order, and for that purpose I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 443, file folio 1257, be recommitted to the Committee on Accounts, for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 456, entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred forty-four) entitled "An act relating to salaries compensation bonds offices and supplies of certain county officers their deputies and clerks in counties of the sixth class"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 680, (Senate Bill No. 32), entitled:

An Act to amend section six hundred and three of an act, approved the seventeenth day of May, nineteen hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws, six hundred and eighty-two), entitled "An act relating to insurance; amending, revising, and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies, and the regulation, supervision, and protection of home and foreign insurance companies, Lloyds associations, reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges, and fire insurance rating bureaus, and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies, associations, and exchanges, including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund; providing penalties; and repealing existing laws," as amended, providing for the investment of the surplus of domestic stock casualty insurance companies.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, in the examination of this bill I notice on page 143 this language "the current market value of such security at the time of any loan thereon shall be at least fifteen percentum or more than the sum loaned thereon." In making a loan investment of that kind, I was wondering whether or not fifteen percent, a minimum of fifteen percent, was not too low? I would not think of loaning money of any client on a security that was only fifteen percent better than the amount loaned. An organization or corporation for the purpose of taking care of the property, as the fire insurance company does, has a surplus there, but it looks to me as though the amount secured at the time of the investment should be greater than fifteen percent. I only rise to make that suggestion at this particular time to those whose duty it is to vote on it, so they can see whether or not they would care to loan their own money at a security of only fifteen percent better than the investment. I myself would not care to do it, nor would I allow any one of my clients to make an investment such as that without first explaining it to him.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, as I read this bill, the fifteen percent that Mr. Peelor refers to is the existing law, and the proposed amendment in the bill does not relate to that portion of it. I may be wrong in my reading of the bill, and if I am I would be very glad to have someone better informed than myself tell me.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Indiana.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Peelor, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PEELOR. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Isn't the only change that is proposed in this bill found in lines 16 and 17 on page 4?

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, I had not gone any further than where I raised the question. I see and understand the situation, but I have not gone that far. I do think that the act should never have been passed in the beginning, that is the trouble; that was done some time ago without our aid.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

BILLS ON FIRST READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 731, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred and sixteen of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and fifty-nine) entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto"

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 459, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws four hundred seventy-nine) entitled an act "Imposing a State tax on anthracite coal providing for the assessment and collection thereof and providing penalties for the violation of this act"

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 459, file folio 1603, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. ARMSTRONG. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill is better known as the Anthracite Coal Repealer. The bill is a very important bill to the House and to the State of Pennsylvania, because it represents approximately twelve to fourteen millions of dollars of revenue. Those men who have sat in this House in previous sessions need not be told of the functions of the Ways and Means Committee, but for the benefit of those men who are here for the first time this session, I want to point out that it is the function of the Ways and Means Committee of this House to pass on all bills which have to do with the revenues of the State of Pennsylvania. This measure, ladies and gentlemen of the House, has never been in the Ways and Means Committee. It was referred originally to the Committee on Mines and Mining, and it needs no further observation to show that the work of the Ways and Means Committee, in the progress of this House, cannot go on in an orderly manner unless the Ways and Means Committee be given an opportunity to pass on all revenue measures and more especially revenue measures that represent figures as large as this bill would represent to the State of Pennsylvania. I take it that every member of this House desires every piece of legislation to have fair consideration. I take it that every member of this House is in accord with the House organization, that is to say, that legislation of a given subject should be considered by the committee officially constituted to consider that kind of legislation. At the present time the appropriation committee is at work diligently to develop a program of appropriations. The Ways and Means Committee has been working diligently but quietly on the perspective revenues of this State for the present biennium. Certainly we all know that if the business of the House is to go on in an orderly way, the revenues must hook into and dovetail into the appropriations, and it is obvious, it seems to me to all of you that before this bill should be presented to the House for its consideration, the Ways and Means Committee, whose duty it is to consider the effect of the measure, should be given an opportunity to be heard.

Gentlemen, I ask you for these reasons, all of which seem to me to be sound and logical, that you consider this motion and vote favorably for the re-reference of the measure to the Committee on Ways and Means so that it may have an opportunity to place it in the picture of the revenues of this State for the present biennium and to give the House the benefit of the judgment of that committee.

Mr. CHRISTIAN MILLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I feel that I would be betraying the trust of my costitutents if I did not arise in opposition to referring this bill back to the Committee on Ways and Means. As the member from Philadelphia said, it never was referred to this Committee before. In both instances it was referred to the Committee on Mines and Mining which was satisfactory in 1921 and which was satisfactory in 1923. Today, apparently, it is not satisfactory. There is an object in view. Now, then, in 1921, when this tax was imposed on the anthracite it was merely an emergency tax. All right, the anthracite people were satisfied to bear the burden for two years. In 1923 we came back here again expecting, understand, to have this bill repealed and did have it repealed as far as the House was concerned, but through the Governor telling us, understand, that he would not have sufficient revenue for the next biennium and if we would leave it go for the next two years, he would consider this bill favorably. Now, we are here today expecting action on it. It is to be railroaded, is it? I seriously object and maybe before this session will be over there might be some people glad if they had left it go on.

Mr. ARMSTRONG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my action in seconding this motion was for the very reason that that gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, has so ably explained. It is a revenue measure, and I think properly belongs in the Ways and Means Committee. Therefore, I hope the action of the House on this motion will be favorable

Mr. McCAIG. Mr. Speaker, if my memory serves me right, this bill was referred to the Ways and Means Committee and considered there during the last session, and it was reported from that committee to the House. I am willing to stand corrected if that is not true. I would also admonish you and advise that this bill be re-referred to the Ways and Means Committee, because the Appropriation Committee has been searching everywhere and aiding the Ways and Means Committee to secure enough money for these needed appropriations which each and every one of you are interested in. I therefore, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, feel that this is the proper procedure and that the bill should be voted back into the Ways and Means Committee.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON FIRST READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 339, entitled:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal

Vol. 8. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MARCH 2, 1925. No. 18.

SENATE

MONDAY, March 2nd, 1925.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. John G. Homsher) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the followiug prayer:

Almighty God, at this season of the year the thoughts of men are turning toward Thee in peculiar humility and reverence. It is fitting that it should be so. How easy it is in this busy world of toil and traffic to become utterly absorbed in the things that are round about us, in money-making and pleasure-seeking, in the purely material side of life. We are so apt to forget the spiritual, to forget God, to forget that there is another world and another life far more important than the present. May we give Thee the supreme place in our thoughts, especially during these Lenten days, and may we earnestly strive to bring our lives into conformity with Thy will.

Bless the Senators as they are met here tonight, and guide them in their work. For Christ's sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. SCHANTZ, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PETITIONS.

PROTESTING AGAINST MAKING APPROPRIATIONS TO SECTARIAN INSTITUTIONS.

The Chair laid before the Senate petitions from Wego Lodge No. 599, I. O. O. F., Nuremberg Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Washington Camps Nos. 731 and 99, Patriotic Order Sons of America, protesting against making appropriations to sectarian institutions.

Which were referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Mr. LESLIE asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Einstein, on account of illness.

Mr. MANSFIELD asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris.

Mr. KRAUSE asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McNichol.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, speaking on behalf of the Committee of the Senate that was appointed in regard to the trip to the Inauguration on Wednesday, it is very important that we know at once how many Senators intend to go on Wednesday morning with the crowd that will leave here. We have arranged for special cars on the train leaving here at 7:00 o'clock on Wednesday morning, which will bring us to Washington at 10:20 in the forenoon. Returning the train will leave Washington at 5:30 in the afternoon, getting us back to Harrisburg at about 9:00 o'clcok. The expense for the round trip, including the Pullman car will be eight dollars and sixty-two cents. There will be provided private cars, including a dining car. We are trying to get as many grandstand seats as possible. We will probably not be able to get grandstand seats for everybody but we ought to know immediately how many Senators intend joining the party.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is requested to State that the Governor and Mrs. Pinchot invite all members of the enate who are going to Washington to eat luncheon at their residence on Rhode Island Avenue immediately after the parade.

RESOLUTION CONGRATULATING SENATOR SNYDER ON HIS 74TH BIRTHDAY.

Mr. DAVIS, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

RESOLUTION.

Whereas: Our splendid fellow-Senator, the Honorable Plymouth W. Snyder, from Blair County, did on Sunday, March First, reach his seventy-fourth birthday and, with his friends, has been celebrating today said event.

Therefore, Be it resolved, That the Senate extends, by a rising vote, most hearty congratulations to Senator Snyder on the attainment of such a goodly number of life's natal days, and sincerely trusts that the Great Ruler may permit Senator Snyder to serve with us, with full health, on many more of these annual prided dates.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President and fellow Senators, I am overwhelmed with this mark of your kindness and respect. I trust that it is merited. I have done my best here to meet with you, act with you, assist in the work of the Senate, only striving to do that which I thought was for the best interest, not only of my own district, but for the entire state. I thank you heartily for this kind resolution.

HOUSE MESSAGE.

HOUSE ACCEPTS CHALLENGE OF SENATE TO PLAY GOLF.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate communication from the House of Representatives, as follows:

Office of the Speaker, House of Representatives,
Harrisburg Pa., February 24, 1925.

Hon. John G. Homsher, President Pro Tempore, Senate of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Penna.

Dear Sir: On behalf of the House of Representatives, of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I desire to inform you that the House has accepted your challenge to the Members to play a Foursome of Golf on the first open date that can be available.

I have chosen as the representatives of the House, Hon. Herman A. Earley of Dauphin County, and Hon. Philip Sterling of Philadelphia County.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS BLUETT,
Speaker.

RESOLUTION OF NEVADA STATE CONVENTION RELATIVE TO PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE 18TH AMENDMENT.

He also laid before the Senate resolution of the Nevada State Convention relative to proposed amendment to the 18th Amendment, as follows; which was referred to the Committee on Law and Order:

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION INTRODUCED BY SENATOR SCOTT.

February 4, 1925.

Rules suspended, reading so far had considered first reading, rules further suspended, read second time by title, and referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION.

Making application to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for proposing an amendment to article XVIII of the amendments to the constitution of the United States.

Whereas, Both by popular vote and legislative action, the people of the State of Nevada are on record as favoring prohibition; and

Whereas, Experience has demonstrated that the attempt to abolish recognized abuses of the liquor traffic by the radical means of constitutional prohibition has generally failed of its purpose; and

Whereas, The Congress is now powerless to enact a law upon the subject, except under such constitutional limitations as to make its remedial value extremely doubtful; and

Whereas, The Constitution of the United States requires the Congress to call a constitutional convention upon application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the states; now therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of Nevada, That the legistlature of the State of Nevada make, and that said legislature hereby does make, application to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for proposing an amendment to article XVIII of the amendments to, the constitution of the United States, and that the Congress propose the method of ratification thereof; be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution, duly authenticated, be transmitted without delay by the secretary of the state of Nevada to the Congress of the United States, and also to the legislatures of the several states.

A. S. HENDERSON,
Speaker of the Assembly.

MAURICE J. SULLIVAN,
President of the Senate.

H. WISE,
Chief Clerk of the Assembly.

R. W. BEMAN,
Secretary of the Senate.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. BUCKMAN,

That Rule 38, which requires reports of committees on nominations made by the Governor to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, for the purpose of acting upon all the nominations reported at today's session.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. BUCKMAN,

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. President, I ask that the name of M. S. Hochhauser, Salem Township, Westmoreland County, be excluded from the nominations.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—44.

Aron,	Derrick,	Lanius,	Schantz,
Baldwin,	DeWitt,	Leslie,	Snyder,
Barr,	Eyre,	Mansfield,	Sones,
Baumer,	Freeman,	Miller,	Sprowls,
Betts,	Gelder,	North,	Steele,
Bonbrake,	Griswold,	Norton,	Stites,
Brown,	Heaton,	Painter,	Vare,
Buckman,	Joyce,	Patton,	Weingartner,
Coyne,	Krause,	Phipps,	Woodward,
Culbertson,	Kunkle,	Quigley,	Homsher,
Daix,	Kutz,	Salus,	Pres. Pro Tem.
Davis,

NAYS—0.

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. President, I move that the nomination of M. S. Hochhauser, Salem Township, Westmoreland County be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

BILL OVER IN ORDER.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, so many senators have expressed determination to speak against Senate Bill No. 15 that I am fearful it will not pass to-night, and therefore I would like to have it go over until to-morrow, when there will not be so many Senators present.

Mr. President, I ask that Senate Bill No. 15, on third reading entitled:

An Act for the protection of the public health by regulating the serving of milk for drinking purposes to patrons of hotels restaurants lunch rooms fountains and dining cars and the sale of milk at retail and providing penalties go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 261, as follows:

An Act to amend sections one and two of the act approved the fourteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and five (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and sixty-two) entitled "An act regulating the method and procedure in the erection of line or partition fences" providing for fence views in cities of the third class by the members of council

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the fourteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and five (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and sixty-two) entitled "An act regulating the method and procedure in the erection of line or partition fences" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act owners of improved and occupied land shall erect and maintain an equal part of all line or division fences between them nor shall any such owner be relieved from liability under the provisions of this act except by the consent of the adjoining owner And if any owner of such improved and occupied land shall fail or neglect to erect or maintain his her or their share of such line or division fence the party aggrieved shall notify the township or borough auditors or in cities of the third class the members of council who shall act as fence viewers and whose duty it shall be to examine such line or division fence so complained of and if they find said fence sufficient the complainant shall pay the costs of their services which shall be two dollars for each day's service but if they find such fence insufficient they shall so report to a justice of the peace or alderman residing in the county where such fence is located designating points and distances of such fence whether a new fence is required or whether the old one can be repaired and the probable costs of a new or the repair of the old fence and said justice or alderman shall notify the delinquent owner of such improved and occupied land of the auditor's or viewers' report and that his part of said fence as found by the auditors or viewers be erected or repaired within forty days from the date of such notice and if such notice be not complied with the aggrieved party may cause said line or division fence to be erected or repaired and the costs thereof collected from the delinquent owner of such improved and occupied land as other debts are collected by law Provided however That no owner of improved land shall be compelled to build or repair fence during the months of December January February and March And provided further That nothing herein contained shall be construed to apply to railroad companies

Section 2 That section two of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 Where an owner has improved up to and erected upon the line a division fence and an adjoining owner subsequently improves and occupies up to said line he shall become liable to the former for such part of the cost of said fence as is just and reasonable taking into consideration the quantity of the fence the length of time it had been erected and its condition And in case the parties fail to agree on the amount to be paid the owner who erected said fence may complain to the auditors or in cities of the third class the members of council aforesaid who shall assess the amount which in their opinion the other party should pay which amount with costs may be recovered as provided in section one of this act

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 300 on third reading, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-seventh day of March one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws thirty-four) entitled "An Act concerning alcoholic liquors; prohibiting the manufacture, advertising, furnishing, traffic in and possession of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, and articles and substances designed or intended for use in the manufacture thereof; defining intoxicating liquor; providing for penalties, forfeitures, and the abatement of nuisances; and repealing existing alcoholic liquor laws and alcoholic liquor license laws," regulating under permit through an Alcohol Permit Board created in the Department of Agriculture, the manufacture, development, use in manufacture, sale at wholesale, storage by bailees for hire and transportation for hire of any alcohol, or any alcoholic liquid by certain persons; providing for fees and the disposition thereof; authorizing the inspection of the records of permittees and purchasers of said liquids; declaring certain places nuisances and providing for their abatement; and providing penalties.

be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 300 involves the finances of the Commonwealth. There is no measure before us that is so interwoven with the appropriations of the finances of this session. Section 11 on page 9 of the bill, in the first place, asks for revenue. In the second place, it establishes another special fund. And in third place it makes an appropriation.

The bill establishes a revenue in that it provides a fee of $25.00 for every permit. The Constitution of the State provides that all bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives.

The second provision of the second clause of this bill says that this shall constitute a special fund for the purposes of this board, and shall be paid into the Treasury of the Commonwealth, and then makes an appropriation. "The moneys from time to time in the said fund are hereby specifically appropriated to the Board for the purpose of any and all expenses of every kind and description which may be necessary for the proper administration and enforcement of this Act."

Hitherto it has been an inflexible rule that all measures carrying any appropriations, or even remotely involving an expenditure, be committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. President, it is of the utmost importance that the Committee on Appropriations be afforded an opportunity to make an estimate of what this revenue will approximately mean and how much the money hereby appropriated will amount to in each biennium. In addition to that there are a number of items of appropriation in the budget. There is one specific item of five hundred thousand dollars and there are other items connected with the Department of Justice, and other items, so that it may be reasonably be estimated that the total sum of the appropriations in the budget, outside of this sum here specifically appropriated, amount to a million and a half dollars.

Mr. President, in addition to that there are numerous requests for a hearing and in order that the Senate may not deviate from its established rule, inflexibly adhered to, that all bills of this kind be committed to the Committee on Appropriations, and also for the purpose of affording a hearing to the citizens who have demanded a hearing, I have made this motion to recommit Senate Bill No. 300 to the Committee on Appropriations, for the purpose of affording the Committee to perform its functions, and also for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President and fellow Senators, the motion under consideration affects bill No. 300 of the Senate, known as the Dry Bill. This bill was introduced on February 10th. It has been in the Committee on Law and Order twice, and twice reported out.

Requests for a hearing should certainly have come to the chairman of that Committee. I have received not one request for a hearing; and up to this moment I have not received a request for a hearing.

Mr. President, it is strange indeed that this bill should now be asked for by the Committee on Appropriations. I am informed reliably that only last Wednesday it was conceived by some who are violently opposed to this bill, that it should go to the Committee on Appropriations. There is nothing for that Committee to consider. There is nothing for them to tally up. The fees will not be paid in for 60 days after the passage of the bill. This Legislature probably will have passed into history before there is a nickel paid into the Treasury. Now, Mr. President, I do believe, I honestly believe, that it is for delay. It is to kill the bill.

This bill will go to the House. There it may be referred to the Committee on Appropriations, if they see fit; and if it should,—if all such bills should originate in the House, they will have their opportunity.

I earnestly request the members of this Senate to vote "No" on the question of referring this bill to the Committee on Appropriations.

I do not like to say it, but I believe that this bill is wanted in the Committee on Appropriations to afford some the privilege to evade. The people of this State, I believe, will resent this action to-night. The entire State is watching Bill 300. The State loves fearless, open, honest, action. Let us vote on this bill on its merits to-night. Let us not hide it away in the Committee on Appropriations.

I earnestly appeal to you, fellow Senators, to vote "No" on this motion.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, a little while ago spoke something about an inflexible rule, and I did not quite understand whether it was on a hearing of the bill or on whether or not the inflexible rule was it should go to the Appropriations Committee. I would like him to explain to me which he meant.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I meant to say it was an inflexible rule that any bill that carried any appropriation or even remotely meant an expenditure of money by the State, went to the Committee on Appropriations. If the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, will recollect, on the threshold of the Session of 1923 I made a similar request, for the commission of a bill to the Committee on Appropriations. He violently opposed it and said it was not necessary, and said, "We might just as well, here and now, decide this issue; and it is time that we go to the mat." If he remembers his words, that is what he said. And we did go to the mat right then and there. And this body, by a large majority, a large preponderance then and there, sustained the proposition which had been in existence for many, many sessions, that any bill which carried an appropriation, or remotely involved an expenditure on the part of the State, should be committed at one time or other into the hands of the Committee on Appropriations. That is what I meant to say, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I was under the impression that that is what the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz meant because I knew that he could not mean that there was an inflexible rule as to hearings,—I have a distinct recollection only two weeks ago the Child Labor Amendment having gone down; and I hardly thought that he was asking that the booze amendment be given that which the children were denied. I did not expect him to come in with any such ridiculous proposition as that.

In my opinion, and in the opinion of the lawyers who drew the bill, it does not even remotely touch the finances of the State. It does not even remotely touch them. Mr President, I do not see any reason why this bill should be committed to the Committee on Appropriations. It is in my opinion purely and simply a subterfuge to kill the bill, and I again use the term, "might as well go to the mat".

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I just want to say this is no subterfuge to kill the bill. This cannot kill the bill. There is a similar bill in the house, and I tried by every nice way to talk to my collegues to-day and convince them of this regular procedure; and I made them this pledge as the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, that when the bill came over from the House, after I had the Senate bill, we would not repeat the request for the House bill. So there is no effort to kill the bill, because when the bill, passed by the House, comes over here, now openly to the Senate,— as I made to the Senate Law and Order Committee to-day,—I state that we will not repeat the request to have it in the Committee on Appropriations the second time.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I wish to say that ample opportunity will be given in the House for a hearing, and there will be given an opportunity there for amendments; and I repeat that this is considered by those who sponsored this bill, by the great mass of the people of the State of Pennsylvania, as a subterfuge. It is intended to delay it.

I wish to say that the greatest force and influence is stirring against this bill that has stirred against any bill that has been introduced into the Legislature for many sessions. This bill, the nature of which calls for drastic action, is aimed at the bootlegger; and the people of this State do not want bootleggers. We want to deprive them of their source of alcohol supplies. The importance of the bill demands speedy action. Let us pass this bill. "Let us go to the mat," fight it out.

And I am sure my fellow Senators, that if we vote to put this bill in the Appropriations Committee the people of this State will consider that we are helping to delay this important bill.

Oh, what depends upon its passage no one can tell! Two years from now the bootleggers will be so entrenched, with their millions of dollars,—they are making millions every year,—that I tremble for the state of affairs.

Fellow Senators, you will get an opportunity to have a public hearing in the House, and I say solemnly here that I have not had a request for a public hearing until now on this bill, and it has been in my Committee,— the Committee of which I have the honor to be the Chairman,— since February 10th. I appeal to you to vote "No."

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I would like interrogate the Senator from Blair, Mr. Snyder.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair Mr. Snyder permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Blair, Mr. Snyder, whether it is not a fact that before the Law and Order Committee, in my presence there, was a request made to him for a hearing before the Committee and that the Committee postponed action,—for those individuals to confer and see what they were going to do about it.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, there was a request for a conference. The conference took place. It was not a request for a public hearing.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Barr and Mr. Snyder and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—20.

Aron,	Daix,	Joyce,	Quigley,
Baldwin,	Davis,	Krause,	Salus,
Baumer,	DeWitt,	Kutz,	Schantz,
Buckman,	Griswold,	Leslie,	Sones,
Coyne,	Heaton,	Patton,	Vare,

NAYS—24.

Barr,	Freeman,	North,	Steele,
Betts,	Gelder,	Norton,	Stites,
Bonbrake,	Kunkle,	Painter,	Weingartner,
Brown,	Lanius,	Phipps,	Woodward,

Derrick,	Miller,	Sprowls,	Pres. Pro Tem.
Earnest,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. President and Fellow Senators: Senate Bill No. 300 is now on final pasage. It is known as the United Dry Bill. This is not a prohibition bill but a law enforcement measure, and is intended to supplement the Act passed by the last Legislature. It is framed to meet the difficulties encountered in efforts to enforce that Act and also to overcome legal opinions and objections encountered in trial of cases in the courts. Its passage is most important and urgently necessary for proper law enforcement.

This bill will not prohibit the manufacture and sale of alcohol for use in the arts, manufacture, medicine or scientific research. It does not interfere with the honest physician, dentist or druggist who prescribes, uses and disperses legally. It imposes no hardships upon them, and, so far as I know, they are not opposing but, rather, are favoring its passage. But it will, if enforced, stop at the source the illegal release of alcohol and high-power beer.

It will protect the legitimate manufacture and brewer, and suppress the greedy violators of the law, the greatest of whom is the bootlegger.

The bootlegger, for greed of gain, disobeys the law with impunity. Therefore, he is not a good citizen. He is a nullifier of the Federal Constitution, consequently he is disloyal. He works in the dark, hence is a coward. He misbrands, adulterates and falsifies his goods, and therefore is a fraud, a cheat and deceiver. Not infrequently he concocts, mixes and sells poisonous alcoholic liquors that send his victims to the madhouse or to death and this brands him as a criminal. It is estimated that these monsters have, during the last year, made over one hundred millions of dollars in their nefarious operations.

Mr. President, not one of us, I am sure, would aid or abet these enemies of the State. Rather should we not oppose them with every ounce of energy we possess? I take it, then, that you will support this measure. It is the weapon with which you can strike them down and largely put them out of business. You ask me how? I will explain.

The Governor, in his masterful message on law enforcement, read before the joint session of Senate and House, used figures and terms wihch are indeed startling, but are correct and can be proven. I condense from his message as follows:

"In two years ending June 30, 1923, more than five million gallons of specially denatured alcohol were removed and disposed of in the Philadelphia district. Last year there was a slight decrease in production, but this was more than made up by importation. This enormous production and distribution is at the present time checked by no records which are effective to prevent its flow in huge quantities into the bootleg trade.

"The 'graft is worked' through specially denatured and bonded dealers who can sell only to manufacturers holding Federal permits, who are authorized to make toilet waters, hair tonics and tobacco sprays.

"The dishonest of these manufacturers do not manufacture anything. but dispose of their alcohol through seventy-four so-called cover houses to redistillers and bootleggers. Of one hundred and fifty-one manufacturers, one hundred and twenty-eight were found to be crooked."

Then there is the completely denatured alcohol. This is especially sought by bootleg trade. The producers keep only records of sales, and no records of purchasers; and they are not subject to inspection of completely denatured alcohol in 1924 (last year) increased by nearly seven and one-half million gallons?

These statements are apalling. How long will this deluge of liquor be permitted to flow over this State? I answer, "Just so long as we refuse additional legislation." The United Dry Bill is the remedy. It requires every manufacturer and cover house to secure a State permit, keep daily, permanent records of its business, and open them fully for inspection when required by the proper authorities.

As to the breweries violating the law, the Federal authorities have abandoned their policy of libeling these because of the cost of guarding them. Clearly, then, the State should exercise concurrent authority granted it by the Eighteenth Amendment. By issuing permits to them we can make rules and regulations for inspecting every brewery. This is reasonable and necessary, because last year sixty-two of the one hundred breweries (in round numbers) were caught violating the law; and so difficult was it, under present conditions, to secure evidence that would convict that only six were permanently put out of business. This bill does not put the honest distiller, manufacturer and brewer out of business. On the contrary, it protects them.

Provision to destroy alcoholic liquids forthwith will obviate the need of storage places and the necessity of court procedure before forfeiture. The accused law-breaker is given the right to appeal from the decision of the trial court to the appellate courts of the State.

The penalties of this supplement are in complete accord with, and no more severe than, those of the Snyder-Armstrong Act.

Adoption of this Act unimpaired will bring about a complete State regulation of concurrent authority with the Federal Government, exactly as was intended by the Eighteenth Amendment.

Mr. President, I cannot more fittingly close this appeal than by quoting almost verbatim from my address delivered here two years ago.

In pleading for supplemental law enforcement here today I speak not for myself alone, I speak for the great women's organizations of the State, both social and political, that have endorsed this supplement,—for the Women's Christian Temperance Union, that white-ribboned army that for many years has fought for prohibition, for the Confederated Churches, for the ministeriums, for the bible schools and the Sunday schools, the farmers, whose leaders helped prepare this bill, the Anti-Saloon League and other organizations of like character, for the mothers and fathers who are raising boys and girls for future citizens, for the two million children of the State, and also for that great class silently suffering from the cruelty, neglect and heartbreaking acts of those who should protect and cherish them but who are victims of unlawful traffic in strong drink.

And who stand opposed to this noble array of organizations and people? I answer: They are the bootleggers and their confederates, who, for gain of gold, debauch their victims, violate our laws, dishonor the flag and defy our Constitution. On which side shall we take our stand? Whom shall we protect and defend? Is the Constitution the palladium of our liberties or is it a weak instrument of meaningless words? Is the Constitution a failure? Will it protect the people from selfish money-getters, nullifiers and criminals? Has the blood of our sires who brought forth this nation, and of those who fought to preserve it from internal enemies and foreign foes, been shed in vain?

To you my fellow Senators, I leave these momentous questions. If we pass this bill I hold that we will at least have done our solemn duty for law enforcement, for the upholding of our Federal Constitution, for our cherished institutions, our homes and for God and humanity.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like to state to the Senate that whoever wrote the first section of this bill was suffering with a disease called by the doctors "Delusions of Grandeur" and as a practitioner I would say it applies only to this section. This first section would enable the Council of Philadelphia to build steamships to cross the Atlantic, to be owned by the City and operated by the City. I, therefore, would like to offer an amendment and I would like the bill to be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Affairs for amendment. I am entirely in sympathy with sections two, three and four, but section one of this bill, in my opinion, should not stand.

Mr. PRESIDENT, I move that Senate Bill No. 446, on third reading entitled:

An Act authorizing cities of the first class to promote marine service between said cities and other ports to build or otherwise acquire and operate vessels for that purpose and to enter into contracts or agreements for the establishment maintenance or continuance thereof by others providing among other things for the payment of guarantee of losses or deficiencies incurred therein be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Affairs for the purpose of Amendment.

Mr. PATTON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 453, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred seven, (Pamphlet Laws two hundred ninety), entitled "An act to provide for the employment of the insane, feeble-minded and epileptic persons confined in institutions, wholly or in part maintained by the State, for the care and treatment of the insane, feeble-minded and epileptic persons; and providing for the distribution of the supplies, manufactured articles, goods, and products made in State institutions for the care of the insane, feeble-minded, and epileptic persons", by making further provision for the disposition of products made in such institutions, to use the proceeds of sales of such products for certain purposes.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO MAKING APPLICATION TO THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES TO CALL A CONVENTION FOR PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE XVIII OF THE AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

Mr. SOWERS offered the following resolution, which was twice read, and laid over for printing under the rules.

Making application to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for proposing an amendment to article XVIII of the amendments to the constitution of the United States.

Whereas, the people of the State of Pennsylvania are favoring government control of alcoholic beverages; and

Whereas, Experience has demonstrated that the attempt to abolish recognized abuses of the liquor traffic by the radical means of constitutional prohibition has generally failed of its purpose; and

Whereas, The Congress is now powerless to enact a law upon the subject, except under such constitutional limitations as to make it a remedial value extremely doubtful; and

Whereas, the Constitution of the United States requires the Congress to call a constitutional convention upon application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the states; now, therefore, be it

Resolved (If the Senate concur), That the legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania make, and that said legislature hereby does make, application to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for proposing an amendment to article XVIII of the amendments to the constitution of the United States, and that the Congress propose the method of ratification thereof; be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution, duly authenticated, be transmitted without delay by the secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Congress of the United States, and also to the legislatures of the several states.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO REFORESTING LAND NOW OWNED BY THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT WITHIN THE COMMONWEALTH.

Mr. LUKEHART offered the following resolution, which was twice read and laid over for printing under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, March 2, 1925.

Whereas, The United States has recently purchased in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania more than twenty-three thousand acres of land in Warren, Forest, Elk and McKean counties, and

Whereas, The ground so purchased constitutes the most desirable timber land in the Commonwealth and it is highly necessary that such land should be reforested, and

Whereas, The United States now owns upward of one hundred and eighty-three thousand acres of good timber land within this Commonwealth and no work has been started to replant the same with suitable trees, therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That it is the opinion of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the United States Government should construct and develop a nursery in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and take immediate steps to reforest the land now owned by the United States within the Commonwealth, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this Resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the Members in Congress from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO TOLL BRIDGE ACROSS SUSQUEHANNA RIVER.

Mr. HANTZ offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over for printing under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, March 2, 1925.

Whereas, A bill is now pending in the Congress of the United States, granting authority to a private corporation to construct a toll bridge across the Susquehanna River between York and Lancaster counties, and

Whereas, The proposed bridge would connect and continue across the said Susquehanna River the Lincoln Highway, which is the greatest artery of public travel in the nation, and

Whereas, The cost of construction of such bridge would be so great that excessive tolls would have to be charged the vast number of users of such Lincoln Highway in order to insure a proper return on the investment, and

Whereas, Private toll bridges are a relic of the past, a hardship and inconvenience to the traveling public and not in accord with the policy of the State, therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth, by the passage of this resolution, voices its protest and the protest of the citizens of the Commonwealth whom it represents, against this proposed interference with the free and unimpeded use of the highways of the Commonwealth, and be it further

Resolved, That not only should this attempt to circumvent the policy of the Commonwealth to afford free passage to her citizens and the citizens of other Commonwealths over the highways be defeated, but that measures should be adopted to free from toll all bridges within the Commonwealth, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to Members in the Congress of the United States from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and to the Members of the Public Service Commission.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. EMHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 740, file folio 1371, on page 12 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Governor to appoint a Commission to complete the printing of the report prepared by the Old Age Assistance Commission and making an appropriation

Whereas the Old Age Assistance act created by the 1923 Legislature providing for the creation of an Old Age Assistance Commission has been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and

Whereas the Commission appointed under the above act has collected and prepared for presentation to this Assembly a great deal of invaluable data bearing upon the entire problem of Old Age Dependency in the State which the Legislature for three consecutive sessions sought to obtain and

Whereas the Supreme Court decision invalidating the law now prevents the Commission from completing this valuable report now in the hands of the State Printer containing its data so that it could be available to the public and also prevents the payment of certain office expenditures incurred in good faith previous to the rendering of the decision and

Whereas of the appropriation of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) made to the Commission of 1923 more than half is still in the State Treasury

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Governor appoint a Commission of three to wind up the affairs of the Old Age Assistance Commission to complete the printing of the report of its findings and to so arrange its data as to make it available for public distribution

Section 2 An appropriation of two thousand dollars ($2,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically made to the Commission thus appointed by the Governor for the purpose of paying for the printing and clerical and other expenses necessary to do the work provided for in section one of this act

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Roads Committee.

The SPEAKER. Will the Chairman of the Roads Committee, Mr. Hess, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HESS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I would like to ask the gentleman if this bill provides that the bonds shall all have been issued by April, 1926.

Mr. HESS. The bonds will all be issued by April, 1926, unless the time is extended six months.

Mr. ALEXANDER. And what provision is made for any extension?

Mr. HESS. The bonds shall be issued as follows under the act: "On the first day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, the sum of twenty-million dollars ($20,000,000); on the first day of August, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, the sum of twenty million dollars ($20,000,000); and on the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six, the sum of ten million dollars ($10,000,000), provided, however, that if the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer shall unanimously agree that it is inadvisable to borrow the amounts mentioned on the dates specified or any part thereof, they may postpone borrowing the said amounts or any part thereof for a period not exceeding six (6) months from the date or dates herein specified;" which I have read to the gentleman from Delaware.

Mr. ALEXANDER. In other words, the Auditor General, the Governor and the State Treasurer must be unanimous before that time shall be extended?

Mr. HESS. That is correct.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Can you give us what the approximate amount of revenue to the Highway Department for the next biennium will be, exclusive of the road bond issue of fifty milions?

Mr. HESS. The estimated receipts for the next two years, of biennium of 1925 to 1927, are about $43,500,000.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Then, plus the fifty million, that gives them $93,000,000 to spend in the next biennium?

Mr. HESS. About $16,500,000 of that has already been expended, or been contracted to be expended.

Mr. ALEXANDER. This $16,000,000 has been expended, not withstanding the appropriation has not been made?

Mr. HESS. Expecting that the bonds could be sold prior to this time, and not expecting that the act would be declared unconstitutional, $16,500,000 were expended or contracted to be expended, the expectation being to pay for that amount of work out of the proceedings of the bond issue.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Can you give us now what the amount available to the Highway Department was for the biennium of 1921 and 1922? Have you those figures?

Mr. HESS. I do not have those figures.

Mr. ALEXANDER. It was much less than $43,000,000 anticipated for the next biennium?

Mr. HESS. I think not.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Was there something like $21,000,000 appropriated in 1921, of which $11,000,00 was held up by Governor Sproul with the idea that the Legislature of 1923 would lapse, leaving only $10,000,000 spent at that time of that appropriation?

Mr. HESS. The license fund would have exceeded that amount.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I am referring to the appropriation alone, now.

Mr. HESS. I have none of those figures.

Mr. ALEXANDER. And isn't it a fact that those $11,000,000, which were saved by the Sproul administrattion, were spent in the last biennium by this administration?

Mr. HESS. That is true. I can give you the expenditures.

Mr. ALEXANDER. And that $11,000,000 was part of the $29,000,000 deficit we have heard so much about, is that correct?

Mr. HESS. That is correct.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Can you give us the amounts that the Highway Department spent in the last biennium, exclusive of the $16,000,000 which they anticipated?

Mr. HESS. During the last biennium, the expenditures by the Department totalled $52,393,007.51, made up as follows: "Statement of General Department Maintenance, $23,343,007.51," and on new construction, about $29,050,000, in round figures.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Have you there the amount expended in 1921 and 1922?

Mr. HESS. I do not have.

Mr. ALEXANDER. You do not have?

Mr. HESS. No.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Thank you, Mr. Hess.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is not my purpose at this time to vote against this bill. I am calling attention, however, at this time, to the reason I ask these questions with the thought, perhaps, that some of you did not know that the business administration at Harrisburg was spending the nice little sum of $16,000,000 before they had it. We have heard a great deal about paying as you go, but it seems to me to spend the small sum of $16,000,000 before they had it in hand is not a very good way of doing business. I do not know of any other corporation that would last more than sixty days with that kind of business.

There is another thing: It seems to me that at this time it might be well to call the attention of somebody to the fact that for some reason or other there has been a vast amount of money—whether it is part of this $16,000,000 or not I do not know—being spent in publication. The publicity agent seems to be a strong forte. My experience has been that the business man performs the work and the people see by that work what he is doing, and he does not need to pay publicity agents to tell the people what he has been doing. We are certainly spending a lot of money in the Highway Department, that should be spent on the roads, in this publicity way, by advertising and by sending printed letters throughout the State by mail. That is no small sum, and it does not seem to me that those things are of importance. Now I recognize the fact, and all men recognize the fact, with a vast institution like the Highway Department, with the great corps, that they have necessarily more or less waste; it is reasonable to suppose they do, but it seems to me that this is a waste; it may be small, but I know printing and printers' ink, publicity agents and stamps, and one thing and another, cost money, and it seems to me that the Highway Department can use that to better advantage than by trying to tell the people what they are doing, and the better way should be to show by their work what they are doing and not by the publicity way.

Another thing I would like to call your attention to: Just as Mr. Hess has stated, the Highway Department had $52,000,000 last year. That is more than twice what the Sproul administration spent in 1921 and 1922 and $11,000,000 of the great deficit of $29,0000,000 that we have heard so much about is included in that $52,000,000 which Governor Sproul, in 1921, when he found the financial condition of the State, stopped payment of, stopped encumbering the balance which amounted to nearly $11,000,000, and yet that is called a deficit. It amounts to nothing more than that they had that much to spend in the last biennium and that is part of the $29,000,000 deficit you have all heard about. It means nothing more than that the last administration had that $11,000,000 to spend and it wasn't a deficit at all, only a paper deficit.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I certainly enjoyed the conversation between the member from Delaware and the member from Lancaster, but I did not hear much of it. I would like to see it in print, and I therefore move that this bill be put on the postponed calendar so that we can read that conversation in the Journal in the meantime.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 725, (Senate Bill No. 230), as follows:

An Act to ratify and adopt Subject to certain exceptions a compact negotiated by Commissioners designated by the Governor under a law of the Commonweatlh of Pennsylvania with Commissioners duly authorized thereto by the States of New York and New Jersey for the regularization of the flow of the Delaware River the conservation of the water resources of the Delaware Basin the apportionment thereof among the said States for domestic and municipal supply and the utilization thereof for power and other beneficial uses

Whereas Commissioners duly designated on the part of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and Commissioners duly appointed on the part of the State of New Jersey and Commissioners duly appointed on the part of the State of New York to negotiate a compact for the regularization of the flow of the Delaware River the conservation of the water resources of the Delaware Basin the apportionment thereof among the said States for domestic and municipal supply and the utilization thereof for power and other beneficial uses have executed in triplicate a compact for the purposes aforesaid one for each State which agreement is contained in the following words

COMPACT

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by Legislative Act approved the twenty-fourth of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws four hundred forty-eight) and the State of New Jersey by Chapter ninety-four of the Laws of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three and the State of New York by Chapter fifty-six of the Laws of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three having authorized their respective Governors to appoint Commissioners for the purpose of negotiating a form of compact or treaty between the said three states and the said states through their Governors having appointed as their Commissioners

For the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Charles H Miner Robert Y Stuart Philip P Wells

For the State of New Jersey William A Starrett Frederick C Schneider

For the State of New York George MacDonald Rudolph Reimer Jefferson DeMont Thompson who after negotiations have agreed upon the following articles

ARTICLE I

This compact between the sovereign states of Pennsylvania New York and New Jersey is entered into for the purpose of conserving by storage and otherwise for all uses the water resources of the said states in the Delaware river its tributaries and drainage area and as a means to that end for making allotments from the said water resources to the said states respectively and determining and adjusting their respective rights therein

ARTICLE II

Where used in this compact singular words shall be construed as including the plural masculine words shall be construed as including the feminine and neuter and the following terms and expressions shall have the meanings as respectively designated for each

The term "waters of the Delaware river" means all of the surface waters which following their natural courses flow into the channel of the Delaware river above that point in the said channel which marks the boundary between the states of Delaware Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The term "channel of the Delaware river" means the lands and bed of the river on and over which the waters of the Delaware river flow beginning at the point near "Monument Island" which is the northeastern corner of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and extending thence continuously as the said channel winds and turns to the point which is the common boundary between the states of Pennsylvania New Jersey and Delaware

The term "drainage area of the Delaware river" means the entire area of both land and water from which the surface waters naturally flow into the channel of the Delaware river

The term "tributary" or "tributary of the Delaware river" means any watercourse the waters of which naturally reach the channel of said river

The term "domestic and municipal" as applied to the use of water means the use of water by or for waterworks serving the public

The term "sanitation" as applied to the use of water means the use of water for the conveyance of sewage and industrial wastes

The term "sewage" means any substance or liquid containing any of the waste products or excrementitious or other discharges from the bodies of human beings or animals

The term "industrial waste" means any liquid or solid substance not sewage resulting from any process employed in manufacturing or industry

The term "water returned" or its equivalent means the return into a tributary or into the channel of the Delaware river of water after the same has been used for any purpose and in this sense the terms "sewage" and "industrial waste" shall be construed as being "water returned"

The term "industry" as applied to the use of water means the use of water for manufacturing and industrial purposes in all cases in which the water used is not taken from a public water supply system

The term "power" as applied to the use of water means the use of water for the development of energy whether that use be direct or indirect

The term "navigation" as applied to the use of water means the use of water for transportation and for the operation of water craft for all purposes

The term "develop" "developed" or "development" when referring to the use of water from the channel of the Delaware river or a tributary shall include any means for making the water available for use by the construction of any intake dam or other works

The term "point of development" means the point nearest the mouth of a tributary at which any dam or intake is built in connection with any development of the waters of such tributary

The term "divert" or "diversion" when referring to water in the channel of the Delaware river means the taking or removal of water from the said channel when the water taken or removed is not returned into the said channel within a distance of twelve miles below the point of diversion measured along the center line of the said channel

The term "divert" or "diversion" when referring to the water of a tributary of the Delaware river means the taking or removal of water from that tributary or from any portion thereof when the water taken or removed is not returned into the channel of the Delaware river either above the point at which the tributary enters the said channel or within a distance of twelve miles below that point measured along the center line of the said channel

The term "point of diversion" means the point or place at which water is taken or removed from a tributary or from the channel of the Delaware river

The term "developed for diversion" means conservation of water by storage or otherwise on or from any one or more tributaries for the purpose of diversion at any point on the tributary or tributaries or at some lower point in the channel of the Delaware river after the water shall have reached said lower point as water in transit

The term "ordinary flow" means a flow of forty-five hundredths (0.45) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the point at which the "ordinary flow" is to be determined

The term "ordinary low flow" means a flow of fifteen hundredths (0.15) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the point at which the "ordinary low flow" is to be determined

The term "allotment" means the share of any signatory state in the water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river which is in excess of all water in transit

The term "New York-New Jersey state line means the boundary line between the states of New York and New Jersey which line for the purposes of this compact shall be considered as crossing the channel of the Delaware river due east to the so-called "Tri-State Rock" and continuing thence in a south-easterly direction across the Neversink river to a rock on the west shore of the Hudson river near the village of Nyack

The term "water in transit" means water which has been developed by storage or otherwise and which is flowing in the channel of the Delaware river under the provisions of Article VII

The term "point of storage" means the point or place in the channel of the Delaware river at which a dam is maintained

ARTICLE III

In the development use or diversion of the waters of the Delaware river and in all considerations of quantity and preservation of quality the order of importance and public value of water shall be as follows (A) domestic and municipal (B) sanitation (C) industry and power and (D) navigation

ARTICLE IV

Any administrative department political subdivision corporation partnership association or person authorized in that behalf by or under the laws of any signatory state may exercise the rights and privileges herein conferred on such state subject to the duties and obligations herein conferred on such state subject to the duties and obligations herein imposed on such state

ARTICLE V

Any tributary or any part of any tributary of the Delaware river may be developed for any purpose by or under the authority of the signatory state in which it is located and water so developed may be diverted for use at any point either within or without the drainage area of the Delaware river in case water so developed is diverted then the following restrictions and limitations shall apply

(1) Every such development shall be carried out in compliance with the legislative provisions governing such matters in the state in which it is located

(2) Every such development shall be so planned and the works shall be so constucted as to bring about the greatest practicable conservation and use of the waters of the tributary on which it is located

(3) In the case of every such development located above the New York-New Jersey state line there shall be maintained below the point of development during the months of July August September and October a reserve flow equal to the ordinary flow at that point and also if at any other time during the year the flow in the tributary at the point of development is less than the ordinary flow at that point then a reserve flow equal to the ordinary flow shall be maintained below the point of development In the case of every such development located below the New York-New Jersey state line there shall at all times be maintained below the point development a reserve flow equal to the ordinary low flow at that point

(4) The total drainage area in any state which may be developed for diversion under the provisions of this article shall not exceed three-fifths of the drainage area of the Delaware river which lies within that state

ARTICLE VI

All water which at any time is flowing in the channel of the Delaware river above the New York-New Jersey state line and which is in excess of all water in transit in said channel is allotted to the states of New Jersey New York and Pennsylvania and with the approval of the Commission as provided in Article VIII hereof each of these states may divert from the said channel at any point above the said state line that portion of its allotment which is in excess of a reserve flow of fifteen hundredths (.15) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the point of diversion and at any point below the New York-New Jersey state line each of the said states may divert that portion of its allotment which is in excess of a reserve flow of twelve hundredths (0.12) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the New York-New Jersey state line The allotments of the respective states shall be computed from time to time as follows

In case no tributary within the drainage area above the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion then the allotment of each state at any point in the channel of the Delaware river above the said state line hereinafter called the normal allotment shall be one-third of the total water which may at any time be flowing in said channel at that point In case one or more tributaries within said drainage area shall have been developed for diversion by only one of the signatory states then the respective allotments of the signatory states shall be determined by the following rule The allotment of said diverting state shall be determined by subtracting from its normal allotment an amount to be computed by multiplying said normal allotment by a fraction the numerator of which shall be the total drainage area developed for diversion on said tributaries within that state above the New York-New Jersey state line and the denominator of said fraction shall be the total drainage area above the said state line and the allotment of each one of the other two states shall be determined by adding to its normal allotment one-half of the amount subtracted from the allotment of the diverting state In case tributaries within the drainage area above the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion by two or more states the rule herein above stated shall be applied separately and in turn as to each diverting state and the substractions from and additions to the normal allotments of the states thus determined shall fix the allotments of the states as of that time

All water which originates within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line and enters the channel of the Delaware river below that line and which is in excess of all water in transit in said channel is hereby allotted to the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania and with the approval of the Commission as provided in Article VIII hereof each of said states may divert from said channel at any point below the said state line that portion of its allotment which is in excess of a reserve flow of eighteen hundredths (0.18) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area lying above the point of diversion and below the New York-New Jersey state line The allotments of the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania in the waters which originate within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line shall be computed from time to time as follows

In case no tributary within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion then the allotment of the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania at any point in the channel of the Delaware river below said line hereinafter called the normal allotment shall be one-half of the water which has originated within the said drainage area and which at any time is flowing in the said channel at such point below said state line in case New Jersey or Pennsylvania shall have developed for diversion one or more tributaries within said drainage area then the allotment of the diverting state shall be determined by subtracting from its normal allotment an amount to be computed by multiplying said normal allotment by a fraction the numerator of which shall be the total drainage area developed for diversion on said tributaries within that state below the New York-New Jersey state line and the denominator shall be the total drainage area below said state line and the allotment of the other state shall be increased by the amount by which the allotment of the diverting state has been reduced In case tributaries within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion by both New Jersey and Pennsylvania the rule herein above stated shall be applied separately and in turn as to each of them and the subtractions from and additions to the normal allotments of the states thus determined shall fix the allotment of the states as of that time

Dams may be constructed across the channel of the Delaware river by or under the authority of any one of the signatory states for the purpose of storing water developed for diversion water in transit belonging to said state or any part or all of the water allotted to it under the provisions of this article All water so stored may be diverted or released from such reservoir or reservoirs by or under the authority of such state but the flow in the said channel below the point of storage must not be reduced below the ordinary flow whenever the flow above the point of storage is greater than the said ordinary flow When and if the flow in the said channel above the point of storage is less than the ordinary flow then and in every such case a flow equal to that above the point of storage shall be maintained in the said channel below the point of storage At all times however neither the water in transit nor the allotment or allotments of the other signatory state or states shall be interferred with but must at all times be permitted to pass such dam or dams

It is the intention of this article that no water shall be diverted from the channel of the Delaware river above the New York-New Jersey State line whenever the flow in the said channel is less than forty-five hundreths (0.45) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of the total drainage area lying above the point of diversion and it is further intended that no water shall be diverted from the channel of the Delaware river below the New York-New Jersey state line whenever the flow in the said channel is less than thirty-six hundredths (0.36) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of the total drainage area lying above the point of diversion but nothing contained in this article shall be construed to limit or prevent the diversion of water in transit of water diverted under any vested right or of water stored for diversion as herein provided

The channel of the Delaware river is hereby constituted a carrier for conducting water designated as "water in transit" which has been developed or stored in accordance with the terms of Article V or Article VI Such water may be removed or diverted at any time or place from the channel of the Delaware river by or under authority of the state under whose auspices the development was made irrespective of the quantity of water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river and the reserve flow provisions of Article VI The rate at which such water is released or delivered shall be regulated so far as may be consistent with its economic utilization in such manner as not to unduly interfere with private rights or public interests along the said channel The daily rate at which such water may be removed or diverted from the channel of the Delaware river shall not exceed the daily rate at which it is released or delivered and no greater quantity may be diverted from the said channel than shall have been released or delivered from the developments made under the provisions of Articles V and VI less the reserve flows provided for in the said Articles V and VI except that allotted water may be diverted as provided in Article VI No development or construction in the channel of the Delaware river shall be permitted to interfere with the regularity of the flow of any water which has been released or delivered for carriage

ARTICLE VIII

In order to render possible the utilization or diversion of water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river each signatory state shall have the right to build dams entirely or partly across said channel and to construct wing dams headworks intakes or other necessary facilities at any point or points in or along said channel subject to the following limitations and stipulations

(a) All such works shall be built in compliance with the legislative provisions governing such matters in the state or states in which they are located

(b) Works for the development of water power may not be built except with the approval of the Commission in accordance with the provisions of Article X hereof

(c) Approval of the Commission shall be secured for every project which involves the removal or diversion of more than two million gallons of water per day from the channel of the Delaware river such approval however need not at any time be obtained by any administrative department of a signatory state or any political subdivision within a signatory state or by any corporation partnership association or person in the case of any intake which is in existence at any point in said channel on the date when this compact becomes effective

In the exercise of this authority said Commission shall be governed and its power and authority shall extend to and be limited by the following principles restrictions and reservations to wit

(1) In the case of any project which in the judgment of the Commission will not interfer or conflict with any other use of the water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river the Commission shall approve said project without imposing any restrictions or conditions except such as may be necessary to insure compliance with the provisions of this compact

(2) As between any one or more proposed or possible conflicting uses the action of the Commission shall be based upon the relative importance of the uses to which the water may be put as fixed in Article III of this compact and to the extent that conflict is irreconcilable that possible and practical project which will effect the use of water standing highest in the order of importance shall be approved without restrictions or conditions except such as the Commission may deem necessary to insure compliance with the provisions of this compact To the extent that conflict is avoidable by a reasonable modification of any or all of the projects which may be involved the Commission shall fix the terms of such modification but such terms shall not require as against the higher use pumping in place of gravity delivery of water nor impose on the higher use the cost of any impounding works or any unreasonable enlargement of pipe lines conduits or tunnels or impose on the higher use any undue burden in either expense or convenience of operation In the case of conflict in uses of the same relative order of importance preference shall be given to an established use over a proposed one and the Commission shall have authority to determine the manner in which such conflicting uses may be harmonized without imposing unreasonable expense or undue burden upon either or any of them

No water from the drainage area of the Delaware river shall be diverted to any point outside of the boundaries of the states signatory to this compact No one of the signatory states may give grant or dispose of to another signatory state or to any holder of an authorization therefrom any water developed by or allotted to it under the provisions of this compact except by legislative act when necessary and then only with the approval of the Commission but nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent or prohibit the joint exercise by or under the authority of any two or more of the signatory states of the rights conferred by this compact and such joint exercise of rights is hereby authorized

ARTICLE X

With the approval of the Commission any signatory state may construct or authorize the construction of a dam wing dam headworks power house or other structure in or across the channel of the Delaware river for the main purpose of the development of water power Provided that every such authorization shall be limited to such period not exceeding fifty years as the said state shall determine and set forth in its authorization Provided further that the holder of such authorization shall be entitled to extension and renewal thereof upon the same terms until such holder shall have received through recapture or purchase by the authorizing state or by a duly authorized subsequent holder of like authority from said state repayment of the capital prudently invested in the power project upon the faith of the authorization plus such reasonable damages if any to property of such holder which is valuable serviceable and dependent for its usefulness upon the continuance of such authorization but not recaptured or purchased as may be caused by the severance therefrom of property taken Provided further that the authorizing state may in the discretion of its appropriate agency officer or employee empowered in that behalf embody in its authorization such terms conditions and stipulations as such agency officer or employee shall deem necessary to protect the present and future interests of each of the three signatory states and their people in the construction maintenance and operation of the project and in the water and power resources to be utilized thereby and suitable to secure to the holder of such authorization a reasonable opportunity for a fair return on the capital prudently invested in the project And provided further that every such authorization shall be on the following conditions which shall be expressed in such authorization namely (a) That the authorization shall become null and void unless within the time specified therein the holder of such authorization shall secure from the United States such license permit or authority as may be lawfully required and (b) that if and to the extent that any of the rights or powers set forth or reserved as rights or powers of the United States in or pursuant to the provisions of such license permit or authority shall be waived by the United States or be unenforceable by the United States then and to that extent such rights and powers (including if so waived or unenforceable any rights of recapture extension or renewal so set forth or reserved) subject to such alterations in plans specifications or structures and such extensions of time for commencing or completing structures as may have been made or granted by the United States may be exercised and enforced by the signatory states which originally authorized the construction No project authorized and constructed under the provisions of this article shall at any time be operated so as to injuriously affect any project for municipal and domestic water supply which has been or may be established under the provisions of this compact Subject to such conditions as the Commission may embody in its approval water for the development of power may be moved from the channel of the Delaware river and carried in a canal or in a pipe to any point below a dam constructed under the provisions of this article but said water shall be returned to the said channel within a distance of twelve miles below the point of removal measured along the center line of said channel and there shall always be maintained in the said channel immediately below the dam such regular and uniform flow of water as the Commission may determine to be reasonable and proper

ARTICLE XI

In connection with each and every development made under any provision of this compact there shall be installed and maintained all equipment and apparatus for measuring quantities and rates of water flow the determination of which may be necessary for the purpose of showing that the development or construction is being operated in compliance with the provisions of this compact

ARTICLE XII

In order to put and maintain the waters in the channel of the Delaware river in a condition sanitary and suitable for the uses and purposes set forth by this compact no sewage or industrial waste shall be discharged or permitted to flow into or be placed in or permitted to fall or move into the channel of the Delaware river or into any of its tributaries otherwise than under the following conditions and restrictions

(1) All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into the channel of the Delaware river above the confluence with the Lehigh river shall within a time reasonable for the construction of the necessary works have been so treated as to remove settleable solids to render the effluent non-putrescible and to effect a reasonable reduction of B Coli Communis

(2) All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into the channel of the Delaware river below the confluence with the Lehigh river shall within a time reasonable for the construction of the necessary works have been so treated as to at least remove settleable solids and shall be discharged through submerged outlets into said channel provided that such submerged outlets shall be located and constructed as may be required by the Commission and provided further that in order to protect the public health in specific instances such higher degree of treatment shall be used as may be determined to be necessary by the Commission after due notice and hearing

(3) All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into any tributary of the Delaware river except the Lehigh river shall be treated to that extent if any which may be necessary to maintain the water of such tributary immediaely above its confluence with the Delaware river in a sanitary condition at any time at least equal to the sanitary condition at such time of the water of the Delaware river immediately above such confluence

All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into the Lehigh river shall be treated to that extent if any which may be necessary to maintain the water of the Lehigh river immediately above its confluence with the Delaware river in that sanitary condition which the Commission after due notice and hearing shall have determined to be necessary because of the nature and extent of the use of the water of the Delaware river below such confluence provided however that the Commission may not require the sanitary condition of the Lehigh river immediately above its confluence with the Delaware river to exceed that of the sanitary condition of the Delaware river immediately above such confluence

(4) All industrial wastes discharged or permitted to flow into or be placed in or permitted to fall or move into the channel of the Delaware river or any tributary thereof shall first have been treated to such extent if any as may be necessary to maintain in the channel of the Delaware river sanitary conditions equivalent to those which would be attained by the treatment of sewage above required in this article provided nevertheless that industrial wastes containing substances likely in the judgment of the Commission to produce offensive tastes and odors in any public water supply from the channel of the Delaware river shall either be wholly prevented from being discharged or from flowing into from being placed in or permitted to fall or move into said channel or any tributary of the Delaware river or shall first have been treated to such an extent as to wholly eliminate such taste and odor producing constituents

This article shall become effective when any one of the signatory states or any holder of an authorization therefrom shall have begun the work of construction on any project under the provisions of this compact

Nothing in this article shall be construed to repeal or prevent the enactment of any legislation or the enforcement of any requirement by any signatory state imposing any additional conditions and restrictions to lessen or prevent the pollution of streams within their several jurisdictions

In order to maintain the water of any tributary immediately above its confluence with the channel of the Delaware river in a sanitary condition which will meet the requirements set forth in paragraphs (3) and (4) of this article the administrative determination and enforcement of the degree of treatment if any necessary to fulfill such requirements shall be made and undertaken by the proper officer or agent of the state wherein such tributary lies provided however that any other signatory state or any municipality citizen or resident thereof or property owner therein or any holder of any authorization therefrom under this compact shall nevertheless have full right either jointly or severally to sue for the enforcement of any and all of the provisions of this article and for the redress of any injuries which may have resulted by reason of a violation thereof

The beneficial effects of forest covered areas on the regularization of stream flow with attend greater potential use of streams for domestic industrial and navigation purposes and the greater stability of public ownership in management for the protection of forested drainage areas is clearly recognized and agreed to by the states party to this compact Each signatory state hereby adopts and will adhere to a policy covering the establishment and maintenance of an adequate forest cover on public and privately owned land in the drainage area of the Delaware river and in the maintenance of the highest practicable standards of protection from fire on these lands

ARTICLE XIV

All lands water-rights or easements necessary for the construction and maintenance of any dam in or across the channel of the Delaware river may with the approval of the Commission be appropriated and condemned by any signatory state or by the holder of authorization therefrom All damage resulting from the exercise of the right and power of condemnation conferred by this article shall be ascertained recovered and paid as provided by Article XV hereof

ARTICLE XV

All damage to persons or property resulting from the exercise of any rights under this compact shall be determined under the rule of damages in accordance with the procedure and in such manner as is provided by the law of the state in which the damages are suffered The damages suffered in the State of Pennsylvania shall be ascertained recovered and paid as provided by the forty-first section of the Act approved April twenty-ninth one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws seventy-three) and the amendments and supplements thereto The damages suffered in the State of New York or in the State of New Jersey shall be ascertained recovered and paid as provided by any general or other act applying thereto in effect at the time when the development is authorized The court or courts which have jurisdiction of the subject matter in the respective states shall have jurisdiction of the person of every party in interest for the purposes of notice summons and hearing throughout all three signatory states

ARTICLE XVI

Nothing herein contained shall be construed to abridge any riparian rights under the laws of the several states to the use of water from the channel of the Delaware river or from any of its tributaries except upon payment of just compensation to be ascertained and adjudged by due process of law

ARTICLE XVII

Nothing contained in this compact shall operate to impair any vested right of diversion or use of the waters of the Delaware river which may exist or have become vested at any time prior to the ratification hereof but the amount of water diverted under such vested right shall be charged against the allotment of the state under whose authority or jurisdiction said right became vested In each of the signatory states rights to divert or use the waters of the Delaware river or its tributaries together with properties necessary to effect the same though devoted to public use may be taken for any other public use higher in the order of importance as set forth in Article III provided that nothing in this article shall be construed to authorize the taking of vested rights or property without just compensation to be determined by due process of law governing such matters in the respective states

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

PRIVILEGE OF THE FLOOR EXTENDED TO HON. ROBT. A. STOFFLET.

Mr. PARKINSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House invite the Honorable Robt. A. Stofflet of Northampton County, a member in the 1923 House of Representatives, to address us for ten minutes.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. The Chair declares a recess for ten minutes to permit the Hon. Robt. A. Stofflet of Northampton County to address the House, and appoints the gentleman from Greene, Mr. Parkinson, to escort him to the rostrum.

AFTER RECESS.

The SPEAKER. The House will be in order.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Holtzman,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 51, entitled:

An Act to amend section ten of an act approved the twenty-seventh day of June, one thousand eigth hundred and ninety-five (P. L. 403), entitled "An act creating the office of county controller in counties of this Commonwealth containing one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants and over, prescribing his duties, and abolishing the office of county auditor in said counties," by changing the amount at which contracts must be advertised, in counties of the first, second, third, fourth and fifth classes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HOLTZMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, last line by striking out the word "first"

Amend sec. 1, page 2, line 7, by striking out the word "in"

Amend sec. 1, page 2, line 7, by striking out the word "first"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is the last call. Arrangements have been partly made for two private coaches to leave Harrisburg, that is for the members of the House and Senate to go to the inauguration, at seven o'clock Wednesday morning returning leaving Washington at six forty-five in the evening. The time was changed from five o'clock to six forty-five by reason that an invitation has been extended to all the members of the House to attend a reception given by Senator Reed at his home in Washington between four and six o'clock, that will give us time to attend the reception. There has been provided at the present time two coaches. There will be a diner on that train both going to and returning from Washington. Now, in order that there will be no one disappointed, arrangements have been made for every one who has stated his desire to go. We have as I have it forty members from the House and there are twelve from the Senate. Now if there are any more that want to go, the committee would like to hear from them some time this evening so that these arrangements can be completed. It is the hope that we are going to have the grandstand. Mr. Baker is endeavoring to arrange for us at the present time for grandstand seats at Washington. There should be a large representation especially due the fact that we have the privilege of paying our own fare. That fare will be $8.62 a round trip. That means a fare and one-half for the return trip and includes also chairs in the pullman both to Washington and return, making $8.62 both ways including chairs in the pullman. Now I might state too that the committee has agreed that inasmuch as we have the privilege of paying our own way that any members who have friends who they want to take along or any of the page boys of the Senate or House have the privilege of going along provided they let me know tonight who they are so that those arrangements can be made. I hope you will all give them to us tonight either Mr. Conner, Mr. Marcus or myself, the committee being present. Therefore, if you give us this information tonight we will be able to make those arrangements. We would like all the members of the House to go.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. LOTZ. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 292, file folio No. 1235, entitled:

A Supplement to an act, approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred eleven, (P. L. 1123), entitled, "An act establishing in each county a board of viewers; prescribing their duties; providing for their appointment as viewers, road juries, juries of view, and commissioners to view land; and providing for the charges upon the respective counties in the matter of salaries, costs, and expenses, thereof," as the same was amended and supplemented by subsequent acts, by providing for the compensation to be paid to the members of the board of viewers in counties of the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class.

was defeated on final passage on February 25th be reconsidered.

Mr. BAGSHAW. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. LOTZ. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 292, file folio 1235, was defeated on third reading, be reconsidered.

Mr. BAGSHAW. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. EDE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments wil be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend as follows: section 1, page 2, line 2, by striking out the words: "third", "fifth", "sixth", "seventh" and "eighth" and remove letter "s" from each of word classes amend title by striking out words third, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection?

The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I rise to ask whether the bill as amended now applies only to fourth class counties?

The SPEAKER. That is my understanding.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. VOLTZ.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 501, entitled:

An Act making it unlawful to give gratuitous fees or "tips"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. VOLTZ. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend title, line 1, by adding at the end thereof the following and providing a penalty for the violation of the provisions of this act

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The bil having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Edmonds.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 504 (Senate Bill No. 17), entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph one of section eight of an act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (P. L. 212), entitled "An act to establish an intermediate court of appeal regulating its constitution officers jurisdiction powers practice and its relation to the Supreme Court and other courts providing for the reports of its decisions the compensation of the judges and other officers and the practice and costs on appeals from its judgments" eliminating the exception prohibiting said court from enforcing any short or hour list,

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

hereby declared as a legislative intent that this law would have been enacted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included therein

Section 14 That the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred and forty-four) entitled "An act authorizing the establishment by counties of hospitals for the treatment of persons afflicted with tuberculosis providing for the management and maintenance thereof and authorizing the incurring of indebtedness and the levy of taxes therefor" and its amendments and supplements and all laws or parts of laws inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Marshall, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, there seems to be some misunderstanding about this bill. Will the gentleman explain the purpose of the bill.

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill to which Mr. Alexander refers is the one on top of page 10 of today's calendar. This bill is intended to take the place of a bill that was passed in 1921 and amended in 1923, which has since been declared unconstitutional. The act of May 20, 1921, P. L. 944, as amended by the act of 1923, P. L. 52, provided for the establishment of tuberculosis hospitals in counties where the electorate voted to do so, but both amended acts provided that the court of common pleas in any county where the hospital was etsablished should appoint a board of trustees consisting of five persons. This board was authorized and empowered to do most everything connected with the management of this hospital. Several counties in the State voted to establish hospitals, and some of them have their institutions completed and are operative.

A question arose as to the constitutionality of these acts, because of the fact that the act delegated to a board of trustees appointed by the court municipal powers which under the constitution are vested in a board of commissioners. A test case was taken to one of the courts and the court held that it was unconstitutional, because it violated Article III, Section 20, of the Consittution of Pennsylvania. This section provides that "The General Assembly shall not delegate to any special commission, private corporation or association, any power to make, supervise or interfere with any municipal improvement, money, property or effects, whether held in trust or otherwise, or to levy taxes or perform any municipal functions whatsoever."

The acts of assembly which have been declared unconstitutional delegated to this board of trustees the municipal functions which under the Constitution were vesed in the county commissioners. The result of this decision is, that we have on our statute books two acts of assembly which have been declared unconstitutional, and we have established and are operating in various counties of this State tuberculosis hospital which we have no authority to operate. The present act is intended to take the place of the two acts which I have referred to, and instead of delegating this power to the board of trustees it merely authorizes the court of common pleas in the various counties to appoint a board of trustees to act in an advisory capacity only. The real municipal functions are still vested in the county commisioners, and if this act is not passed, ladies and gentlemen, we will have no law on our statute books under which these institutions which have already been built and completed, and are filled with tuberculosis patients can be operated.

I wish to say further, that the provisions of the act which you are asked to vote upon at this time does not compel to build or construct a tuberculosis hospital. It just authorizes the authorities in counties upon the application or petition of so many citizens to submit the question to the electorate of a county, and if they vote in favor of a hospital then the proper authorities are required to construct the same as has already been done under two previous acts which have been declared unconstitutional, but it does not contain any requirement or impose any duty on any county to build a hospital that does not already have one.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman further.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MARSHALL. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. As I see this bill, it has no where in it a provision whereby the commissioners of a county can condemn land for hospital purposes.

Mr. MARSHALL. You say it does not?

Mr. ALEXANLER. That is true, isn't it?

Mr. MARSHALL. It has a provision for that.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Has a provision for the condemnation? Where is that?

Mr. MARSHALL. Section 2, line 4, covers that question.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, as far as the provisions of this bill are concerned, except in section 2, perhaps following the legislation on this subject heretofore, this bill is all right. However, when we give the commissioners of the county the power to condemn land for hospital purposes, especially a tuberculosis hospital, it is a dangerous provision to put in any bill. It is all right for the counties which have land suitable for these hospitals, but when we come down near Philadelphia, and in the populated districts like Delaware, Montgomery, Bucks and Berks, it isn't every person who has a nice homestead which he has purchased for the purpose of making it his home who wants a tuberculosis hospital stuck up under his nose, and when you give the condemnation proceedings to the board of commissioners of a county you or your neighbors have nothing to say whether or not that hospital shall be in your yard or where it shall be. They can come and take one of the best sites that you have,and erect there on a tuberculosis hospital. We have this trouble right in Delaware County at the present time. There isn't a person in Delaware County who wants to sell to the county commissioners a tract of land upon which to build a tuberculosis hospital. Many of you people know the residential section surrounding Philadelphia; many of you have friends in Philadelphia that have moved out there for the purpose of making that their home, both in Montgomery and Delaware Counties. And yet you are taking away from them and giving the right of condemnation. I want to show you what the right of condemnation is. It is an extraordinary right that is given for some purpose. For instance, it was known years ago that when a great enterprise like a railroad was intended to be erected from one metropolis to another that owners of property along that railroad could easily block that enterprise, and therefore, the right of eminent domain or the right of condemnation was given for that purpose, so that a great improvement to he traveling public would not be blocked by some mercenary interest. But it will not do for us, as members of this Legislature to extend that right any further than we possibly have to extend it, and now to extend that right of condemnation to a hospital for tubercular purposes, especially in about one-half of the counties of the State, the eastern district of the State particularly, where there is no place for tubercular hospitals; they should be taken off somewhere to higher land with a higher temperature. It is not proper, in my mind, to vote away a man's homestead just so a few individuals can be benefitted by a tubercular hospital thereon. For that reason I intend to vote against this bill.

Mr. EACHES. Mr. Speaker, I should like to correct the statement of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Alexander, as stated with reference to the county of Berks. We have a tuberculosis hospital in Reading situated on the mountain spread, and they are very glad that they have the means to carry on that hospital.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Berks misunderstood me. The location he speaks of for a tuberculosis hospital is fine. That was not done by condemnation proceedings. I referred to the county of Berks because it was in close proximity to Delaware County, but Bucks would have come nearer to it, likewise Montgomery and Northampton. Northampton has some high land but in a district like Chester County, Montgomery, Delaware and Bucks, residential sections have no place that would be proper for a tubercular hospital. In our own county not even the people who voted for the hospital want the hospital built on their land. We have not been able to buy a location, and my objection to this bill is that it gives the right to the commissioners to condemn any land they see fit for the purpose of building this hospital.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker in answer to the gentleman from Delaware County permits me to state that there is a check upon the county commissioners provided in this bill, to wit, section 2, which provides that a majority of the electorate must vote upon the question of erecting such a hospital. In order for Delaware, Montgomery and Bucks to have hospital, before the commissioners of these counties can condemn land it is necessary for the electorate of these counties, a majority of the electorate to vote to have the hospital in their counties. I think that answers the gentleman from Delaware that there is a check upon the county commissioners.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I will give the instance first where in the county of Delaware a majority of votes in favor of this hospital, there is nothing in this bill to prevent the commissioners from condemning the best building sites in that county for this hospital, is that not true?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. That is true.

Mr. ALEXANDER. What is there in this bill to prevent the county commissioners from going to within a mile of the city of Philadelphia in Delaware County, where land is worth considerable money and condemning the best piece of land in that vicinity?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. There is absolutely nothing in the bill to prevent it except the good sense of the elected commissioners of Delaware County. In our county we rely upon the discretion of the county commissioners.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Has Schuylkill County a hospital?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. They voted for a hospital but when the case was brought into our court the act was declared unconstitutional.

Mr. ALEXANDER. There is nothing unconstitutional about building a hospital.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. When they attempted to build the hospital they found the existing law was unconstitutional.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. WELLS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WELLS. In a recent issue of the Pittsburgh Post, March 1, 1925, there appears an article which starts out as follows:

"All unknown to the sportsmen, with every indication of an attempt to put it through the Legislature on the sly, there is a bill before the Assembly which designs to put the members of the Pennsylvania Game Commission on a salary.

"It is House Bill No. 231, introduced by Wells of Potter County, and provides that "the game fund" shall be held apart for, among other things, the payment "of the salaries, wages or other compensation and traveling and other expenses of the members and officers of the Board of Game Commissioners, etc."

"This unheralded bill, was made public only by accident."

In yesterday's issue of the Philadelphia Inquirer there was a similar attack on the bill.

I want to say for the benefit of the members who passed this bill that the bill was one which was handed me by the Secretary of the Game Commission, Mr. Gordon. As to the clause referred to, evidently, in this article, Mr. Gordon explains to me that it was only intended to follow the language of the Administrative Code; that no intention of creating salaries of the Game Commission was in any way contemplated in this bill. In the Game Code of 1923, section 201, P. L. 359, there is a clause that members of the board shall receive no compensation for their services. section 209 of the Administrative Code, P. L. 498, 1923, reads as follows: "Members of the Game Commission and the Board of Fish Commissioners shall not receive any compensation."

In fairness to the members of the Game Commission, I thought that it was my duty to rise at this time to a question of personal privilege. In a talk with Mr. Gordon only a few moments ago he stated that if there was any question, or if this bill could be construed in any way to provide for salaries for the Game Commission, that he would ask for an amendment to the bill in the Senate where it now is. I thank you.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's remarks will be spread upon the Journal.

ADJOURNMENT.

Miss GRIMES. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11:27 o'clock P. M.) the House adjourned until Tuesday, March 3, 1925, at 10:30 o'clock A. M.

SENATE

TUESDAY, March 3rd, 1925.

The Senate met at 10:30 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE, (Mr. John G. Homsher) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

O Lord: At this time we ask Thy special blessing to rest upon the President of the United States. On the morrow he will be inducted into office for another term, and may the divine benediction be granted him! We thank Thee that the Chief Executive of this great Nation is a God-fearing man, and through the days to come may he increasingly take Thee into his counsels and be guided from on high. Give to him wisdom and strength and courage and faith, and in his thinking and acting may right bulk more largely than mere policy. May his life be protected, and under his leadership may the coming four years be the best, in every way, that our beloved America has ever known.

We ask it in the Master's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. DAVIS, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I wish leave to extend my remarks by having printed in the Journal this paper.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears none.

ADDRESS BEFORE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS FEBRUARY 27th.

IF YOU WERE SENATORS.

The judge is a man learned in the law, a man of education, a man of maturity and experience. The governor is a man of wide knowledge and experience. The legislator may be or he may not be such a man. According to poular belief he is not such a man. In our sharply separated grand divisions of representative government, the judicial wins the greatest respect, the executive wins our greater respect and away down at the bottom stands the black sheep of the family.

We have come to expect sloppy weather in government even in Washington. Frosts and hot air. We must blame somebody, so we blame the law makers. The Legislature may be described in the language of the hour as an animal with a strong smell in four letters and whether you spell him up and down or across, it is G O A T.

"General Assembly" well describes the meeting of the peoples' representatives. The Assembly is a cross section of the people of the State. There are fifty men in the State, representing nine millions of people. If you examine the list of Senators, you will find there are seventeen lawyers, nine merchants or manufacturers, five bankers, two editors, two realtors, one doctor, one retired, one senator, one movie magnate, one plumber, one contractor and one housewife.

If you were the State Senate, let us see what would happen to you. Every Monday afternoon you would leave your happy homes for Harrisburg. If you were rich enough to live at the best hotel (which is very good), you would find a congenial party for dinner. If you were a good mixer, it would be Emily and Sallie and Lucy and Flora around the table. You would discuss every possible subject in heaven or on earth excepting politics. That is, if you were wise politicians. Politicians are accomplished conversationalists in general company unless you introduce politics, when they are apt to become a bit silent.

After dinner you would stroll across the lobby to Mr. Harry's cigar stand and buy enough tobacco to stimulate you through the evening. You would then add your voice to the buzz of talk that underlies the cloud of tobacco smoke in the lobby. If the group is small enough, it may be a real political conversation, but always in the best of humor.

From the Penn Harris reception you would go to the Senate Chamber for another reception. There you would hear the very latest news, you would find on your desk reports and circulars which you dimly expect to read some other time. A page boy would offer to open your mail for you. After the first week you wish there was no mail.

About 9:30 the able Secretary of the Senate would warn all visitors outside the sacred brass rail. The President would inform the world that it is only nine o'clock and the Senate will be in order. After three smart raps of the gavel every one silently and respectfully would stand up for the opening prayer. The Chaplain would probably tell Almighty God about Lincoln or Washington and hope that we may all turn out as well. Immediately after the prayer several Senators would be excused for absence on account of illness in the family. It is remarkable how frail in health Senatorial families are.

Committee reports and floods of bills. There are now 41728 laws on our books and twelve hundred bills introduced. "Bills on third reading" would remind you unpleasantly that you had not read all the bills on final passage. You must do the best you can do be wise upon a multiplicity and diversity of subjects:

10% Collateral inheritance tax

State printing in the penitentiary

Special funds

Highways, Education, Game & Fish bills

Shall the milk be sold in bottles?

Shall Delaware water be apportioned to N. Y., Pa., N. J. If your name begins with B, you would have to know how to vote; if your name begins with W, you might make up your mind during roll call.

I would like to continue the picture into Tuesday and Wednesday. I would like to tell you my most unfavorable opinion of Special Funds. I would like to tell you some reasons for amending the Forestry loan. I would like to tell you the story of my jury bill, which illustrates the duties of a legislator and proves that the job is College Professor, plus bell hop.

When you lead the double life of Senator and common everyday citizen and ask my advice, I will advise you not to try to read every bill, but to try to know everything about something and something about some of the thousand bills. If you wish to be independent you will be wise to find someone to read your mail for you and say nothing about most of it.

The real wonder is that legislation does, after awhile, generally come out right. There is much voting from prejudice begotten by ignorance. Our Legislative Reference Bureau is a life saver. Some of us are trying to set up in it a bureau of information to provide knowledge of bills pending in tabloid form, to overcome ignorant voting. If there were more exact konwledge on these varied and technical bills that confront us, if we would minimize the theory that we are the attorneys of our constituents and maximize the theory that we represent the people best when we have convictions based on knowledge, and, above all, when we have the courage of our convictions, then and not until then will the black sheep grow whiter and the legislative branch assume the place intended for it by the makers of our Constitution.

In spite of his faults, I greatly admire the politician. Some day some one will worthily sing his praise. I wish some of my rich friends who are so much accustomed to having their own way would sit in a legislative body. They would have an intensive course in several virtues: humility, unselfishness, politeness, to be a mixer, optimism, loyalty, tolerance, patience and energy. These are some of the virtues of politicians. Their one besetting sin is a lack of courage. I can say with all sincerity I count it an honor to be a politican and office holder. I count it a real pleasure to meet each week the many attractive men of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 307, as follows:

An Act to amend sections six nine eleven twenty-eight thirty and forty of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and seven) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents of rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section six of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and seven) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and for claims of municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 6 Where any real estate in this Commonwealth is owned by joint tenants tenants in common or coparceners and any joint tenant or tenant in common or coparcener has paid his or their proportionate amount of the taxes due thereon any municipality may file a claim for the unpaid taxes against the estate title and interest of the owner or owners who have not paid his her or their proportionate share of the tax Whenever a claim for taxes shall have been filed against real estate owned by joint tenants tenants in common or coparceners the claimant shall release the estate title and interest of any joint tenant tenant in common or coparcener from said tax claim upon payment by said joint tenant tenant in common or coparcener of his her or its proportionate share of the taxes included therein with proportionate interest and costs when any property in this Commonwealth is owned by more than one owner or part owner and the estate and title of any owner or part owner is either exempt from taxation or municipal claims or has not been subjected by law to taxation or municipal claims the estate and title of such owner or owners as may not be exempt from taxation or municipal claims or has (not) been subjected thereto shall be subject to the tax and municipal claims provided for in this act as any other real property liable to assessment for taxes and municipal claims the lien being filed against all the estate title and interest of the owner or owners subject to the claim

Section 9 Claims for taxes water rents or rates lighting rates and sewer rates must be filed in the court of commmon pleas of the county in which the property is situated on or before the last day of the third calendar year after that in which the taxes or rates are first payable and other municipal claims must be filed in said court within six months from the time the work was done in front of the particular property where the charge against the property is assessed or made at the time the work is authorized within six months after the completion of the improvement where the assessment is made by the municipality upon all the properties after the completion of the improvement and within six months after the confirmation by the court where confirmation is required the certificate of the surveyor engineer or other officer supervising the improvement filed in the proper office being conclusive of the time of completion thereof but he being personally liable to anyone injured by any false statement therein In case the real estate benefited by the improvement is sold before the municipal claim is filed the date of completion in said certificate shall determine the liability for the payment of the claim as between buyer and seller unless otherwise agreed upon or as above set forth The legal rate of interest shall be collectible on all municipal claims from the date of the completion of the work

A number of years' taxes or rates of different kinds if payable to the same plaintiff may be included in one claim Municipal claims shall likewise be filed within said period where any appeal is taken from the assessment for the recovery of which such municipal claim is filed In such case the lien filed shall be in the form hereinafter provided except that it shall set forth the amount of the claim as an undetermined amount the amount thereof to be determined by the appeal taken from the assessment upon which such municipal claim is based pending in a certain court (referring to the court and the proceeding where such appeal is pending) Upon the filing of such municipal claim the claim shall be indexed by the prothonotary upon the judgment index and upon the locality index of the court and the amount of the claim set forth therein as an undetermined amount

If final judgment is not obtained upon such appeal within five years from the filing of such municipal claim the claimant in the lien shall within such period of five years file a suggestion of nonpayment in the form hereinafter set forth which shall have the effect of continuing the lien thereof for a further period of five years from the date of filing such suggestion Such municipal claim shall be revived in a similar manner during each recurring period of five years thereafter until final judgment is entered upon said appeal and the undetermined amount of such municipal claim is fixed in the manner hereinafter provided

When the final judgment is obtained upon such appeal the court in which said municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed in such claim at the amount determined by the final judgment upon said appeal which shall bear interest from the date of the verdict upon which final judgment was entered and thereafter the amount of said claim shall be the sum thus fixed Proceedings upon said municipal claim thereafter shall be as in other cases

Where on final judgment upon said appeal it appears that no amount is due upon the assessment for the recovery of which such claim is filed the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order striking such municipal claim from the record and charge the costs upon such claim to the plaintiff in the claim filed

Where such appeal is discontinued the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed at the amount of the original assessment which shall bear interest from the date that such assessment was originally payable and thereafter the amount of such claim shall be the sum thus fixed

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 381, as follows:

An Act authorizing the Auditor General State Treasurer and Secretary of Internal Affairs without the approval of the Attorney General to employ attorneys to conduct the legal affairs of their respective departments prescribing their powers and duties and providing for their compensation

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Auditor General State Treasurer and Secretary of Internal Affairs are hereby authorized and empowered without the consent of the Attorney General to employ such persons learned in the law as are necessary to conduct the legal business of their respective departments and to fix their compensation

Section 2 The persons so appointed shall subject to the direction of the officer appointing them and without the authority or consent of the Attorney General (a) furnish legal advice to said officer concerning any matter or thing arising in connection with the exercise of the official powers or the perfomance of the official duties of his department (b) supervise direct and control all of the legal business of said department (c) collect by suit or otherwise all debts taxes and accounts due the Commonwealth and payable to said department (d) represent the Commonwealth or said department or officer in any litigation to which the Commonwealth through such department or such department or officer may be a party or in which the Commonwealth through such department or such department or officer is permitted or required by law to intervene or implead (e) investigate any violations or alleged violations of the laws of the Commonwealth which said department or officer is required to enforce and which may come to its notice and (f) take such steps and adopt such means as may be reasonably necessary to enforce the laws of the Commonwealth which said department or officer is required to enforce

Section 3 This act does not effect nor in any wise repeal any of the provisions of the act approved the twelfth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws sixty-three) entitled "An act to amend an act approved June fifteenth one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred and fifty-five) entitled 'An act making State taxes unpaid bonus interest penalties and all public accounts a first lien upon the franchise and property of corporations companies associations joint-stock associations and limited partnerships against which the same may be settled providing for enforcing the payment thereof and for the furnishing of certificates as to the existence of such liens upon application thereof and repealing section four of the act approved April sixteenth one thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven' by providing for the employment of counsel fixing such counsels' commissions and giving such commissions and costs the same priority and liens as such taxes bonus interests penalties and public accounts"

Section 4 Section nine hundred and one nine hundred and two nine hundred and three and nine hundred and four of an act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws four hundred ninety-eight) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and certain existing and certain new administrative departments boards commissions and officers abolishing combining changing the names of reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments

All other acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, if this bill passes it will change the law of Pennsylvania as it existed prior to the Declaration of Independence.

The first Attorney General of Pennsylvania was commissioned in 1686. There was no statute of the province which authorized the appointment of an Attorney General. The office was brought here from England and it came into existence as a matter of course.

The office became a constitutional office for the first time in 1873.

The powers of the Attorney General prior to the Act of June 7th, 1915, were derived from the common law. The Act of June 7th, 1915, which was prepared by Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown did not change but merely stated in statutory form the law as it previously existed.

This was distinctly ruled by Mr. Justice Simpson in the recent case of Commonwealth against Lewis. Mr. Justice Simpson said:

> "If existing legislation and prior practice make the Auditor General and State Treasurer 'the watchmen of the treasury' * * * * so also they make the Attorney General the legal adviser of the State. and of all its executive departments, for this has always been his common law, and therefore his 'customary' duty."

The Administrative Code did not in any way change the previous law bue merely re-enacted the act prepared by Attorney General Brown in 1915.

If the bill now before the Senate passes it will change the status of the Attorney General in this State as it has existed for over two hundred years.

This bill is not necessary. There has been no evidence that the Attorney General will not conscientiously and carefully advise the elective officers of the executive department as well as those officers who are appointed. The fact that the Attorney General is an appointive officer and the Auditor General, State Treasurer and Secretary of Internal Affairs are elective has nothing to do with the merits of this bill. As Mr. Justice Simpson said in Commonwealth vs. Lewis:

> "The Auditor General like the Attorney General is made part of the executive department of the state government, of which the Governor is 'the supreme executive power' ".

It would be absurd for this Legislature to provide that not only must the various appointive officers obtain the advice of the Attorney General with regard to the construction of statutes but also the advice of attorneys representing both the Auditor General and the State Treasurer. In the event of a disagreement between these three sets of attorneys, the business of the state would come to a halt until the courts could determine which of the contending legal advisors was right. As Mr. Justice Simpson said:

> "State creditors, like all others, are entitled to have 'right and justice administered to them without sale, denial and delay', and that harmony may reign, where discord seems now to prevail"—

The Auditor General is opposed to the passage of the present bill and as so stated through the public press there is therefore no occasion whatever for the passage of the bill.

Mr. President, I would ask that these papers be printed in the Journal as a part of my remarks.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF PENNSYLVANIA FOR THE MIDDLE DISTRICT.

Getulio Piccirilli, Attilli Piccirilli, Furia Piccirilli, Feruccio Piccirilli, Horace Piccirilli and Momas Piccirilli, trading as Piccirilli Brothers, vs. Samuel S. Lewis, Auditor General of Pennsylvania, and Charles A. Snyder, State Treasurer of Pennsylvania, Appellants.

No. 11, May Term, 1925. Appeal from a Judgment of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, Commonwealth Docket 1924, No. 63.

OPINION OF THE COURT.

SIMPSON, J. In their appeal from the judgment in this mandamus suit, the Auditor General and State Treasurer allege the court below committed three errors: (1) in striking from the record the appearance of private counsel for them; (2) in dismissing the State Treasurer's application to quash the alternative mandamus, so far as he was concerned, because it was not alleged he had been guilty of any neglect of duty; and (3) in awarding a peremptory mandamus directing the Auditor General to examine, adjust, settle and enter upon his books, the claim of plaintiffs, and, if "found correct and the plaintiffs entitled to the said money ($13,387.20), to draw his warrant upon the State Treasurer for the amount of said claim," as well as directing the latter "to examine said claim and settlement thereof, and if approved by him, to pay the said warrant when so issued."

The judgment just quoted raises the main question in the case, and the relevant facts regarding it are as follows: The Legislature created The Meade Memorial Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, charged with the duty of erecting a memorial statue to General George Gordon Meade.

Several appropriations were made for the purpose, inter alia, of constructing the statue, without making them to the commission by name, but the final one (App. Acts 1921, page 275) was "to The Meade Memorial Commission * * * for the purpose of constructing the necessary foundation and pedestal, in securing appropriate tablets and designs therefor, and for the erection, completion and dedication of said statue or memorial." The commission duly contracted with plaintiffs to construct the pedestal, base and platform; they performed the work, became and still are entitled to be paid for it in some form of proceeding, and there is an ample fund, appropriated and on hand, to pay them. Pending the completion of the work, however, the Administrative Code of June 7, 1923, P. L. 498, was passed. By it the commission was abolished, but it expressly stated that the work should go on, and did not give the slightest hint that it was intended the appropriations should lapse, or should not be available for the payment of the work when completed. On the contrary, it provided (Section 2101) that "the Department of Property and Supplies (then created) shall exercise the powers and perform the duties heretofore exercised and performed" by the commission, and (Section 3) that "all rights, powers, and duties, which have hertofore been vested in, exercised by, or imposed upon any * * * commission * * * abolished by this act * * * and which are by this act transferred, either in whole or in part, to a department, board, or commission created by this act, shall be vested in, exercised by, and imposed upon the department, board, or commission to which the same are transferred by this act, and not otherwise; and every act done in the exercise of such rights or powers and the performance of such duties shall have the same legal effect as if done by the former officer, board, commission * * * or department. * * * Every person or corporation shall be subject to the same obligation and duties, and shall have the same rights arising from the exercise of such rights or powers or in the performance of such duties, as if such rights or powers had been exercised or such duties performed by the officer, board, commission * * * or department * * * designated in the respective laws which are to be administered by departments, boards, or commissions created by this act." It was further provided (Section 9) that "All existing contracts and obligations of the * * * commissions * * * abolished by this act shall remain in full force and effect, and shall be performed by the departments * * * to which the rights, powers, duties, and obligations of such governmental * * * commissions * * * are transferred"; and (Section 223) that "All salaries and other compensation, payable under the provisions of this act, shall be paid out of the State Treasury upon the warrant of the Auditor General drawn upon the State Treasurer. The Auditor General shall draw warrants for salaries or other compensation upon requisition of the head of the proper department * * * . All warrants for the payment of salaries, compensation, or other disbursements * * * shall be drawn upon requisition of the head of the department" * * * .

From time to time, both as plaintiffs' work proceeded and when it was completed, requisitions in their favor were issued by the Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies, for the payment of the amounts due under the contract; one of the requisitions was presented to the Auditor General, who refused to settle the account, solely because the appropriations had not been made to that particular newly-created department, or formally transferred by the legislature to it. It was alleged in the return to the alternative writ, and repeated here, that the prior legislative practice always had been to make appropriations to some department, board or commission by name, though three of the four appropriations for this work were not so made; and also that the practice of the Auditor General's Department had been not to honor requisitions drawn against appropriations, unless signed by the proper officer of the department, board or commission to which they had been expressly made,—which would mean, in this case, by the secretary of the abolished commission.

We are not concerned with the previous legislative practice, however, if there was one (of which we have not been advised), in cases where admittedly valid powers and duties, including the right to carry on work already begun and to requisition for its payment, have been transferred from one executive department to another; since such practice is not controlled by any constitutional provision, it may be altered by the legislature whensoever desired; Comm. ex rel. v. Gregg, 161 Pa. 582. The provision of Article III, section 16, of the Constitution that "No money shall be paid out of the treasury, except upon appropriations made by law, and on warrant by the proper officer in pursuance thereof," relied on by appellants, does not aid them, and no other constitutional provision has any bearing on the subject. The proper officer to draw the warrant, under that section, is admittedly the Auditor General himself, and the mandamus here is to compel him to perform his duty in this respect. Admittedly also, these were "appropriations made by law", and hence when the Auditor General draws his warrant by virtue of the Administrative Code, he does it "in pursuance" of "appropriations made by law." It is for the legislature to say how, if at all, its appropriations shall be transferred from one department, board or commission to another, when a merger takes place, and no one can successfully challenge its manner of exercising such power. The broad language quoted above, whereby the rights, powers, duties and obligations of the commission were transferred to the Department of Property and Supplies, followed by the distinct requirement that the latter shall complete the statue to General Meade, necessarily resulted in transferring to the Department the appropriations which had been made to the commission, to be used by the former in carrying out the legislative purpose named in the original appropriating statutes, and to be requisited by the proper officer of the Department, just as but for the merger, would have been done by a similar officer of the commission.

If the prior practice in the Auditor General's Department has been as stated, it must be changed to conform to the altered conditions provided by the Administrative Code. Any other conclusion would make the Auditor General's fiat as effective as a constitutional mandate, and compel the Legislature to comply with it, in matters properly within legislative control, instead of requiring the Auditor General to conform to the provisions of constitutional statutes.

The objection by the State Treasurer that no relief should have been granted against him, because he had not failed in the performance of any duty, is exactly the point made by his predecessor in Comm. v. Powell, 249 Pa. 144, 151, and must be overruled here, as it was there, for the reason then given: "That the Auditor General and State Treasurer were under the circumstances properly joined as defendants cannot be seriously questioned. The purpose is to compel the performance of an official duty which requires successive but interdependent action by the two officers. Unless they are joined, the relator will have no effective writ. The principle which authorizes such joinder is thoroughly justified." It follows that the return to the alternative writ sets forth no legal reason why appellants should not proceed to examine, adjust and settle plaintiffs' account, and the State Treasurer to pay it, if the money specified in the requisition is due and owing to them.

Was the court below right in striking from the record the names of private counsel for appellants? It will be noticed that the ultimate result sought is the payment, out of State funds, of moneys due to plaintiffs. Consequently the State is the real defendant, although necessarily the proceedings were taken against the State officers required to examine, adjust, settle and pay, from those moneys, whatever amount is found to be legally due to plaintiffs. Under such circumstances, no reason exists—certainly no constitutional one is shown—why the State should not appear therein by her own legal representative, or some one selected by him under statutory authority; and so the Administrative Code expressly provides. We have quoted at length, in the opinion filed herewith, in Comm. ex rel. Att'y. General v. Lewis, Auditor General, the relevant provisions of that Code, and they need not be repeated herein. It suffices that section 509 makes it unlawful for any department or officer to employ any attorney to represent such department or officer "in any matter or thing relating to the public business, * * * without the approval in writing of the Attorney General;" and section 903 (b) makes it his power and duty "to represent the Commonwealth, or any department * * * or officer thereof, in any litigation to which the Commonwealth or such department * * * or officer may be a party."

It is not claimed that the Attorney General ever consented to the appointment of private counsel in this proceeding, nor is it alleged that appellants have any personal interest therein. It is only because, as they say, they are the "watchmen of the treasury," that they claim to be entitled to be represented by private counsel. But, since they are thus made by statute, as pointed out in the case last referred to, the authority that can pass the statute can repeal or modify it; hence, if we were to assume (though in fact our views are to the contrary) that the power conferred upon appellants by earlier acts of assembly would have justified them in employing private counsel in governmental matters, nevertheless by the Administrative Code that power is taken away in cases like the present, and hence the court below properly struck their names from its records.

Of course, appellants may, at their own expense, employ private counsel to present their views on the governmental matters with which they are particularly acquainted, or in which they are interested; and any court will be glad to receive such aid. Our Rule 1 gives that right in this court, without the necessity of applying for leave so to do. Such counsel cannot appear of record for appellants, in their official capacities in governmental matters, however, unless with the authority of the Attorney General; for, if this were allowed, such counsel might discontinue or otherwise control the proceedings. We have neither the inclination nor the authority to override the legislative mandate that, in suits of the character of the one before us, only the Attorney General, or his appointee, shall act for the State. True, this may result, as it does in the present instance, in the Attorney General nominally representing appellants, but in reality the State, in a matter in which he has already decided the question involved against appellants' views. As already stated, this is a subject for the legislature, since all three officials are but representatives of the State, and doubtless will receive due consideration from that body if the future reveals, as this case does not, that the State needs protection from its official adviser.

In this court, the Attorney General, continuing his purpose to compel obedience to the statute, filed a petition and moved that the appearance of record of private counsel for appellants in this court be striken off; a rule to show cause was granted, an answer was filed and decision reserved until the case was determined on the merits. What we have already said would be conclusive of this matter also, but for the desire of appellants to have us determine whether or not the court below erred in striking from its records the appearance of private counsel. It would be little short of farcical to decide that the attorney general should represent defendants on so much of their appeal as challenges the accuracy of this ruling, especially as it was made at his request. They were entitled to have the decision of the court below on that point reviewed by us, without interference from any source, and to be represented by their own counsel in obtaining it.

The rule to strike from the record the names of private counsel for appellants is discharged, and the judgment of the court below is affirmed.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF PENNSYLVANIA FOR THE MIDDLE DISTRICT.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. George W. Woodruff, Attorney General, v. Samuel S. Lewis, Auditor General of Pennsylvania, Appellant.	No. 12, May Term, 1925, Appeal from a judgment of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, Commonwealth Docket 1924, No. 70.

OPINION OF THE COURT.

SIMPSON, J. The Commonwealth, by its Attorney General, filed in the court below, a petition alleging that the proper heads of several departments of the State government had sent to the Auditor General, the defendant named in the proceedings, a number of requisitions for the payment, from legal appropriations, of certain lawfully incurred obligations due to creditors and employees of the State; that defendant had "failed and refused to settle and authorize (their) payment * * * (or) to enter the same in his books and to submit them to the State Treasurer for revision and approbation", giving as his reason that "the payments requested by said requisitions (were) unlawful; that in each of the instances (referred to) a legal difficulty or dispute has arisen between the defendant and the department whose requisition the defendant has refused to approve", which difficulties "it is the defendant's duty to refer to the Department of Justice, and upon being advised * * * regarding such legal difficulties to follow the advice of that department"; that the several department heads, the Attorney General and the Governor each "frequently requested the defendant to submit the legal difficulties, which the defendant alleges prevent him from approving said requisitions, to the Department of Justice for advice, (that department being ready and willing to give it) and to follow the advice * * * when received; * * * and that until the questions raised by the conflicting views of the said heads of departments and of the defendant are decided, the business of the said departments cannot be properly conducted", and much difficulty has resulted and financial loss may result therefrom. The petition prayed "that a peremptory mandamus may issue * * * commanding the said Samuel S. Lewis, Auditor General, to refer to the Department of Justice the legal difficulties which he alleges prevent him from approving the requisitions * * * and to follow the advice given him in said matters by the Department of Justice according to law."

The Auditor General filed a demurrer which, after argument, was overruled by the court below, and a decree was entered "that a writ of peremptory mandamus be now issued commanding the said Samuel S. Lewis, Auditor General, to refer to the Department of Justice, the legal difficulties or disputes mentioned in the petition of the relator and to follow the advice he may receive from the said department, unless the constitutionality of a statute or part thereof, affecting his official duty, is involved." Without further proceedings in the court below, the Auditor General prosecuted the present appeal. Inasmuch as this litigation does not refer to any constitutional duty of the defendant, it follows that the single point we are called upon to decide is: Whether or not the Auditor General is required, in the performance of his statutory duties, to refer to the Department of Justice disputes between him and other branches of the State government, and to follow the advice received from that department, unless those matters involve the constitutionality of any statue, or part thereof. In so far as our opinion goes beyond this restricted inquiry, it does so at the request of the litigants, in order that similar difficulties may be avoided, that State creditors, like all others, may have "right and justice administered (to them) without sale, denial or delay", and that harmony may reign where discord seems now to prevail.

Admittedly the solution of the question stated depends upon the constitutionality and true construction of sections 509, 902 and 903 of the Administrative Code of June 7, 1923, P. L. 498. In determining their constitutionality, it is a matter of no moment that they may seriously change the powers and duties of the Auditor General, as given and imposed prior to the adoption of the Constitution of 1873, which, for the first time, made the office a constitutional one. As stated in Comm. ex rel. Bell v. Powell, 249 Pa. 144, 158, in relation to both the Auditor General and State Treasurer: "While these officers are named in the Constitution, yet their duties are not therein defined. That was left to the Legislature. That body did define the duties of these officers, prior to the present Constitution, in the Act of March 30, 1811, 5 Sm. L. 228, and it is suggested that in adopting the present Constitution the continuance of those duties was contemplated. It must be admitted, however, that as the Legislature originally prescribed those duties, it has power to alter them; and an act making such alteration cannot for that reason be held to be unconstitutional." The general language in the first sentence above-quoted must, of course, be limited to classes of cases not within the purview of article III, section 12, of the Constitution, where express duties are imposed upon both of those officers, so far as concerns contracts for the "stationery, printing, paper and fuel used in the legislative and other departments of government * * * and the printing, binding and distributing of the laws, journals, department reports, and all other printing and binding, and the repairing and furnishing the halls and rooms used for the meetings of the General Assembly and its committees." The present requisitions do not refer to any of these matters, however, and hence this provision is only important in so far as the maxim expressio unius est exclusio alterius may call upon the courts to say that the enumeration of those duties operates to exclude the idea that the people, in adopting the Constitution, intended that any others should be beyond legislative control: Comm. v. Moir, 199 Pa. 534, 557; Provident Life & Trust Co. v. Kiemmer, 257 Pa. 91. It is, perhaps, also of some importance that by article IV, section 1 of the Constitution, the Auditor General, like the Attorney General, is made part of the executive department of the State Government, of which (Article IV, sect. 2) the Governor is "the supreme executive power." None of the duties of either the Attorney General or Auditor General, save as above stated, being specified in the Constitution, all others must be, as appellant term them, merely "customary duties," and hence subject to legislative control; for in such matters the power of the State legislature is supreme, save in so far as it is controlled by the Constitution: Comm. v. Moir, supra. If existing legislation and prior practice make the Auditor General and State Treasurer "the watchmen of the treasury," as appellant says, so also they make the Attorney General the legal adviser of the State, and of all its executive departments, for this has always been his common law, and therefore his "customary" duty (Commonwealth v. Burrell, 7 Pa. 34; Commonwealth v. Kozlowsky, 238 Mass. 379; Fergus v. Russell, 270 Ill. 304), a conclusion recognized in section 6 of the Act of April 21, 1857, P. L. 266, 267, entitled "An act relating to the Office and Duties of Attorney General," as then existing in this Commonwealth, and now clearly stated in the relevant sections of the Administrative Code. These sections are as follows:

"Section 509. Legal Advice and Services.

(a) Whenever any department, board, commission, or officer of the State Government, shall require legal advice concerning its conduct or operation, or when any legal difficulty or dispute arises or litigation is commenced or to be commenced in which any department, board, commission, or officer is concerned, or whenever any taxes or other accounts of any kind whatever due the Commonwealth remain overdue and unpaid for a period of six months, it shall be the duty of such department, board, commission, or officer to refer the same to the Department of Justice, except as provided" in a certain other statute having no bearing on the present controversy.

(b) "It shall be the duty of any department, board, commission, of officer having requested and received legal advice from the Department of Justice regarding the official duty of such department, board, commission, or officer, to follow the same; and when any officer shall follow the advice given him by the Department of Justice, he shall not be in any way liable for so doing, upon his official bond or otherwise.

(c) "Except as heretofore in this section otherwise provided, it shall be unlawful for any department, board, commission, or officer of the Commonweatlh to engage any attorney to represent such department, board, commission, or officer in any matter or thing relating to the public business of such department, board, commission, or officer without the approval in writing of the Attorney General."

"Section 902. Legal Advice—The Department of Justice shall have the power, and its duty shall be:

"(a) To furnish legal advice to the Governor and to all administrative departments, boards, commissions and officers of the State Government, concerning any matter or thing arising in connection with the exercise of the official powers or the performance of the official duties of the Governor or such administrative departments, boards, commissions, or officers;

"(b) To supervise, direct, and control all of the legal business of every administrative department board, and commission, of the State Government, except as otherwise provided in the act" referred to in section 509 (a), supra.

"Section 903. Litigation. The Department of Justice shall have the power, and its duty shall be:

"(a) To collect by suit or otherwise all debts, taxes, and accounts due the Commonwealth which shall be placed with the department for collection by any department, board, or commission. The department shall keep a proper docket or dockets, duly indexed, in which it shall make and preserve memoranda of all such claims, showing whether they are in litigation, and their nature and condition.

"(b) To represent the Commonwealth, or any department, board, commission, or officer thereof, in any litigation to which the Commonwealth or such department, board, commission, or officer may be a party, or in which the Commonwealth or such department, board, commission, or officer is permitted or required by law to intervene or interplead."

Save as they tend to throw light on the meaning of 509 (a) and 509 (b), all the other provisions quoted may be excluded from consideration, for the question of the employment of private counsel is not involved; nor are the powers and duties of the Attorney General, except in so far as they appertain to and are connected with the duties prescribed for appellant; nor has any litigation been begun because of the legal difficulties existing between appellant and the other departmental heads of the State government, or between him or the State and the creditors and employees entitled to be paid out of the requisitions which he refuses to honor.

The facts averred in the petition for a mandamus being admitted by the demurrer of appellant, for present purposes they may be epitomized as follows: Work having been performed for certain State departments and boards, the proper officers drew requisitions for the payment thereof, from appropriations duly made for the purpose. The officers drawing the requisitions claim that they should be approved by the Auditor General, but, for some unknown legal reason, he refuses to honor them, and also refuses to submit the matter to the Attorney General for his advice, or to follow it, if given. Under these facts, since no question regarding the constitutionality of any statute is involved, does section 509 (a) and (b) of the Administrative Code require appellant to refer the "legal difficulty or dispute" which has thus arisen "to the Department of Justice" and "to follow the same" when it shall have been received? The statute being constitutional, as we have already shown it is, the plain language of the paragraphs referred to, compels an affirmative answer to that question. Section 509 (a) says that "when any legal difficulty or dispute arises * * * in which any department * * * is concerned * * * it shall be the duty of such department * * * * * to refer the same to the Department of Justice." As already pointed out, the Constitution makes the Auditor General an integral part of the executive department of this Commonwealth, and section 201 of the Administrative Code (P. L. 1923, page 505) does likewise, for the purposes specified in that statute, among them being the matter now under consideration. Evidently the reason for requiring such legal difficulties or disputes to be referred, was to obtain the advice of the Department of justice in regard to them. It cannot be supposed the Legislature intended that the asking should be perfunctory, and the advice, when received, could be cast aside as valueless. The whole tenor of the statute is to the contrary, and to adopt such a conclusion would be to charge the legislature with directing a useless and foolish thing, a result which no coordinate branch of the government would ever assert, unless no other course was open to it. Besides, to so hold would result in lessening the essential powers and duties of the Attorney General as theretofore existing, without anything in the act even suggesting the possibility of such a purpose. We can see no escape, therefore, from the conclusion that section 509 (a) covers two things (1) an authority to ask legal advice whenever desired, and (2) a compulsion to request it when "any legal difficulty or dispute arises * * * in which any department * * * is concerned". In each of the present disputes, at least two departments are concerned. The conclusion above stated being correct, section 509 (b) expressly provides that "it shall be the duty of the department * * * having requested and received (such) legal advice from the Department of Justice regarding the official duty of such department * * * to follow the same", unless, as the court below specifies in its judgment, "the constitutionality of a statute or part thereof, affecting his (appellant's) official duty, is involved".

It is further contended that the making of this exception clearly points to the error of the judgment, since a question regarding the constitutionality of statute is at least as much a "legal difficulty or dispute", as one regarding its meaning. In a government without a written constitution, it would be difficult to answer the logic of this argument. It was considered at great length by the present Chief Justice, when sitting in the lower court, in Comm. v. Mathues, 210 Pa. 372, 380 to 390, and his reasoning, which led him to the same conclusion as that reached by the court below in the instant case, has never been answered. Nor can it be; for, by article VII of the Constitution, appellant was required to, and of course did, "solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support, obey and defend the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of this Commonwealth". This, therefore, is his constitutional duty, everthrowing any antagonistic obligation attemped to be imposed by legislation. If we could find an interpretation for the Administrative Code which would require an executive officer to do an unconstitutional thing (which we cannot see in it, however) we would be compelled to so interpret it, if possible, as to exclude that result: (Carr v. Aetna Accident & Liability Co., 263 Pa. 87) happily this is its reasonable construction.

Appellant further contends that the effect of the decision below is to "strip the office of Auditor General of all its essential powers and duties. He will promptly be reduced to the position of Chief Clerk of a Bureau of Revenue and Disbursement of the Department of Justice". The only merit of such a statement is its picturesqueness. If we were to assume that every possible legal question which did occur, would have to be submitted to the Attorney General, there would still remain the wide field regarding questions of fact, constantly arising in the performance of the Auditor General's duties, and in applying the law (whether stated by the Attorney General, or otherwise ascertained) to the facts as found. Moreover, it is not every question of law which will, simply because it has arisen, have to be submitted to the Department of Justice. The statute is to be reasonably construed, so as to give effect to "the remedy and the true reason of the remedy * * * as near as may be to the common law," Comm. v. Burrell, 7 Pa. 34) and, we may add, to previous long continued governmental practice; determining what was intended only after considering what was the old law and the mischief arising under it, which the legislature intended to remedy by the statute. Thus considered we see nothing in the Administrative Code which authorizes the Attorney General to intrude upon the department of the Auditor General, or compels the latter to submit to the former every question of law which arises in the ordinary transaction of the duties of the office.

As pointed out by the Dauphin County Court in Comm. ex rel. Att'y General v. Snyder, 26 Dauphin Co. Rep. 294, 299: "The Administrative Code is not inconsistent with the Act of 1811 (which is the contention of appellant now being considered). Both can be enforced together harmoniously.

The former does not repeal the latter or any part thereof, except that section specifically mentioned, viz. 25". This is in keeping with our conclusion in Comm. ex rel. Att'y General v. Snyder, 279 Pa. 234, that the Code relates to Administrative matters only; recognizing which, appellee admits that "It is only when a 'legal difficulty or dispute' arises that the Legislature has directed State officers to lay the same before the Department of Justice for advice. We do not contend (concerned)—and there is no basis upon which we could contend—that every settlement of the Auditor General in which the law must be applied, requires a consultation with the Attorney General. After the courts or the Attorney General have flatly passed upon a legal problem, it is of course, proper for the Auditor General to apply the decision of the court, or the opinion of the Attorney General, to a subsequent case in which the same question is involved. In such a case there is not a 'legal difficulty', and should there be a 'legal dispute' as to the applicability of the former decision or opinion to the new situation, the submission of that question to the Attorney General could not possibly embarrass the Auditor General, or deprive him of what are properly his essential functions."

We are convinced, from a consideration of the entire Code, that, aside from asking advice when it is desired, the only matters which are required to be submitted to the Attorney General, are (1) administrative questions of a legal nature affecting the harmony which should exist between two or more of the executive departments of the State; (2) doubtful legal questions, not theretofore passed upon by the courts or the Attorney General, which affect any State officer's performance of his official duties; and (3) proceedings which have resulted or likely will result in litigation in which the State is interested.

The judgment of the court below is affirmed.

Opinion filed February 2, 1925.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, } Sct.
County of Dauphin }

I, Homer Hummel Strickler, Deputy Prothonotary of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, in and for the Middle District thereof, the said Court being a Court of Record, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct Copy of the whole and entire opinion in the case of Comm. of Pa. ex rel. Woodruff Att. Gen. vs. Lewis, Aud. Gen. of Pa., Appellant, at No. 12 of May Term, 1925 as full, entire and complete as the same remains on file in the said Supreme Court, in the case there stated; and I do hereby further certify that the foregoing has been compared by me with the original record in said case in my keeping and custody as the Prothonotary of said Court, and that the foregoing is a correct transcript from said record, and of the whole of the original thereof.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the said Court at Harrisburg, in the County of Dauphin, in the said Middle District of Pennsylvania, this third day of February in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and twenty-five.

(Seal.)

Homer Hummel Strickler,
Deputy Prothonotary.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am sorry but I have a very bad throat this morning.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, The question will require a very brief answer. I would like to ask the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, who prepared that statement?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not think the question is germane to the subject at all. I do not like to be discourteous to the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, but the question is not germane.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I will answer that question: that statement was prepared by the Attorney General of Pennsylvania. He is fighting for power, and I think it comes with very bad grace for him to do it. This bill is most emphatically proper. The Constitution of Pennsylvania provides that the Auditor General, the State Treasurer and the Secretary of Internal Affairs shall be entirely free and independent of the Governor. They are the Watchdogs of the Treasury, and the Constitution says that they shall be elected by the people. If they were to be under the control of the Chief Executive they would be appointed by the Governor, the same as all his other Cabinet officials are appointed. But the people of Pennsylvania want the Auditor General, the State Treasurer and the Secretary of Internal Affairs to be entirely free from all influences and all dictation, and all domination from other departments.

Now, the Attorney General is appointed by the Governor, and that way the Governor will control the conduct and action and the rights and powers and the prerogatives of the other departments. I care not what this statement says that the law of Pennsylvania has been, we all know what the practice has been prior to the Act of 1915, which was prepared by Attorney General Brown, which made the Attorney General the legal adviser of all the departments, since that time, up to the very minute of the interpretation of law by the Supreme Court,—up to the very minute that this opinion was rendered by the Supreme Court—these departments did have their own legal advisers. They always had them before the Act of 1915, and even since the Act of 1915; and they should have them.

I appeal to the Senators of Pennsylvania to say whether they are going to stand with the Constitution again to-day and uphold it, and give these officers, the Watchdogs of the Treasury—the Auditor General and the State Treasurer, independence and that freedom from the Governor which they should have, or are they going to limit and confine the prerogatives, the powers of these officers as they are laid down and interpreted by the appointee of the Governor, making them, in other words, subservient to the wishes and authority of the Governor the same as his appointees are. It is most vital, members of the Senate, that these officers be free and independent, and that they seek their advice and interpretations of the law through channels independent of the Governor and his appointees.

I am not questioning the motives or the legal ability or the sound advice of this Attorney General or any other; do not misunderstand me. But I am standing here for the principle which is involved and for the future that is at stake. I am not talking of anything present or of anything past, but I know what the practice has been,—we all know what the practice has been. The opinion of the Supreme Court stops that, and says, "This is law." This lawmaking body, the Legislature of Pennsylvania, should change it and make it as it should be, to conform to the principles of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

I respectfully urge every member of this Senate to support this bill. If it is true that the Auditor General has inserted this statement that he does no favor his bill, he never so advised me. I never read the statement. I do not say that there was never any in the newspapers, but I see so much in the newspapers that it is not just exactly the way it comes from the minority using it will not bank on that, and accept it as an absolute fact, unless I am so notified by the Auditor General himself. I think it strange, if he is opposed to the bill, that he should issue a statement of that kind through the public press and not advise me.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, it takes a little courage for a layman to butt in on a legal discussion but I happen to know something about this. I respect the offices of the three elective State officers, and I welcome any amount of scrapping between the Auditor General and the Governor; because I believe it is a good thing for the State. There has been scrapping, and that is what the office of the Auditor General was created for.

I have a bill in my desk now on a similar nature to this, because I felt sympathetic with the Auditor General. I thought very deeply about it and consulted a great many people, but I was afraid to introduce it, because it seemed to me it was making the Auditor General more powerful than the Governor of the State. Moreover, putting aside any personalities, the Auditor General can now intervene in very important matters, in a partisan manner, and cause considerable inconvenience to the operations of the State Government.

I dislike to oppose the Senator who is the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee for any reason, but I think the wiser members of the Senate will support the law officer of the State.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?
